TELL BRITISH AIR WAR PLAN

BOMBERS SMASH AT INDUSTRIES TO CRIPPLE FOE

Claim Attacks on 300 Nazi Targets.

LONDON, Oct. 6—(AP).—The royal air force is pressing ahead relentlessly on a "master plan" for a sweeping air offensive from the channel coast to east of Berlin and from the Baltic to Germany's Swiss frontier, waging a methodical campaign of destruction, an air ministry statement disclosed tonight.

The plan is aimed not alone at keeping Germany from using its "invasion ports," but also at crippling her war industries, destroying supplies, and disrupting communications, it was disclosed.

The air ministry reported that attacks have been made thus far on more than 300 Nazi military targets. The aerial blows included more than 60 on the important German railroad center at Hamm, 29 on Cologne, 16 on Essen [the center of the steel industry], 36 on vital railroad junctions at Hamburg, 31 on Bremen and 15 on Berlin.

In the most recent series of attacks, thru Saturday night and early Sunday, British bombers lighted new chains of fires in widespread raids, chiefly on the Krupp munitions works and oil storage plant at Essen.

Drop 2 Tons of Bombs.

Two tons of high explosives were dropped on the famous plant, the air ministry said, while other heavy calibre bombs dumped on docks at Flushing, the Netherlands, last night started a train of explosions which lasted 10 minutes and fires which were visible far away at sea. Other fires set at Amsterdam could be seen 20 miles off.

The raids were carried out, the ministry said, in spite of extremely bad weather—severe icing conditions, violent electrical storms, and low clouds which necessitated "blind" flying.

Named in today's communique as targets, besides the Krupp works, were an oil plant at Gelsenkirchen, freight yards at Hamm, Osnabrueck, and Cologne; shipping at Rotterdam, shipping and warehouses at Brest, barge and motor transport concentrations at Gravelines and a number of airdromes.

Concentrate on "Invasion Ports."

In last night's raids, an air ministry report said, coastal command bombers concentrated on the "invasion ports" of Brest and Gravelines, on France's channel coast.

"The raiders arrived at Brest just as night was falling," it said. "In spite of haze, they were able to see outlines of a dock. Their salvos of heavy bombs smashed the quays and damaged drydocks.

"Another squadron left a crescent of fires at Gravelines after a visit in which they interspersed heavy bombs with large quantities of incendiaries."

Communications and vital production already have been hampered seriously thruout the reich, the ministry's "master plan" report said, adding that "Germany's aircraft production and her power to replace machines brought down in this country have been reduced appreciably.

Plan Long Prepared.

"While Nazi flyers are dropping their bombs indiscriminately on Britain's beauty spots, lonely villages, and residential districts," the statement said, "our raids have been based on carefully conceived, long prepared plans of attack on targets of economic as well as military importance."

Saying "every target selected has its place in the master plan," it took as an example aluminum production, of which Germany is admitted to have plenty.

"But we still bomb her aluminum plants," the air ministry said, "to stop Hitler from using that metal as a substitute for copper which he needs badly."

It declared that in the last two months the western German oil plants—normally producing 40 per cent of Germany's yearly total of 2,500,000 tons of oil—"have been continuously and heavily attacked."

The R. A. F. was said to have extended the attacks into central Germany, affecting 50 per cent of German oil producing plants.

Damage to German transport systems also was described as severe. The report said that at one time, at the end of June, all exports from southern Denmark into Germany were stopped for three weeks.

TIGERS NEED ONE MORE FOR TITLE; SOX WIN SERIES

The world series moves back to Cincinnati today, where the Detroit Tigers, needing one victory to end it, will send Schoolboy Rowe against the Reds and Bucky Walters. Buck Newsom held Cincinnati to three hits yesterday as the Tigers won, 8 to 0, for a 3 to 2 lead in the five games played.

The White Sox beat the Cubs yesterday, 5 to 4, in 10 innings, to win their sixth city title in a row.

Slays Partner Over Theft of His Wife's Love

DOESN'T KNOW WHERE HE'S GOING, BUT HE'S ON HIS WAY

Willkie's Next Stop Is Domain of Boss Hague

Wendell Willkie's address before the Republican rally in the Newark, N. J. stadium tonight will be broadcast from 7:30 to 8 p. m., standard time, over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. In a broadcast from 9:30 to 10 p. m. tomorrow over WMAQ on the NBC Red network, Willkie will answer many questions which he said voters had put to him by mail.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 6.—Wendell Willkie will resume his campaign for the Presidency tomorrow by touring northern New Jersey, opening his first fire in Journal square, Jersey City, the heart of Mayor Frank Hague's New Deal stronghold and the seat of a boss ridden government which has been one of Willkie's chief targets during the campaign.

The Republican nominee will lead a caravan thru Hackensack, Paterson, and Kearny, and will end with a mass-meeting in the evening at the Newark stadium. He probably will open up on the ballot burning scandal and other incidents of the Hague régime, particularly the civil liberties issue, on which Willkie feels strongly.

Hague Orders Politeness.

Willkie will pass thru Edgewater, where some 25,000 factory workers will have a chance to see him. These are C. I. O. and A. F. of L. men. They are expected to line the roadway and the caravan may stop there. Mayor Hague has issued orders that Willkie be politely received and that there be no demonstration against him.

Willkie will speak in Paterson, which is called the birthplace of American industry, for it was here that the first grist mill was established in 1737. Today more than 12,000 men there are working on Wright engines as a vital part of the national defense program.

It's a Partial Holiday.

Kearny is an important industrial center, employing 25,000 in shipbuilding and in the Western Electric and other plants. A part holiday has been granted to enable employés to see and hear Willkie.

United States Senator W. Warren Barbour and State Senator Robert C. Hendrickson, Republican candidate for governor, will accompany the Willkie party.

The Willkie managers have canceled a New York City parade from the Battery up thru the financial section. It had been scheduled for Tuesday morning. Instead, Willkie will make a speech in the C. I. O. garment district on Seventh avenue and another before the Father Duffy Memorial statue in Times square at 46th street.

Willkie had a conference today with William Green, head of the A. F. of L. Willkie said they had a "very pleasant conversation."

DEITY INDISPENSABLE, BUT NOT ROOSEVELT, PASTOR TELLS FLOCK

New York, Oct. 6 [Special].—The Rev. Vincent Norman Peale, preaching today in the Marble Collegiate church, said: "One reason I cannot take any stock in the Rooseveltian assumption of the indispensability of one man is that as a minister I have seen too many funerals."

The only man indispsenable to America, he said, is Jesus Christ.

"God Almighty punctured human pride by leveling all potentates into six feet of earth, quickly covering them with forgetfulness and oblivion," he said. Then he recalled that amid the confusion over Lincoln's death Gen. James A. Garfield went out on a balcony in New York and shouted, "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives."

Elliott Roosevelt to Start Being a Captain This Week

Dayton, O., Oct. 6 [Special].—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, will report on Wednesday at Wright field to begin a year of military service as captain in the specialist reserves, army officials announced tonight. Roosevelt recently resigned his business connections to devote the next year to military training. His appointment to a captaincy aroused nation-wide criticism because he lacks military experience.

Freak Storm Hits Far South Side; One Dead

One man was killed and property damage estimated at $500,000 was caused yesterday in the southern end of the county by a freak storm lasting only 10 minutes but accompanied by a gale that approached the proportions of a tornado.

The victim, John Grudgein, 55 years old, a watchman, of 4304 Hickory avenue, Hammond, Ind., was killed when the two story wooden building of the Central Chemical company, near Wentworth and Plummer avenues, in Calumet City, collapsed as he was entering it to make his rounds. Vats of acid were spilled among the wreckage of the building, which was 100 feet long.

Eight Airplanes Demolished.

A hangar was blown down and eight planes were demolished at Rubinkam east airport, 165th street and Western avenue, in Markham. A field attendant said only the motors probably could be salvaged. He said one pilotless plane was blown out of a hangar, carried into the air, and dropped 300 feet away.

Members of the South Holland town board estimated damage there at between $175,000 and $200,000. A chimney fell thru the roof of the First Reformed church, built more than half a century ago, while the congregation was holding services, but no one was injured.

The steeple was snapped off the Christian Reformed church and the side walls were damaged. Roofs were blown from homes at 154th street and South Park avenue.

200 Trees Uprooted.

More than 200 trees were uprooted, three automobiles were smashed by falling trees, electric and telephone service was disrupted in the town, and it was necessary to stop trains for half an hour on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad while poles and power lines were being cleared from the tracks.

A severe hail storm hit Grand Beach, Mich., and Long Beach, Ind., where hail stones were described as being as large as tennis balls. Windows in many summer homes along the lake front were smashed and telephone service was disrupted.

KILLING IN LAW OFFICE CLIMAX OF 7 YEAR AFFAIR

A week ago two married couples, friends for seven years, the husbands partners in business, sat down in family conference to attempt a solution of a problem that threatened both homes.

The wife of one man admitted that, in secret, for seven years, she had been in love with his friend and partner, and that all that time they had been carrying on an affair. The husband called on the other man to give up the relationship. The other man said he could not do it.

Yesterday the husband shot and killed the friend who had betrayed him, using a gun purchased less than an hour before.

Wives of Both Watch.

The dead man was Albert Neiman, 38 years, old, 1318 Winnemac avenue. The man who killed him was Bernard Lindner, 37, of 648 Buckingham place. Witnesses to the shooting, which occurred in the law office of Neiman's brother, Harold, at 3637 Broadway, were the wives of both men—Mrs. Edith Lindner, 32, mother of two girls, and Mrs. Augusta Neiman.

After the shooting, Lindner handed over his gun to Irving Heiman, also of 1318 Winnemac avenue, a partner in his and Neiman's liquor store business, and with Heiman and Mrs. Lindner, drove to Town Hall police station and surrendered.

Lindner told the story of the shooting and the events that preceded it to Lieut. Edward Baynes and Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis. He said that he had been married 16 years and that there were two children, Norma, 11, and Nancy, 8. He and his wife had met, Mr. and Mrs. Neiman in 1933, he said, and almost from the start—altho he did not discover it until two weeks ago—Neiman and his wife had carried on a clandestine relationship.

Partners for Two Months.

Two months ago, Lindner said, he went into partnership with Neiman and Heiman in the operation of a liquor store at 4958 Main street, Downers Grove. He stayed in the suburb thru the week to operate the store and came home to his wife and children week-ends.

"Two weeks ago," he related, "my wife confessed that she and my partner were having an affair, and that it had been going on for seven years. On Sept. 28, I put thru a telephone call to my wife from Downers Grove. During the conversation, she said, 'Al just came in here.'

"I said, 'Do you mean to tell me he has a key to my apartment?' She said, 'Why, yes.' I said, 'What do you mean by that? I'm coming home and I'm going to find out what this is all about'."

Insists on Showdown.

When he returned home, Lindner said, he insisted on a showdown. Neiman and his wife came to the Lindner apartment, and Lindner said he asked, "What about this? My wife

REPORT BRITAIN WILL REOPEN BURMA ROAD INTO CHINA SHORTLY

LONDON, Oct. 7 [Monday] (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill is preparing to announce "within the next few days" a British decision to reopen the Burma road to China, it was reported reliably early today. The report said the United States would be consulted and Russia would be kept informed.

[Britain agreed under Japanese pressure to close the Burma road on July 17 for three months with the understanding Japan would work during that period for peace with China. Since Japan joined the German-Italian axis 10 days ago, it has been expected that on Oct. 17, end of the three month period, Britain would reopen the road, most important supply route for free China].

HORNER FUNERAL TOMORROW FROM CHICAGO ARMORY

Gov. Henry Horner will be given a military funeral by the Illinois National Guard at 11 a. m. tomorrow in the 122d field artillery armory. The body will lie in state in the armory, 243 East Chicago avenue, from noon today until the time of the funeral.

Plans for the services were completed in Chicago and in Springfield a few hours after Horner, who was the 28th governor of Illinois, died at 2:30 a. m. yesterday. Gov. Horner will be buried in Mount Mayriv cemetery, 3600 North Narragansett avenue, beside the grave of his mother.

Mr. Horner died in the home he had leased for the summer at 701 Sheridan road, Winnetka, after an illness of nearly two years. He became a semi-invalid after suffering a stroke Nov. 8, 1938, following a strenuous election campaign. Altho he recently had been reported to be on the mend, he suffered a relapse Friday night and soon lapsed into a coma. Death was caused by a heart ailment. He was 61 years old.

Services to Be Public.

The funeral services for the man who spent most of his life in public life—first as judge of the Cook county Probate court, and then as governor—will be public.

Political associates of the governor, officials of the national, state, and city governments, members of the family, and close friends will be admitted to the services in a body thru the east doors of the armory. The public—and there will be room for several thousand persons—will be admitted thru the west doors.

The body will be surrounded by the regimental colors of all the Illinois National Guard units in Chicago while it lies in state and during the services. A constant honor guard, consisting of men from the 122d field artillery, will surround the casket.

Dr. Mann to Conduct Rites.

Dr. Louis L. Mann, rabbi of Sinai temple, of which Mr. Horner was a member and an honorary member of the board of directors, will conduct the services. A Catholic priest and a Protestant minister will be invited to assist in the services.

Adjt. Gen. Lawrence V. Regan of the Illinois National Guard, who is in charge of the funeral arrangements, announced the following active pall bearers, all National Guard officers:

Himself, Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, Brig. Gen. C. C. Haffner, Brig. Gen. D. S. Myers, Brig. Gen. A. L. Culbertson, Col. R. E. Myhrman, Col. C. C. Poust, Col. Karl Hobart, Col. J. J. McKinley, and Col. Robert W. Davis. There will be no honorary pall bearers.

Troops to Escort Body.

A military escort will conduct the body from the armory. The escort will include one battalion of infantry from the 131st and 132d infantry, one troop of cavalry from the 106th cavalry, and one battery of artillery from the 122d field artillery.

Mr. Horner is survived by two brothers, Sidney Horner and James Levy [Mr. Horner's name once was Levy] of Chicago; Mrs. Florence Horner, an aunt, of Chicago; Eli Straus, an uncle, of Glencoe, and eight cousins, Robert Straus and Milton Yondorf of Chicago, Henry Horner Straus and Maurice Horner Jr. of Glencoe, three cousins in New York, and one in Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. Horner never married.

DEADLINE TODAY TO REGISTER FOR NOV. 5 ELECTION

Today is the last day for Chicagoans not already on the voting lists to register and become eligible to cast their ballots in the Presidential election Nov. 5.

Staffs will be on duty until 9 p. m. at the city's 139 fire stations and at the election board offices in the city hall for those persons not now registered under the permanent registration law, those who will become of age by Nov 6, and those who have changed names. Registration of voters in the country towns will continue thru tomorrow.

New registrations climbed to 132,637 yesterday with the addition of 2,413 names of persons who registered Saturday in the city hall. Figures from the fire houses and the country towns, when compiled, were expected to boost the total considerably.

Of those registering Saturday, 1,454 were women and only 959 men.

STELLE KEEPS DEMOCRATS ON UNEASY SEAT

Wait Action on Slush and Smith Mystery.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6 [Special].—Democratic state employés, members of the late Gov. Henry Horner's bedside cabinet, and their henchmen were reported speculating today over the probability that the accession of Lieut. Gov. John Stelle to the governorship of Illinois might lead to three investigations looking toward:

1. A solution of the mystery of the death of F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works under Gov. Horner.
2. The end of the 2 per cent slush fund levy imposed upon 20,000 state employés by the Democratic machine.
3. Federal prosecution of slush fund collectors under the Hatch clean politics act.

Gov. Stelle declined to comment today upon action he might take, declaring that the funeral of Gov. Horner should take precedence over political matters, but in view of Stelle's statements and charges in the past some action on these three issues was regarded almost as a certainty.

Engineer Group Protests.

Impetus to a federal investigation and prosecution of slush fund charges was given today by the Illinois Society of Engineers. The society's board of directors voiced a public protest at Urbana against political assessments upon members of the society who are employed by the state, chiefly in the state highway department; called upon Attorney General Robert Jackson to investigate this apparent violation of the Hatch act, and demanded that sums already contributed by its members be returned to them.

Perhaps the greatest uneasiness in state house circles was aroused by the possibility that Stelle may uncover Smith's "little black book," a private record of campaign donations and expenditures which has been missing since the body of the former Democratic campaign manager was found in a partly filled bathtub of a Springfield hospital last March 9.

Key to Campaign Funds.

Smith, as head of the Illinoisans club, had put the slush fund collections upon an efficient basis, and until his estrangement a few months before his death, from the sick room regency headed by Samuel L. Nudelman, state finance director, knew more about the source of Democratic funds than any other man.

It was reported that last December Smith had a copy of this little black book made for the governor's office. This book, Smith had told friends, was his protection—that his political enemies within the party could not attack him as long as he retained the information it contained. He had told intimates that he feared his life was in danger.

When Smith went into exile in Florida last December, he took the book with him and presumably still had it when he returned 48 hours before his death.

Death Probed by Foes.

What became of the book after Smith's death never was disclosed. The investigation into his death was largely in the hands of the governor's bedside cabinet, which did not include any of Smith's close friends but did include some of his most bitter political enemies. Walter Williams, chief of the state police, and Capt. Merton Baughman, who were with Smith before his death and conducted a part of the inquiry, were responsible to the state house crowd.

Coroner W. L. Dragoo of Sangamon county never looked into Smith's political records for a motive for suicide or murder, and it was reported that he had been advised by state officials not to do so or he would be defeated in his campaign for reelection in November.

Stelle, however, was a friend of Smith. For the first time the Illinois state police files in the case will be available to him. He also will be able to study memoranda which may have been left in the executive offices.

The Smith case is so closely tied in with slush that Stelle, if he lives up to pledges made during his unsuc-

CLAIMS GERMANS 'BURNING' TO GET OVER TO ENGLAND

War Reporter Says Troops Await Invasion.

BERLIN, Oct. 6 (AP).—While German conjecture as to the next turn of the war centered tonight on the broadcast of a hint of impending land invasion of England, Nazi airmen reported tightening of the month old air siege in the strongest phrases yet.

A shortwave broadcast early today by a German soldier-reporter gave point to the popular Nazi song, "We're Sailing Against England," with these words:

"It may be that these gallant men [the air force] who now fill the headlines of newspapers may soon be followed by hundreds of thousands of brave German soldiers who are in readiness and burning for action."

Others Less Sure of Invasion.

The declaration was tempered at once by other German sources more sensitive about predictions of landing in England. They said:

"Sure our soldiers are ready to go—they are not walking around in bathing suits—but that does not necessarily mean they are headed for invasion of England.

"The soldier-reporter who had been in France and Belgium just reported over the radio what he saw, and expressed his own private opinion."

With the "day shift" of bomber, fighter, and observation planes taking off to continue the "pauseless attacks" on London, returning airmen pictured the British capital as a "burning hell."

Start Many Fires.

"Numerous fires visible at great distances especially demonstrated the effectiveness of night attacks," a communique said.

As for British offensive action, the high command said that raids yesterday were turned back at the northwest German border, but that "several civilians" were killed by "numerous bombs" dropped on a Netherlands city and three German frontier villages.

There had been no air raid alarm in Berlin for three nights, but parents of Berlin and Hamburg were being urged to register children for removal to safer places. The registration is voluntary.

Children whose health is likely to be injured by frequent air alarms will be given precedence. Arrangements have been made to continue their schooling.

NAZI TROOPS TAKE OVER LINDBERGH ISLE OFF FRANCE

BERLIN, Oct. 6 (AP).—The home of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on Illiec island off the French Brittany coast is occupied by German troops, and the Lindberghs' dining room now is a guard room, a German soldier disclosed today.

Map locates Lindbergh island home.

The soldier said his comrades found a picture of Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering in the room. The photograph was inscribed: "To Col. Lindbergh in friendly remembrance of a visit to Berlin in 1936," and was signed "Hermann Goering."

PREDICTS BRITISH WILL WIPE OUT NAZI AIR FORCE

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Baron Henry Page Croft, undersecretary for war, predicted today that Britain's armies will counterattack and drive the Nazis back into Germany after the R. A. F. has wiped out their air force and leveled their war factories.

Lord Croft declared in a letter that the royal air force had stemmed "what might have been a devastating air attack" and then "with supreme tactical skill and extraordinary individual gallantry" taken the offensive "wherever and in whatever numbers the enemy appeared."

He said he could recall "no story in military history where, day after day, a small force has inflicted such a series of defeats on a superior enemy."

"If I were a betting man," he said, "I would gamble on a far greater casualty list among them [Germany's forces in 'invasion ports'] than anything we have suffered from the indiscriminate attacks on Great Britain."

He added that it "is highly probable that far more German factory workers have lost their lives than the total losses inflicted on our civilians from air attack."

HOSPITAL STRUCK AS JAP RAIDERS BLAST CHUNGKING

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 6 (AP).—Two waves of Japanese planes bombed this capital of the Central Chinese government today, wrecking the French consulate, damaging the Canadian hospital, and causing heavy casualties among Chinese gathered in a Japanese designated safety zone. Hospital patients had been moved to dugouts and none were injured. The attack was the first Japanese raid here in weeks.

[A Central News Agency dispatch in Hongkong said the British embassy also was damaged.]

LONDON SPARED BOMBING FIRST NIGHT IN A MONTH

Quiet Follows Day of Nazi Attacks Thru Clouds.

LONDON, Oct. 7, Monday (AP).—London's guardian guns shattered an unusual all night quiet just before dawn today with an antiaircraft barrage when a German plane was heard over the northwestern outskirts of the city.

The barrage stopped in a few minutes when the plane, apparently on a reconnaissance mission, fled the city which had its first bombless night of the last 30.

Daytime raiders Sunday kept up a steady relay of attacks, slipping thru clouds which hampered the British defenses. They dive-bombed and machine-gunned and struck at some 20 districts in the outer ring of London and the southeast counties.

But after one short alarm early Sunday night, the Nazis came no more. Disbelieving Londoners, snuggled deep in their air raid shelters, crossed their fingers and waited.

Raiders in Small Units.

The two Sunday daytime alarms were marked by the German use of raiders coming singly or in small groups and the resumption of street strafing. One plane spattered its machine gun bullets over three streets in East London.

During a brief morning alarm bombs fell on the northwest outskirts and in the second alarm during the afternoon, when low flying raiders followed the Thames up to the city, four more bombs landed in the same district. Some damage to houses was scored by a single raider which broke thru to central London and dropped a high explosive bomb.

Fight Gale Over Channel.

A few bombs were dropped in the east Midlands and in East Anglia, and a high explosive bomb at Folkestone.

The Nazis' reversion to lone raider tactics was believed to have been due to a southwesterly gale which whipped up rough seas in the Strait of Dover, to poor visibility as a result of low clouds, and a mist which later turned to driving rain.

Hardly a window was left intact in the house of lords when a bomb landed in the forecourt between the public entrance and the peers' entrance of the houses of parliament in a recent raid. Westminster abbey and Saint Margaret's church, fronting the abbey in Parliament square, also were damaged. Hundreds of leaded windows were blown in by the concussion.

Britain Prepares to Battle Any Axis Stroke in Africa

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 6.—While Britain and Germany are standing toe to toe and slugging it out with aerial bombs in an attempt to disorganize production and demoralize civilian life, attention again is being focussed on the Mediterranean and Africa.

It seems to be generally conceded that the German aerial blitzkrieg over England is aimed at interfering with vital war production, food supplies, transportation, and to produce chaos in civilian life. It is admitted, however, by observers that this warfare, by the very conditions it produces here, has a vital bearing on operations in the Mediterranean and Africa.

The battle for Britain obviously has made it impossible for Britain to fight with the full might she could use under normal conditions in the battle for Africa or in the defense of her other far flung empire possessions.

Reinforce Malta and Egypt.

Despite this, the British officially are reported able to send strong reenforcements to Malta and Egypt. So far, too, the British navy seems to have been having its own way in the Mediterranean. Since Italy entered the war the experts have been contending that extensive Italian operations from Libya across Egypt would be most hazardous as long as the British hold Malta, cutting across the lines of communication from Italy to Libya. When considered on top of this that the British navy still is the master of the eastern Mediterranean, such an operation, if attempted is regarded by some as almost suicidal.

A former Austro-Hungarian general staff officer, now in London, told THE TRIBUNE today that for more than a year the general staffs of the axis have been working on plans for the African campaign. He said that it was his personal knowledge that 40,000 German soldiers had been in Ethiopia for 11 months. They were sent there to learn colonial warfare and to acclimate themselves to tropical conditions.

Organized by Germans.

In selecting the Germans for this training a special effort was made, he said, to obtain those who already understood the Dutch language. This led him to believe that part of the African campaign would be a thrust thru Kenya toward South Africa.

The British hope that the French colonies would wholeheartedly follow the "free French" leader, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, and fight at the side of Britain was somewhat disappointed in the Dakar fiasco.

But strategists here were encouraged by subsequent reports that resistance there had been organized by Germans and not by the French themselves and that French Equatorial Africa, the Chad, and the Belgian Congo still can be relied upon to resist axis penetration.

Before the Norwegian campaign few military observers would have taken seriously the possibility of an expedition from Ethiopia to the south. Now that it is known that troops can be carried long distances by airplane and parachutists are able to make effective concentrations on terrain insurmountable by foot soldiers, such operations no longer seem impossible.

Such an expedition also fits in with reports recently obtained from French sources here that Germany has accepted East Africa as her particular sphere of influence in Africa in an alleged deal with Italy and the Vichy government of France.

Friend or an Enemy?

In the fighting in the battle for Africa the British are confronted with a dilemma, whether to regard Vichy as an out and out enemy or a friend which temporarily is a German puppet.

Prime Minister Churchill a few weeks ago told parliament that the British probably would be forced to reckon with the possibility that France may soon be a foe. That consideration, as well as another sudden Hitler fait accompli further involving the Balkans, particularly Greece and Spain, are taken into account in estimating the extension of hostilities in the Mediterranean.

Strategists for some time have sensed the danger of sudden enemy actions simultaneously upon Suez and Gibraltar directed against the British fleet. The presence of the British fleet in Egypt is regarded as sufficient, with the land and air forces already concentrated in this area, to meet any attack the axis may direct to trap the British at Suez.

COL. M'CORMICK ANALYZES COST OF A NEW A. E. F.

The Toll: 400 Billion Dollars, Million Dead.

The cost of an American invasion of Europe was analyzed by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in a speech last night over W-G-N and the Mutual broadcasting system.

The speech was made during the Chicago Tribune Symphonic hour. Col. McCormick said such an invasion would cost the United States at least 400 billion dollars, a million deaths, and several million ruined lives.

He cited estimates that Germany mobilized between six and seven million men for the battle of France and added: "For the defense of her existence she would mobilize more. If she mobilized 10 million men, we would have to mobilize 20 million, in addition to the armies needed to watch Mexico and Japan—all of our sound men between the ages of 21 and 45."

TEXT OF ADDRESS

"I have recently seen propaganda moving pictures calculated to lead us to the invasion of Europe. There were love scenes, bandage rolling, speech making, spies, five minutes of war, and a glorious victory.

"I have also read more serious demands for a second expeditionary force.

"The subject, therefore, is worth a military summing up, ignoring political purposes and sentimental feelings.

"The first question to be considered is, can we make an army that may defeat the one which, while holding Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, and Norway in subjection, routed the veteran Dutch, Belgian, British, and French armies behind their inundations, canals, and Maginot lines?

Previous Victory Cited.

"We have defeated that army after it had beaten the Serbian, Belgian, Russian, Italian, English, and French armies. We may assume, therefore, that we can beat it again.

"But we cannot do it by rolling bandages, going to moving pictures, giving cocktail parties, or selling old furniture.

"A different kind of people than these will have to do it in grim and deadly war.

"Not many of the officers gathered around Gen. Bullard, sitting in his fur coat in that cold command post at Menil La Toure, are now alive to remember him saying:

"'There are two phrases in use over here that I never want to hear from you.

"'I do not want any talk of German atrocities. It only makes them think we are afraid.

"'I do not want to hear about "no man's land." All land is American land up to the German wire, and that will be American, too, when Gen. Pershing gives the order.'

Ten Brutal, Bloody Months.

"Then followed 10 brutal, bloody months in which we learned all that the allies knew about killing men; all that the Germans could teach us about killing men; and we originated methods of man-killing all our own.

"The reports of the so-called 'terrible Germans' speak of the ruthlessness of our 2d division, and admit that for weeks of battle the 1st division was lost to German intelligence because they could not take a single prisoner from it. They could not drive it back or stop it.

"At the end of 10 months came the armistice, and 'Old Glory' flew over Ehrenbreitstein.

"The victory was won at bitter cost. The 1st and 2d divisions, which served thru the whole war, lost in killed, wounded, and broken by hardships, three men for each man enrolled on their mustering days. The losses of the other divisions were in proportion to their length of service at the front.

Hospitals Still Filled.

"Our hospitals are still filled with broken men, forgotten by their country, for whom no one ever sold a chair or drank a cocktail.

"How can we come to grips with the Germans?

"It would be entirely unpractical to land at Lisbon, as Wellington did some hundred and thirty years ago. He came to support Portuguese and Spanish insurrections which had already scored the first success against Napoleon.

"Today Spain sympathizes with the axis and hates the United States for its assistance to the Socialist government and for depriving her of all her colonies.

"Furthermore, we may be sure that Lisbon will not be open to us when our army is ready—three or four years hence.

"How, then, should a landing on the mainland be attempted?

"I have pointed out in these lectures that an attack on America would begin with an occupation of Newfoundland and the building of a base there for future conquests.

Would Involve English Base.

"By reversing the process, an invasion of Europe would involve landing and establishing a base in England.

"This island is a better base than Newfoundland because of its climate, its port facilities, roads, and buildings.

"If the Germans could not land in England when the morale of the British army was low, after the panic of Flanders, could we hope to land on the mainland of Europe in the face of a triumphant Germany?

"I believe so, because after air supremacy had been gained, the navy would be fought at all cost of men and ships to assist the landing of the troops and to repel attacks by hostile craft.

"Geographically the mainland is less defensible than Great Britain, which forms a strategic center, so that any invaded spot may be quickly reinforced. On the other hand, the continent stretches in a long line around England from Kiel to Brest, so that a point attacked cannot be easily reinforced, especially in face or air superiority.

Feints and Attacks Possible.

"There would be feints here and there, with good prospects that a main attack, aided by tens of thousands of parachute troops, would effect a landing and form a bridgehead. Attacks and counterattacks at this point; other feints; other landings; until a front had been established 100 or more miles long, perhaps from Cherbourg to Boulogne, perhaps from Calais to Rotterdam, perhaps as far north as Denmark.

"Of course, we would expect to find every dock destroyed from the Zuider Zee to Bordeaux, and every harbor obstructed.

"The Dutch and Belgians left bridges, essential to the German attack, undamaged until the last minute; and then it was too late. The Germans in enemy territory would not make this mistake.

"Would the populations in the line of the attack greet as deliverers an army which would have to destroy their every town, every city, every structure in order to deliver them? That would have to create a devastated zone of all of northern France or all of Holland and Belgium? There is no way to spare a defended town, and the Germans would not evacuate a one.

Argonne Attack Recalled.

"Field Marshal Haig has always been blamed for making the American army attack thru the impenetrable forests of the Argonne, instead of on the open, smiling countryside toward Metz. Is it not possible that Gen. Foch preferred to have the Americans undergo their blood bath in this mountain wilderness rather than destroy a lovely part of France?

"Will the populations be driven into the countryside to roam under worse conditions than those of last summer? Either that, or they will be interned in concentration camps—perhaps as far away as Poland.

"As to cost, Gen. Marshall told a congressional committee that it would take one hundred billion dollars to duplicate Germany's war machine. Since no one would attempt to invade Europe without an army twice as strong as the defender's, let us set the initial investment at two hundred billion dollars.

"If the war were to be over in four hundred days, at a cost of half a billion dollars per day, we find a cost of four hundred billions before the cost of demobilization, hospitalization, and pensions.

The Cost in Man Power.

"As to men, the official publication of our general staff and command school estimates that Germany mobilized between six and seven million men for the battle of France.

"For the defense of her existence, she would mobilize more. If she mobilized ten million men, we would have to mobilize twenty million, in addition to the armies needed to watch Mexico and Japan—all of our sound men between the ages of 21 and 45, of whom we would expect to lose one million killed and several million wounded.

"If these figures err, it is in underestimation.

"We would be sure of a cost of four hundred billion dollars, a million deaths, and several million ruined lives.

The Toll of War

The costs of past American wars in men and money compared (by height of bars) with the probable costs of an American war with Germany.

HOOVER DEFENDS HIS DRIVE TO PREVENT FAMINE IN EUROPE

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—Former President Herbert Hoover, commenting on a statement by 15 public figures opposing any proposal to enlist American aid in feeding conquered European countries, said today the problem was one "for coöperation, not controversy."

The statement, signed by Harvard University President James B. Conant, A. F. of L. President William Green, Episcopal Bishop William Scarlett, Carrie Chapman Catt, and others, declared:

"Were it possible to alleviate this distress without strengthening the conqueror, every impulse would prompt the American people to do so."

Hoover said no one wishes to injure the British cause, but nevertheless "30,000,000 people, of whom 10,000,000 are children, have always been dependent upon imports and without such imports 10 or 15 million people may die."

SYMPHONIC PROGRAM

The musical portion of the program included selections from Dvorak, Thomas, Tschaikowsky, Gounod, Mozart, Wagner, and the American composers Nevins and Sowerby, played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra, conducted by Henry Weber.

Marion Claire, soprano soloist, sang an aria from the opera "Mignon," and was joined by the W-G-N chorus in singing "America the Beautiful" and "The Rosary." The chorus also sang "The Soldiers' Chorus" from Gounod's "Faust."

Program notes were prepared by Cecil Smith. The Symphonic hour is supervised by William A. Bacher, W-G-N production director.

'BUSINESS GOING ON AS USUAL'—THAT'S ENGLAND

Tour Fails to Reveal Any War Damage.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

YORK, England, Oct. 6.—The Tribune's car in which I am inspecting war damage in Britain is heading north along the east coast. Trying to discover any semblance of war proves difficult. The high point of the day was a conversation with a small town newsdealer. Asked if any bombs had fallen on the town, he replied, "Hell, no—we've been needing one for 50 years!"

On my 200-mile drive I saw many different landscapes and industrial towns. It is remarkable how the beautiful countryside can give way to smoky industrial centers and quickly carry on again. Contacts with the sea reveal many ships sailing.

While coastlines and interior are not visibly well fortified, presence of soldiers and army equipment prove the high command knows its job. Naval officers and sailors are much in evidence.

England's Power in Soil.

The countryside varies from extreme beauty to commonplace productivity. England's power is not in the king, parliament, or the banks but is rooted in the soil. Field after field of substantial crops are cultivated under the best methods.

Landscapes unwind from small vacant patches surrounded by mediocre trees, followed by wide expanses of farmland interspersed with beautiful rolling pastureland and clean grass. Scattered thru this are big trees, hedges, rails, and brush fences for the fox hunters' parade. Seeing this country, it is easy to understand why there has been no German conqueror. The country is worth defending. The people here are ready to fight.

Along the roads I saw children riding in wheel barrows, evacuees playing football, and innumerable pigeons, chickens, sheep, cattle, and horses. We passed thru the home of Lincoln sheep. The horses, particularly Suffolks and Clydesdales, were on the grade side.

Offer Abundance of Food.

Informants along the road were extremely courteous. They had a quaint accent. The small town markets were interesting, with an abundance of food being offered. Rabbit is a popular dish here. One town emphasizes its market with a permanent sheep and hog pen on the sidewalk.

The only war evidence during the day was three British fighters flying in formation. At an airport we saw many Spitfires, some with their motors running. This country is not another France.

STABBED TO DEATH IN QUARREL.

Hardy Forrest, 40 years old, colored, 5212 Prairie avenue, was stabbed to death yesterday by Marion Nixon, 29 years old, also colored, in the latter's home at 122 East 57th street during a quarrel.

JUGO-SLAVS FIND LIVING SCALE CUT IN NAZIS' ORBIT

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 6.—Coöperation with Germany under quiet but potent pressure is cutting the average Jugo-Slav's income about one third, and for the poorer classes about one half. It has forced the Jugo-Slavs to eat less meat than they want, to give up most of the use of their autos, to eat second rate bread, and to cut down their entire scale of living.

These evident effects are making the Jugo-Slavs restive and providing propaganda material to the communists, who use it to stir up riots.

Exports to Germany are climbing. Germany has dominated Jugo-Slav foreign trade for years, paying with things the Jugo-Slavs needed. In 1939 Germany and the territories now included in Germany bought 34 per cent of Jugo-Slavia's exports and sold her 25 per cent of her foreign purchases.

Nazis Take What They Want.

Jugo-Slavia today is selling Germany 46 per cent of her exports and buying from Germany 47 per cent of her imports. The nature of the trading, however, has changed; Germany now buys what she needs, whether Jugo-Slavia likes it or not, and pays with goods she can spare, not with what Jugo-Slavia needs.

To increase German buying power, Germany made Jugo-Slavia accept the German mark as worth 17.82 Jugo-Slav dinars, instead of 14.80. That means that to get a given amount of Jugo-Slav copper for war uses, Germany exports only 1,480 cameras, sets of drawing instruments, or cases of aspirin, where it used to take 1,782. The 302 others are then used to buy more copper. German goods that used to buy only 1,000 bushels of wheat now buy about 1,200. The Jugo-Slavs take the loss.

Gas Ration 5 Gallons a Week.

Gasoline has been rationed in Jugo-Slavia for many months, but the ration was cut recently to 5 gallons a week for private individuals. If they have small cars they get only four gallons. Gasoline is imported from Rumania and must be paid for under a trade agreement with foreign cash, mineral ores, or important raw materials. These must go to Germany as much as possible, and so gasoline imports are kept down.

Bread must now be made with a special "national flour," with rye and other things mixed in it, producing a dingy gray bread of crumbly consistency. The adulteration releases wheat for shipment to Germany. Bread is the chief food of the peasants and workmen here, and its price has doubled in the last few months.

Meatless Days Aid Germans.

Three days a week are meatless. Beef and other meats that can be shipped or stored cannot be eaten in Jugo-Slavia on those days. Shipments to Germany can thus be increased.

The average person, to live on a scale that would have cost him $813 in 1938 or $845 last year, will have to spend $1,106 this year if prices stay as they were in the first half of the year, official figures show. Prices are rising steadily, however, and salaries are not keeping pace.

Taking 1926 as normal, the government figures that clothes which cost 100 dinars then cost 135 dinars in the first half of this year. Groceries that cost 100 dinars then now cost 144. Farmers suffer most because the prices of their products have risen less.

Britain Sends Home French Troops Taken from Dunkirk

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—French troops who retired from Dunkirk with the British last June have been returned to France, the British radio said tonight in a broadcast heard here by NBC. The troops, including some who were wounded, were landed at Marseilles, the radio said.

A BRITISH BUS RIDER TELLS OF BOMBING TRIALS

All Out at Shelter; Hours Lost.

BY STANLEY C. JOHNSTONE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Coming into London on an omnibus, I experienced something of the trials which civilians encounter in traveling as a result of the bombing of communications. Leaving a seacoast town at 6 p. m. and expecting to reach London four hours later, I did not reach my destination until 2:30 a. m.

The first half of my journey was uneventful. Then I ran into an area that was receiving the attention of German bombers. In a heavy rain the darkness was lit by flashes of British antiaircraft guns and the driver halted at the entrance to an air raid shelter and advised all on the bus to take shelter. Among the passengers were several soldiers going on leave and several women who had visited their husbands in the army. One carried a 3 month old baby.

Shelter of Late Type.

The shelter was one of the latest type concrete trenches which zigzagged 100 yards and was covered by six inches of concrete and four feet of earth. It was dry, well aired, and fitted with comfortable wooden benches.

Each bay was 10 feet long, and if a bomb should explode inside only persons in that section would be harmed, the twisting passage absorbing the bomb splinters and the blast.

Tea Is Part of Service.

The shelter warden informed me that he had permanent "boarders" who resided near by and returned every night, equipped with bedding, thermos flasks, and sandwiches. They play cards until tired and then make up their beds and sleep until morning, even when there were no planes in the vicinity.

The warden, who receives no pay, showed the women to a special bay and told them to settle down for the night. He returned 10 minutes later with a steaming canister of tea, sugar, and milk which he served to all caring to drink. Later, while gathering up the cups, he said there would be more tea in a couple of hours.

While the shells were bursting in the sky and an occasional bomb flashed a couple of miles away, he informed me that he owned a village fish and chips shop and had been an honorary warden for almost a year. He spends the nights attending to those using the shelter and runs his fish business during the day.

Americans in British Army to Have Club in London

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP).—The British Broadcasting corporation tonight reported an "American Eagle club" would be opened soon in London for Americans serving with the British forces. The B. B. C. expressed thanks for American aid to Britain, and disclosed that 150 consignments of gifts for civilian war victims reached London in the last two months. It said American schools were conducting a campaign to send 1,000 ambulances to Britain and that New Yorkers had sent 6,000 pints of blood for transfusions since Aug. 15.

DUCE INSPECTS TROOPS; PRESS SEES 'BIG MOVE'

New Steps to Block U. S. Also Predicted.

ROME, Oct. 6 (AP).—Premier Benito Mussolini made a surprise inspection today of armed forces gathered in northern Italy as the Fascist press unanimously predicted that "something big" in axis military measures is bound to come from Il Duce's Brenner pass conference with Adolf Hitler.

Political circles wondered if Mussolini's sudden checking up on his military units was not connected with the Brenner pass talks last Friday.

Giovanni Ansaldo, editor of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano's newspaper Il Telegrafo, further suggested in his Sunday broadcast to Italian troops that "other diplomatic steps" to block any intervention by the United States may be in preparation.

U. S. Course "Uncertain."

He said the prospect of "United States intervention, which made English eyes sparkle, is more than ever uncertain, and that is due to the tripartite pact signed in Berlin [by Germany, Italy and Japan]. Perhaps other diplomatic steps which may be in preparation have changed the direction of that part of American opinion which had interventionist intentions."

Premier Mussolini, who was said to have piloted the plane himself, flew to Piacenza this morning. He stripped off his aerial overgarments and appeared dressed in the uniform of a marshal of the Italian empire. Il Duce then reviewed the Trieste motorized division.

Visits Padua Today.

Next he rushed off to Parma, farther south, to review the Littorio division of blackshirts, which became famous in the Spanish civil war. At Padua tomorrow he is expected to review young volunteers.

That the outcome of the Brenner pass meeting would be "something big" was the forecast of Mario Appelius, commentator in Il Duce's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia of Milan.

"Good sense," he said, indicated Mussolini and Hitler discussed organization of the world without the British empire, and the means of getting rid of that empire.

Discussing the chance of United States intervention, he said the United States is not ready militarily and that axis speed would prove a "great ally" of the United States people who, he said, do not want war.

The Italian high command's communique declared two British submarines had been sunk. Station planes violently bombarded Matruh, Egypt, and raided Perim Island, off Aden, it added.

"Three Casualties" at Matruh.

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 6 (AP).—A British general headquarters communique today said that Matruh, Egypt, was raided yesterday by enemy bombers, causing three casualties.

British Steamer Torpedoed 700 Miles West of Ireland

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—Mackay Radio today intercepted a radio SOS stating that the British steamer, British General, 6,472 tons, had been torpedoed about 700 miles west of the Irish coast.

POPE PIUS CALLS ON GIRLS TO SHUN IMMODEST DRESS

Warns of Vulgarity of Worldly Style.

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 6 (AP).—Pope Pius XII. urged 14,000 Italian girls gathered in a Vatican City courtyard today to fight the "immodesty" of present day fashion, likening young women who "risk their chastity" by bowing down to the "tyranny of style" to insane persons who unwittingly throw themselves into fires and rivers.

He urged them to keep their faces free of "artifices," and quoting from First Corinthians, chapter 11, verses 13 and 15, he said hair was given to women for a veil.

Avoid Vanity, He Urges.

"Mode and modesty should go together," said the pontiff. "But modesty is no longer stylish!"

Urging the young women to avoid "ambitious vanity," he said their Catholic Action leaders should show them how to be "modern, cultivated, sporting, graceful, natural, and distinguished without giving way to all the vulgarities of worldly style."

The discourse touched on the war only briefly when the pope characterized the present hour as one of devastation and pointed his hearers toward a task of Christian reconstruction to be undertaken at the end of the conflict.

Lists After War Work.

Enumerating the "beautiful works" which await the end of the war, he listed:

"To rebuild society on Christian bases.

"To reëstablish the Bible and its morals in esteem and honor.

"To revise the family, restoring to matrimony the halo of its sacramental dignity, to spouses a sense of their obligations and a consciousness of their responsibility.

"To reaffirm in all great society a genuine notion of authority, discipline, respect for social orders and the reciprocal rights and duties of the human person.

"There is your tomorrow!"

Tells of Indifference.

Saying that man's efforts to get along without God are less in Catholic Italy, the pontiff declared, however, that "even here" indifference to God and divine things is noticeable.

"Believing themselves, thru having conquered the greatest goods here below, that they are less immediately dependent on a sovereign lord, ungrateful men forget that all is a gift from God, even the forces of nature from which they subtract and the intellectual faculties and their strength which are the arms of their success and their victories."

French General, Injured, Captured by Germans, Dies

VICHY, France, Oct. 6 (AP).—Gen. Boelle, commander of the 51st division of the French army during France's participation in the war, died Friday at Lyons of wounds he received in action. He had been captured by the Germans and was repatriated recently with other seriously wounded prisoners.

NAVY RESERVE ORDER IS NOTICE TO 'STAND BY'

Officials Say Assignments Will Come Soon.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6 (AP).—The navy's mobilization order to nearly 28,000 reservists was described officially today as a "standby" warning, to be followed shortly by specific assignments to active duty posts afloat and ashore.

Officials said that within a few days the dates would be announced when naval and marine corps reservists must don uniforms, swelling the nation's seagoing forces to some 240,000.

The "standby" order went out yesterday to commanders of the 15 naval districts in the continental United States and offshore areas. From the district commandants it will be relayed to individual members of the organized naval reserve and the fleet reserve, and the organized and fleet marine corps reserve.

Various Groups Affected.

The mobilization applied to approximately 1,208 officers and 11,010 men of the navy's organized reserve force, about 6,500 fleet reservists, 2,000 enlisted members of the fleet marine corps reserve, and 400 officers and 6,500 men of the organized marine corps reserve.

It did not apply to some 39,192 members of the navy's volunteer reserves, who are mostly specialists of various kinds, the volunteer marine corps reserve, or the merchant marine reserve.

The fleet reserve of both the navy and marine corps is made up of men who have served in the regular forces. The organized reserve forces correspond roughly to the National Guard, being members of local units which undergo periodic drills and other training.

Secrecy on One Question.

Navy officials said it could not be announced at this time whether all the reservists would be ordered into uniform on the same date or would be mobilized in groups as needed to man new craft or fill other posts.

Men are to be mobilized in their own vicinity and then probably transferred to naval and marine corps stations for preliminary training. From these stations they will be transferred to ships and shore establishments as needed.

STATE'S NAVAL RESERVE GETS STANDBY ORDERS

Orders were received here yesterday for 1,200 Illinois naval reservists to be ready to move upon immediate command, according to Capt. Edward A. Evers.

Capt. Evers also announced the receipt of instructions from Washington, D. C., raising the quota for the Illinois naval reserve from 2,000 to approximately 2,500 members. At present there are more than 1,800 reservists in Illinois.

Lieutenant commanders affected by the call are Elmer S. Carlson, 1301 North Shore avenue; James M. Ross, 4133 North Springfield avenue, and Gordon M. Jones, 2419 Lincoln, Evanston.

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP).—The Exchange Telegraph Agency reported from Istanbul today that a new British-Turkish commercial agreement had been concluded.

SYPHILIS TESTS TO BE OFFERED DRAFT AGE MEN

500,000 in City Will Be Given Chance.

A new syphilis testing campaign aimed at uncovering all cases among approximately 500,000 young men expected to register in Chicago under the conscription law was announced yesterday by United States public health service and Chicago health department officials.

Dr. Thomas Parran.

The Chicago program will be part of a national educational drive to protect America's army and industrial forces from the disabling effects of syphilis. Blood tests will be offered each of the country's 16,500,000 men of draft age [21 to 35 inclusive] over a period of several months following the Oct. 16 registration, according to plans outlined in Washington by Surgeon General Thomas Parran.

Urges State Officials to Aid.

Dr. Parran, in a letter to state health officers, urged them to provide facilities for making the tests.

"Discovery and treatment of syphilis among the registrants now will increase the reservoir of men available for active and efficient service," he said.

The new campaign comes as a sequel to the Chicago syphilis control program introduced three years ago following pioneer discussion of the need by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Since 1937 more than 3,000,000 Chicagoans have had blood tests, 900,000 having been tested by the Municipal laboratory.

Bundesen Cites Records.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, cited studies of age groups in the 900,000 tested to show that 3 per cent of Chicago's male population from 21 thru 35 have syphilis.

"Thus," he said, "we may expect to find 15,750 syphilitics among the 500,000 Chicago registrants.

"If we do not take quick, efficient steps to prevent an influx of syphilitics in military camps we shall lose the ground we have gained during the last two years. During that time the percentage of syphilitics in Chicago was reduced from 7 to 4.9 per cent of the tested population."

Dr. Bundesen said a large number of public and private clinics will be asked to give tests to young men who do not go to private physicians.

HARVARD GROUP ASSAILS STAND OF DR. BUTLER

Brands It Violation of Free Rights.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 6 [Special].—The Harvard Group for American Defense expressed emphatic disagreement today with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, who told Columbia professors last Thursday to resign if their views toward the European war clashed with those of the university.

Dr. Butler told a meeting of all the faculties of the university that the university has taken its stand in the war "between beasts and human beings." Academic freedom, he asserted, must give way to "university freedom."

"Professional Propagandist."

Some quarters denounced the elderly educator's statement as the utterance of a "professional propagandist." It was recalled that Dr. Butler for the great part of his long career—he is 78 years old—has been one of the outstanding internationalists in the United States. Great Britain and its institutions have lavished numerous honors on him.

The Harvard group was formed last July 8 with more than 100 Harvard professors as members. Its officers include Prof. Ralph Barton Perry, Pulitzer prize winner; Prof. Mason Hammond, Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school, and Professors Samuel H. Cross and Arthur M. Schlesinger. The movement has been extended to the student body.

The groups objective has been announced as support of any and all measures for prompt and effective defense of America.

The group's statement today said that "freedom of speech is the heritage of every American citizen and it is an essential element of the democratic faith."

"Necessary to Liberties."

"Freedom of speech and opinion within university communities is peculiarly necessary to the survival of our national liberties and of our civilization," the group's statement continued. "It is the special function of universities to provide a place in which men may seek to discover truth by the method of free inquiry—of fearless investigation of every question which concerns mankind.

"Those who participate in such inquiry must be free to state the conclusions which they have reached without regard to whether those conclusions are pleasing or displeasing to the university authorities or to other influential persons."

The group also challenged Dr. Butler's statement that academic freedom as it related to teachers "has no meaning whatsoever" for university students.

Demand Equal Freedom.

"University education is something more vital than the mere acquisition of information or the reception by the student of the ideas and opinions of his teachers," the statement said.

"A university does not give its students a genuine education unless it concedes them the same freedom which it is necessary to give to their teachers."

ANNOUNCEMENTS ON ST. LAWRENCE POWER EXPECTED

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 6 (AP).—Important government announcements having to do with St. Lawrence river power development, and a policy designed to ease the wartime housing shortage in certain localities are looked for this week.

A government spokesman said discussions being carried on between the Canadian and United States governments on St. Lawrence river power developments are expected soon to reach the stage where an official announcement can be made.

SCHLAEGER AND BEERLY VIE FOR CLERK'S OFFICE

Biographical Sketches of Opposing Candidates.

[This is the first of a series of biographical sketches on candidates for county and state offices in the Nov. 5 election.]

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

A Republican lawyer and the Democratic incumbent are opponents for the office of Superior court clerk, which pays $9,000 a year.

G. E. Beerly [top] and V. L. Schlaeger.

Victor L. Schlaeger, the incumbent, has been on business pay rolls for 15 years and on public pay rolls for 12 years, including two years in the navy. Gustav E. Beerly, the Republican candidate, has been in business and the law for 45 years, never having held public office.

Beerly was born in Geneva, Switzerland, 63 years ago, and was brought to this country when a child. He earned his way thru the Kent College of Law and Northwestern university before getting a job with the Chicago General Railway company.

A Candidate Only Once Before.

He was in law practice with Judge Lewis Rinaker for four years until 1914, when he opened his own office as a specialist in banking law. He is president of the Thayer Pharmacal company and a director of the Mid-City National bank.

Altho he has been active in politics in the Lake View district, Beerly ran for office only once previously, as candidate for Municipal court judge in 1916.

He is married, the father of a son and a daughter, and lives at 649 Wellington avenue.

Clerk Schlaeger Is 44.

Clerk Schlaeger was born on Chicago's far south side 44 years ago and went to work at 16 for the Illinois Central railroad. He quit his job as freight clerk to join the navy in 1917. From 1919 to 1922 he was deputy internal revenue collector.

For 10 years Schlaeger was an office executive of the National Carbon company. He then became assistant manager in Chicago of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, a federal agency. After two years in that post he was made chief deputy coroner of Cook county. In 1936 he was elected Superior court clerk.

Schlaeger is married, has a daughter, and lives at 8834 Saginaw avenue.

BIDDLE CALLS FOR UNITY TO THWART ATTACK

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, ambassador to the Polish government in exile, asserted yesterday in an address in Aurora that preparedness and national unity would prove the nation's insurance against attack. He spoke before 500 persons at the dedication of a new flagpole and flag given the Phoenix club, Aurora's oldest social club, by veterans. Biddle is to speak Thursday at Michigan City, Ind., and Friday in East Chicago, Ind.

Woman Phones Threat of Suicide; Friend Too Late

Mrs. Ellen Boye, 49 years old, was found dead yesterday in her home at 5938 Lowe avenue by a neighbor, Mrs. Alice Mansell, 5936 Lowe avenue. A sister of Mrs. Boye, Mrs. Esther Peterson, 9243 South Laflin street, telephoned Mrs. Mansell after Mrs. Boye had phoned and threatened suicide. Mrs. Mansell ran next door, but was too late. An empty poison bottle was beside Mrs. Boye's body. She had been in ill health.

FASCIST ASKS PROOF OF STORY THAT AXIS OPPOSES ROOSEVELT

ROME, Italy, Oct. 7, Monday (AP).—The Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, accused President Roosevelt today of inventing a "fable" of axis hostility to his reelection as a campaign maneuver. In his newspaper, Voce D'Italia, Gayda challenged the New York Times to submit proof of its dispatch, read by the President at a press conference, saying the axis powers were seeking the President's defeat.

[The President read at a press conference on Friday a Rome dispatch to the New York Times which said, "The axis is out to defeat President Roosevelt . . . because of the President's foreign policy and because of everything for which he stands in the eyes of the Italians and Germans."]

Gayda declared the President's publicity office was trying to make him a "national hero by showing him as a victim of a foreign plot," and repeated, "It makes little difference to the axis whether Roosevelt is elected or not."

BARBER HAS 215 WILLKIE BADGES; SEEKS 200 MORE

Several weeks ago Charles Snow, a barber in the Railway Exchange building, 80 East Jackson boulevard, started saving different types of Willkie buttons. Many of his customers were railroad men whose runs took them into all sections of the country. Snow asked them to pick up as many new and different buttons as they could find. And now the barber has unveiled an exhibit in his shop on the eighth floor of the building. It shows 215 Willkie buttons, none of them duplicates, under glass. They are in many colors, but mostly red, white, and blue. The majority are made of enamelled tin, but some, coming from the lumber regions, are carved from wood. Snow expects to add another 200 buttons to his collection before the election next month.

SAFE CRACKERS GET GEMS AND CASH.

Burglars forced open a safe in the office of the William M. Bell company, flavoring extract firm, at 730 North Franklin street, early yesterday and took two diamond rings, worth $100 each, and $150 in currency.

G. O. P. BATTLES TO WIDEN GAIN IN 21ST DISTRICT

Democratic Margin Cut in 1938 Election.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

The 21st congressional district will be one of the principal battlegrounds in the fight of the Illinois G. O. P. to recapture control of the state's delegation to the national lower house, party chieftains said yesterday.

This is one of five downstate districts in which Republican effort is being concentrated in an effort to increase the party's congressional holdings, which are on the increase after Democratic inroads of 1932 and 1936.

Only a slight increase in the election gains recorded in the 21st two years ago will return the district to the Republican column, where it was normally to be found before 1930, G. O. P. leaders said.

Democratic Margin Cut.

In 1938 the Democrats carried the 21st by only 522 votes, compared with their 4,196 vote margin two years earlier. If this year's vote is a duplicate of that of two years ago, a switch of fewer than 300 votes can change the political complexion of the district, Republican leaders are telling the voters.

Actually, however, the vote is expected to be much larger than in 1938 because this is a Presidential year. For that reason, only the most determined G. O. P. drive can accomplish the switch, leaders say. That drive is now in progress, they announced.

Considerable G. O. P. effort is being concentrated in Sangamon county, most populous of the four that make up the district. It provided 51,795 of the 102,824 congressional ballots cast in the district in 1938. Of these, 27,454 were cast for the Republican congressional nominee, Frank M. Ramey, and 24,341 for the Democrat, Frank W. Fries. The district gave Fries 52,173 votes and Ramey 51,651.

Howell from Sangamon County.

Evan Howell of Springfield is Fries' G. O. P. opponent this year. The fact that Howell lives in Sangamon county is expected to help increase the Republican margin there in the election. Fries is from Macoupin county, second largest in the district, which gave him a margin of 2,839 votes two years ago.

Sangamon is the only one of the four counties in the 21st that normally is Republican. It signified preference for Democrats in 1912, 1930, and 1932, favored a Prohibition candidate in 1906, but in all other elections has been Republican since the last congressional reapportionment in 1901.

Christian, Macoupin, and Montgomery, the other three counties in the district, have been solidly Democratic excepting chiefly for the years when the Republican party was weakened by internal strife.

TRACE NEW DEAL DEFENSE POLICY TO C. I. O. 'DEAL'

Investigators Hit Blacklist Policy as Sop to Reds.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6.—The Roosevelt administration's new national defense labor policy, which permits the National Labor Relations board to deprive blacklisted companies of government contracts, has been traced by congressional investigators to a political understanding between the President and John L. Lewis, dictator of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Representative Routzohn.

The new blacklist policy has been denounced by some members of congress, including Representative Harry N. Routzohn [R., O.], as a conspiracy to turn the defense program over to the "communist infested" Labor Relations board in order to appease Lewis and his communist followers in the C. I. O.

Public Hearings Planned.

Routzohn is a member of the Smith committee created to investigate the National Labor Relations board. Agents of this committee, it was learned today, are conducting an investigation of the blacklist deal between the administration and the C. I. O., and government officials will be subpenaed to testify at public hearings unless the scheme is abandoned.

While the blacklist policy has been announced officially, the war department is said to be "up in arms" about it and the national defense advisory commission will reconsider it at a meeting on Tuesday. Altho the navy department for years has opposed the blacklist policy advocated by Lewis and by various New Deal agencies, Col. Frank Knox, the new secretary, is "going along without protest," according to sources close to the Smith committee.

Evolved at Secret Parley.

The congressional investigators have ascertained that the new blacklist policy grew out of a secret White House conference between President Roosevelt and Lewis early in September, their first parley since the President's renomination for a third term.

Lewis had expressed violent opposition to a third term and predicted that Mr. Roosevelt would be humiliatingly defeated if renominated. Lewis, however, had been deserted on the third term question by most of the other C. I. O. leaders and a majority of the membership.

Altho it was obvious that Lewis could not carry a majority of the C. I. O. membership with him if he refused to support the President, he nevertheless had an important following among the communists and their fellow travelers, especially in the left wing branch of the American Labor party in New York. Their votes might well be decisive in a close election in New York state, with its 47 electoral votes.

Terms of Bargain Told.

At the White House conference, Lewis made his peace with the President, asking only that national defense contracts be withheld from companies found guilty by the labor relations board of violating the Wagner act.

Shortly after the White House conference, President Roosevelt, on Sept. 13, transmitted to congress a message setting forth general principles governing the letting of defense contracts, which the national defense advisory commission had adopted. The labor policy stated, among other things, that "all work carried on as part of the defense program should comply with . . . the Walsh-Healey [public contracts] act, fair labor standards act, the national labor relations act, etc."

Not satisfied with this general declaration of policy, Sidney Hillman, labor member of the President's advisory defense commission and a vice president of the C. I. O., demanded something more specific from the war and navy departments.

Government Agencies Forced.

On Oct. 1, Secretary of the Navy Knox and Assistant Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson declared in letters to Hillman that their departments would comply with the policy adopted by the commission.

Hillman still was not satisfied. He demanded of Attorney General Robert H. Jackson an opinion as to whether government agencies had any authority to let contracts to companies found guilty by the labor board of violating the Wagner act.

Members of congress expressed amazement on Friday when Jackson ruled that decisions of the labor board are binding upon other government agencies, unless and until they are set aside by the courts.

Jackson Reaffirms Opinion.

Replying to the congressional outbursts, Jackson yesterday issued a statement reaffirming his ruling that findings of the labor board are conclusive and binding upon other government agencies unless and until set aside by the courts. He denied, however, that he passed upon the question whether other government agencies have authority to let contracts to such companies pending appeals to the courts.

Defense Commissioner Hillman and members of the National Labor Relations board apparently were well satisfied with Jackson's ruling. The labor board went to work yesterday on the preparation of a blacklist of about 200 firms which it deems to be violators of the Wagner act. The blacklist is to be submitted to the advisory defense commission, which must clear all armaments contracts in excess of $500,000.

Trace Source of Ruling.

Reports that the solicitor general's office was responsible for the Jackson ruling are under investigation by agents of the Smith committee. The ruling was issued two days after Charles Fahy, former general counsel of the National Labor Relations board, assumed office as assistant solicitor general.

Investigators for the Smith committee unearthed correspondence between President Roosevelt and officials of the C. I. O. in which Mr. Roosevelt specifically held that companies deemed to be violators of the Wagner act could not be blacklisted without special legislative authority. This correspondence was published in the C. I. O. News last July.

Moreover, the investigators unearthed testimony by war and navy department officials three years ago, both denying that they had any authority to blacklist companies found by the labor board to have violated the Wagner act.

Members of congress recalled that Lewis has been seeking enactment of such legislation [the Walsh-Healey blacklist bill] for four years and that congress has rejected it three times.

'NO 3D TERM DAY' OBSERVANCE IS ASKED BY WILLKIE

New York, Oct. 6 (AP).—Wendell Willkie asked American citizens tonight to join him in the observance of a "No Third Term Day" on Oct. 23. The Republican Presidential nominee said he made the suggestion in response to a telegram from "more than 50 prominent Americans, Democrats as well as Republicans."

"The dangers of continuance in the great powers of the Presidency beyond the limit of eight years set by Washington, and reinforced by Jefferson and a long line of other Presidents, are self-evident."

"When we are confronted by threats to our freedom from abroad, we cannot afford to risk a departure from our traditional system of free government at home.

"I solemnly call on all the men and women of this great country who believe that American liberties must be preserved to join in observance of 'No Third Term Day' thruout our nation."

The telegram sent to Willkie by the Committee for National No Third Term Day listed "danger signals indicating plainly that under Mr. Roosevelt this nation is headed toward dictatorship." Among the signers were James Truslow Adams, historian; Richard F. Cleveland, son of the late President; Irvin S. Cobb and Stanley High, authors; Charles H. Martin, former Democratic governor of Oregon; Samuel Seabury, New York City lawyer, and Charles Seymour, president of Yale university.

PREDICT WILLKIE TO LAND 4 VOTES OF SOUTH DAKOTA

Fallacies of New Deal and War Issue Involved.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 6. — The President's exploitation of the war issue is supposed to be shrewd politics. It distracts public attention from domestic issues, particularly those 10 million persons still unemployed after 7 years of the New Deal.

South Dakota appears to be one of those states the people of which refuse to be distracted from the failures and fallacies of the New Deal. Besides, they don't agree with Mr. Roosevelt on the war issue. In fact, they believe the President will get us into war—after the election. So South Dakota probably will give its 4 electoral votes to Mr. Willkie.

Voters Are Disillusioned.

Altho the South Dakotans went for the New Deal to the tune of 84,000 plurality in 1932, they had been considerably disillusioned by 1936 when Mr. Roosevelt won the state by 35,000, and now they have waked up completely from the trance. Some think it's because the more the South Dakotans saw of the New Deal the more it reminded them of their own little New Deal in the period following the world war.

Under the régime of Governor, later Senator, Pete Norbeck, South Dakota, went radical, experimented with various socialistic ventures in state ownership and established a rural credit system a good deal like the New Deal's farm credit administration and Home Owners' Loan corporation.

The socialistic undertakings collapsed, thousands of mortgaged farms were unloaded on the rural credit system through political influence and the state found itself pretty nearly busted with a 58 million dollar bonded indebtedness. For 16 years the taxpayers have been liquidating South Dakota's little new deal and have got the debt down to 38 millions.

Radicals Chased Out.

That's why many a farmer on this prairie shakes his head over New Deal prospectus and performance, allowing as how the nation at large is bound to wind up where South Dakota did unless the New Dealers are removed from power at Washington. What South Dakota did was to chase its radicals out of the statehouse in 1924, since which time its state administration has been in the hands of conservatives, whether Republicans or Democrats.

There is no doubt of the unpopularity of the President's war policies in this section.

The trade of 50 navy destroyers to Great Britain was condemned as an act of war in violation of domestic and international law. The acquisition of naval bases in British territories was applauded with the criticism that the price should have been credited on the debt Britain owes the United States.

Undoubtedly a large factor in the attitude of South Dakota on the war is supplied by the citizens of German ancestry who constitute nearly one-fourth of the state's population. One hears various explanations of the views held by the German-Americans. There is general agreement that they have no use for Hitler, but that they retain an affection for the fatherland.

Shiftless for New Deal.

Here, as elsewhere, business is 99 per cent with Willkie, labor largely with Roosevelt, while the farmers are divided. An authority on farm sentiment here says that in all his traveling up and down the countryside visiting farms and talking with farmers he has been impressed by the fact that the shiftless farmers are for the New Deal, the competent farmers against it.

The third term candidacy has alienated many old line Democrats, some of whom are active in the independent Willkie clubs.

Straws showing how the political wind is blowing hereabouts are seen in the primary vote which was overwhelmingly Republican and in the polls being conducted in their communities by numerous weekly papers, which run all the way from 60 to 75 per cent for Willkie.

How Willkie Can Be Elected

In the middle west, four states bordering Illinois—Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan—are in the Willkie column. Together they have 56 electoral votes. Two years ago Republican victories were gained in these states. In Iowa they elected a governor; in Indiana they elected a secretary of state and came within an ace of electing a senator; in Wisconsin they elected a governor and a senator, and in Michigan they made a sweep.

Kansas and Oregon, each of which in 1938 elected a Republican governor and a senator; Minnesota, where Republicans made a clean sweep at the statehouse; South Dakota, which elected Republicans as governor and senator, and Nebraska, a string of states with 36 votes, are also in the Willkie column in this possible combination.

HORNER'S DEATH HALTS CAMPAIGN OF DEMOCRATS

Democratic state campaign activities were halted yesterday because of Gov. Henry Horner's death. Charles Bliss, campaign manager, announced from the Springfield headquarters that downstate meetings scheduled for today and tomorrow had been canceled.

Altho the announcement did not cover that point, it is expected that the two caravans, one headed by Harry B. Hershey, candidate for governor, and the other by Senator James M. Slattery, will resume their travels again on Wednesday.

NEW ROOSEVELT 'DEFENSE' TOUR TO START TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 6.—President Roosevelt will continue his "nonpolitical" defense inspection tours tomorrow with a trip by train and automobile to the army's arsenal at Watervliet, N. Y., which dates from the war of 1812, and a survey of the famous Revolutionary war battlefield at Saratoga. Both of these "defense" spots are in upper New York state's Republican stronghold.

En route to the inspection Mr. Roosevelt will drive thru a number of important cities and towns, including Albany, the state capital, where he resided as governor of New York; Troy, Mechanicsville, Saratoga Springs, etc. During part of the drive he will be accompanied by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, United States veterans administrator.

On the return trip Mr. Roosevelt will board his special train in Albany tomorrow night and return to Washington, D. C., Tuesday morning. On Thursday he plans to leave for another "defense inspection" tour into western Pennsylvania and Ohio, and will make a radio address from his private car in Dayton, O., on Saturday night.

Tonight the Roosevelt family celebrated in advance the 56th birthday anniversary of the President's wife, which falls on Friday.

Symphonic Styling . . .

NEW SAFETY... NEW VALUE... ALL IN THIS NEW HUDSON

SAFETY LIKE THIS IS PRICELESS
If hydraulics ever fail (as they can in any car)
Just push further on the same foot pedal and STOP
"We knew hydraulic brakes on any car could fail through leakage due to accident or service neglect, but only Hudson provides against that sudden emergency with two braking systems working from the same foot pedal. Just one of Hudson's unique safety features."

"THE YEAR'S BEST BUY IN EVERY WAY! We found more car for the money everywhere we looked in the new Hudson. Finest independent front wheel coil springing, true center-point steering and new synchronized silent mesh transmission are just a few of the high priced car features . . . in a Hudson in the lowest price field."

THE YEAR'S BIG NEW STYLE IDEA

Symphonic Styling

Brilliant new design . . . and, for the first time in low priced cars, a wide choice of interior color combinations that harmonize with exterior colors . . . at no extra cost.

Here is the year's big new style idea . . . and one of the big reasons why so many owners of other cars are changing to Hudson. For the first time, they can get in a motor car the complete color harmony that their good taste demands in other fine things they buy!

Even a five-minute ride will bring to light many more evidences of the extra value that Hudson engineering leadership has developed in these new cars.

In addition to their style, their unmatched safety and riding smoothness, you'll find these new Hudsons are among the roomiest of all cars . . . with the biggest rear luggage compartments ever built into sedan models. Yet for all their size and brilliant performance, they match or beat far smaller cars in all-around economy.

PRICES START AMONG AMERICA'S LOWEST

THE CAMPAIGN
Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN.

They're Fairly Frank This Time!

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

(Assigned by the Republican National Committee.)

There was considerable bitterness against Mr. Roosevelt during his first term because in his campaign he had given no indication of his collectivist leanings. Some of his defenders sought to show they were revealed in the speech at the Commonwealth club at San Francisco. But they were well disguised.

His second campaign in 1936 was marked by assurances of the Democratic leaders that Mr. Roosevelt was now to settle down. There had been certain things he had to do to "quiet a revolutionary people," they explained. The second term would be devoted to encouragement of business, they promised. This, they claimed, they were authorized to say by Mr. Roosevelt.

The second term was launched, with an attack on the Supreme court and a wave of sitdown strikes. Whether the people had been in a "revolutionary" mood back in 1932 is debatable. They were unmistakably in trouble. But there is no question about the spirit of violence which swept the country in 1937. It was fostered by the New Dealers. It had as one purpose the destruction of the American Federation of Labor and the absorption of the American labor movement in the socio-political movement known as the New Deal.

The Purge That Failed.

Then, the efforts to purge members of congress who had opposed the New Deal definitely awakened that body to what was coming off. It rallied and made a tremendous effort to check Mr. Roosevelt and his cohorts in the session beginning January, 1939. It was doing a fairly successful job, a slow and painstaking one, until the war came on. The New Deal has regained the ball and with 15 billion dollars in defense funds to spend, is headed for the last roundup of everything American.

Now, in this campaign, no one should make the complaint that the New Deal is moving by deception. Of course, there is the usual sham and hypocrisy in it such as Mr. Roosevelt's "defense inspections." And the war abroad is being played for all its worth.

But as to what a New Deal victory would mean, there should not be the slightest doubt. We think Mr. Roosevelt was unusually open and above board in forcing the nomination of Henry Wallace as his running mate. He was saying just as clearly as he could that his victory meant the definite end of the Democratic party. If he should succeed next month, there will be no justification for squeals on the part of Democrats. They can't say they were misled. In not taking a Democrat on the ticket with him, Mr. Roosevelt made it very plain that he wanted no part of the party of Jefferson—save Bosses Kelly, Nash, Hague, Guffey, Pendergast, et al.

Evangelism and Collectivism.

Of all the collectivists around Mr. Roosevelt, Henry Wallace is probably the most intense. He is probably the most effective, too, because he couples his collectivism with religion. He uses a rabid evangelism to grab power. Sometimes, listening to him, you get the impression he will ascend into heaven right before your eyes.

In his book "Whose Constitution?" he said we should write a new constitution. In his book "Statesmanship and Religion," published in 1934, he expressed a frank admiration for Lenin, Mussolini, and Stalin.

DEMOCRATIC.

Sweeping Up the Phony Issues.

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee.)

In a recent speech, Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York, stated the obvious truth that the dictator powers would be delighted at the defeat of President Roosevelt. They know him as the greatest living spokesman for democracy and a leader strong enough and vigorous enough to stand up for the rights of his country regardless of threats, intimidation or coercion. The governor made no reflection on the character or patriotism of the Republican nominee.

Mr. Willkie took issue and said he was insulted. The New York Times rushed to his defense and belabored Gov. Lehman. Then the Times correspondent in Rome cabled the following about one purpose of the meeting between Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini:

"Moreover, the axis is out to defeat President Roosevelt, not as a measure of interference in the internal policies of the United States but because of the President's foreign policy and because of everything for which he stands in the eyes of the Italians and Germans. Therefore, the normal strategy for the axis is to do something before Nov. 5 that would somehow have a great effect on the electoral campaign."

The Corruption Issue.

The reporter on the ground knows the truth. The dictators would like nothing better than to get rid of Roosevelt, with the help of American voters, on Nov. 5. That's all Gov. Lehman said.

Now for the "corruption" issue and Candidate Willkie's crusade to purify politics. After a lifetime serving the power interests, he realizes the need for a little cleansing fluid, judiciously applied.

Did you ever visit the Philadelphia catacombs? Neither did Wendell. The "catacombs" is an appropriate tag fastened by the unhappy taxpayers of Philadelphia on four subways built by Republican politicians which have never given a nickel's worth of service to the public.

There they are, complete, unused, the entrances boarded over to prevent the unlucky taxpayers from falling down the holes. They cost $20,000,000. Willkie started his crusade from Philadelphia but he never mentioned a word about the catacombs.

THEFT OF VOTES IN REGISTRATION PLACES CHARGED

Thousands of Chicagoans are being disfranchised by Democratic ward heelers who are permitted unusual freedom in the neighborhood registration places. This was charged yesterday by Henry Pope Jr., 58 Lakewood drive, Glencoe, chairman of the Chicago Business Men's 1940 election committee.

Pope and volunteer watchers whom he assigned to the registration places last week, and who will be on duty again today, the last day of registration for the Nov. 5 election, cited instances in which Democratic workers allegedly tore up or threw away the cards of new registrants.

Jarecki Promises Probe.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, upon being informed of Pope's charges, said he knew of no irregularities. He promised an investigation. Capt. John Norton, chief investigator for the election board, said he wanted more information from Pope.

"We have received several complaints about precinct captains," Capt. Norton said. "Our inspectors are alert to stop any frauds."

Pope asserted: "The right to vote, our most important privilege is being stolen by tricks practiced in the fire stations and other registration places."

Blames Election Board.

"This registration in the neighborhoods stinks from start to finish and the election board appointed by Judge Jarecki is responsible," said one volunteer watcher, William L. Graham Jr., 711 Glenview road, Glenview.

Graham visited a fire station at 559 Maxwell street, accompanied by Hobart Neff, 141 West Jackson street; Franklin Lyons, 50 West Schiller street and Francis Stanton, 879 Willow road, Winnetka, business men.

"Behind the table for registration was a colored man who said he was a Democratic election judge," Graham related. "There also was another Democratic election judge, a woman, from another precinct.

Incidents Are Described.

"A man who said he was a Democratic precinct captain was checking thru the cards. It appeared he was free to do anything he pleased. Republicans have little chance in such a setup."

A Republican precinct captain of the 20th precinct in the 25th ward reported that he saw registration cards of voters he knew to be Republicans torn up and scattered on the floor in a fire station at 2012 Congress street.

Another Republican said that in the fire station at 25 South Lafin street a Democratic precinct captain removed a number of change of address cards from the open box and placed them in his pocket. When the G. O. P. worker threatened to call police the Democratic captain threw them on the floor and walked out, he said.

Complaints General, Says Pope.

"Such complaints are general in the 20th ward and some other west side districts," Pope said. "Voters cannot be surprised on Nov. 5 when they are told their registration cards are missing, or that no change of address was recorded."

Capt. Norton said 25 policemen will be stationed today in neighborhood registration places which have been the subject of complaints. A roving squad will work out of the board's offices in the city hall.

PASTOR RAISES WALLACE'S OLD VIEWS ON ISMS

Does Candidate Still Subscribe? He Asks.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Rev. Dr. Almer Pennewell of St. John's Methodist church, 74th street and Jeffery avenue, raised the question yesterday of whether Henry A. Wallace still blames Protestantism for the ills of capitalism and for the rise of socialism, communism, and fascism.

Dr. Pennewell, as chairman of the committee of clergymen of the Church League of America, recalled lectures by the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee several years ago at the University of Chicago.

At that time, said Dr. Pennewell, Wallace "pooh-poohed" the influence of Protestantism and compared the zeal of the Protestant reformers, Luther, Knox, and Calvin, with that of Lenin, Mussolini, and Hitler.

Quotes from Lecture.

"The lectures," Dr. Pennewell said, "credited Protestantism as a source of motive power for the building of the new world thru work, thrift, and education, and at the same time condemned capitalism as a sort of grandfather of communism and fascism and all other social ills of the day.

"Many of us are wondering if he will use his Chicago lectures as campaign material for election as Vice President."

Dr. Pennewell quoted from one of Wallace's Midway lectures when the then secretary of agriculture said:

"I am inclined to agree . . . that capitalism is a rather natural outgrowth of Protestantism; and I would go farther in saying that socialism, communism, and fascism are in turn rather natural developments from capitalism.

Likens Them Spiritually.

"Spiritually, they are much alike. Capitalism has commanded, and even today commands, a material type of religious fervor which is as unreasonable, dogmatic, and theoretical as any long established theology."

Wallace told his Midway audience that the soul of Protestantism had gone out of the church and had gone into capitalism, Dr. Pennewell said. He said that if Calvin should now search for intensity of belief he might find it among capitalists, fascists, or communists, "all of whom," Wallace said, "are his [Calvin's] spiritual descendants.

"Seeing all this," Wallace continued, "Calvin would doubtless not weep but would observe, 'Lord, Thou hast foreordained all of this for the enhancement of Thine ultimate glory.'"

Dr. Pennewell said Wallace told how he had left the United Presbyterian church and had joined the high Episcopal or Anglo-Catholic church because he liked to genuflect and cross himself.

HENRY HORNER.

In his long career in public life Gov. Henry Horner earned a reputation for fairness, honesty, good nature, and good sense. More than that, he won and held the affection of many thousands of citizens who came to know him as a warm hearted, genial friend.

For 18 years Henry Horner served with distinction as probate judge of Cook county, one reelection following another despite political upheavals. His candidacy for the governorship in 1932 was welcomed in the metropolitan area, where the quality of the man was best known. Not the least of his subsequent accomplishments was his success in winning the same kind of support downstate which he had always enjoyed in Chicago. A great deal more than skilful political organization was required to achieve the degree of loyalty to him and confidence in him which was felt thruout Illinois. That is a tribute to the man himself.

The bosses of the Democratic machine turned against him in 1936 and sought to defeat his renomination. They discounted the good opinion he had earned in Chicago and, more especially, the rapid growth of his popularity in rural Illinois. He defeated the machine in 1936, and again in 1938 when a state ticket which he had supported with all his energy once again triumphed.

The successful effort he then made to overcome the bosses cost him his health and eventually his life. He was stricken in the hour of victory, on election night in 1938. For all practical purposes his public career was concluded at that moment. He was no longer able to lead his party or to direct his administration.

He was a good governor from 1933 to 1938. He cannot be blamed for the subsequent conduct of the affairs of the state, for in these last two years he has been an invalid, unequal to the task of guiding and restraining his subordinates. Indeed, his value to the commonwealth can be measured by the deterioration in the quality of government in Illinois which followed his removal from active life.

THIRD TERM MERCENARIES.

An army of 200,000 federal pay rollers is about to receive an ultimatum to turn out the vote for Roosevelt, humanity, and the third term, or else——. At present the 200,000 hold jobs in one or another of the so-called temporary agencies of government established under the New Deal. The pay rollers got there, thanks to political pull. Naturally, they would like to have greater security of tenure than goes with a political job. They want to be placed in the regular civil service classifications, where they would be safe for life.

Bills to satisfy this desire have passed the house and senate in somewhat different form. A conference committee has now brought out a so-called compromise bill which is slated for prompt passage.

The bill is a slick one. As a sop to civil service ideals, an examination is provided, but it is to be a "noncompetitive examination." It is not hard to guess how hard this test will be. Any one who has been on the pay roll for six months will be eligible to take the examination provided only—and here is the catch—that he is recommended by the head of his department. The head of the department is himself a political job holder and, as such, a cog in the humanity and third term machine.

What it all amounts to is this: The pay rollers are invited to deliver their precincts in November in a big way. If they come across, the prize is a permanent job, at better pay than could be obtained for the same work outside the government service, together with a comfortable pension upon retirement. If they don't come across they lose these handsome rewards and perhaps their jobs as well.

The Hatch act was supposed to forbid the offer of federal jobs in return for political activity, but the New Deal has found a way around that one. It isn't offering jobs as such, it is offering civil service rating with all its benefits of secure tenure, periodic pay increases, pensions, etc.

Senator Hatch [Dem.] himself said the other day in Cleveland that he doubted its effective enforcement, "because in many places systems of merit already set up and established are not accomplishing the objectives planned and sought."

THE STRAW POLL.

Next Sunday THE TRIBUNE will publish the first results of a straw poll to be taken by this newspaper in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, and Michigan. Special emphasis, of course, will be laid on the trend of opinion in Chicago and its immediate vicinity.

Such polls appear to be the order of the day, and accordingly we are determined to make this one as serviceable as we know how. This will be no thin sampling of a few hundred or a few thousand voters. It is our intention to collect tens of thousands of ballots at widely scattered locations. The results of the election in November may or may not follow the indications of the poll, but at any rate this straw vote is not going to be just another of the joke polls which have become so common of recent years. The first returns, as was said before, will appear next Sunday.

WHAT WOULD NAPOLEON DO NOW?

There is naturally a good deal of speculation as to the purpose and results of the full dress Nazi-Fascist conference at the Brenner pass, where Hitler and Mussolini, with important military and party figures, met again to discuss conditions and plans. The speculation hasn't illuminated very much, probably because there is so much to speculate about.

The battle of Britain is far from a decision and altho some tremendous effort to carry the island fortress cannot be excluded from the prospect, it is undeniable that the trains aren't running on time. The schedule has been broken and it does not appear that the boys will be out of the trenches by Christmas. The Hitler legend of infallibility may not be badly damaged and his prestige may not be greatly diminished. Nevertheless, things have not gone as predicted in Nazi propaganda.

The other strokes were so spectacular and so immediately successful that they established precedents disconcerting when they cannot be immediately followed up. The Nazis haven't got the British and a great many experts think they are farther from crossing the channel than they ever were. A diversion in some other direction in which a success of prestige, if not of material accomplishment, would seem to be indicated.

It is imaginable that at the full dress conference the conferees were thinking, if not asking, what would Napoleon do next? He also had looked across the channel when the destruction of Great Britain was the only thing lacking in his plan for Europe. Would he go to Spain? Would he go to Egypt? Would he go to Russia? By going to Spain Hitler and Mussolini might take Gibraltar. That achievement could be exploited as a major one. Conquest of Egypt could also be put on the screen as a mighty blow. Napoleon went to Egypt in force and came back alone. He went to Spain and was introduced to Wellington. He also went to Russia and came back alone.

A British news release says: "We can be quite certain that there will be a major development before long. The field is wide indeed. There is the African continent and the middle east, where sooner or later any continental power, the ambition of which is the defeat of Britain, must strike at our vital interests. In the far east a crisis which has been slowly but surely unfolding itself for many years is reaching a highly critical phase. The enemy will do something. Our policy must be to increase our defensive strength in every part of the empire with the utmost possible speed."

The 1940 Napoleons may push into the Balkans and strike at Greece. That would increase prestige, divert attention from the stalemate in Britain, give a new triumph for the approach of winter, and procure some important military positions. If it isn't going to be English roast beef and plum pudding this Christmas for the Germans, something must be put on the Christmas table. Where to get it?

THE LYONS EXPOSURES.

With his characteristic energy and resourcefulness, Richard Lyons has studied and is now daily exposing the so-called Reporter plan by which the Democratic organization is seeking to corral votes. The New Dealers have placed thousands of press agents on the government's pay roll and millions of copies of their partisan pamphlets have been published at the expense of the taxpayers. The purpose of the Reporter plan is to place this tripe before the voters in the hope that they will be gullible enough to accept it at face value. Those who devised the scheme hoped that the citizens would accept as nonpartisan and impartial anything which bore the imprint of the United States printing office upon it. Many thousands of women have been put to work circulating this campaign material. In exposing the Reporter plan, Mr. Lyons has demonstrated once more that the New Deal is conscienceless in its use of public money for partisan political advantage.

Editorial of the Day

MR. CHURCHILL ON THE VERBAL FRONT.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The battle of Britain is keeping Winston Churchill busy, but not too busy to engage in another battle in which he also has many well wishers: a frontal attack upon superfluous words in government reports. Nearly all official papers are far too long, he said in recent instructions. As instances of the roundabout expressions to which their writers are addicted, he offered: "It is also of importance to bear in mind the following considerations," and "consideration should be given to the possibility of carrying into effect . . ." Then he dropped this bombshell upon a long standing tradition of British statecraft:

> Most of these woolly phrases are there padding, which can be left out altogether, or replaced by a single word. Let us not shrink from using the short expressive phrase, even if it is conversational.

There is sound advice there for both British and American officials, and for other writers as well, including editors. Mr. Churchill's campaign is certain to have plenty of support from A. P. Herbert, member of parliament and contributor to Punch, who has been fighting for years on this front. In fact, he devotes an entire book, "What a Word!" to his effort to rescue the English language from its betrayers, and assembles enough horrible examples to provide Mr. Churchill with tons of ammunition.

As an instance of this "fraudulent pomposity," Mr. Herbert remarks: "We no longer work together; we operate according to a coördinated plan." Instead of "fun," he finds the elegant expression to be "entertainment value," and for "games" is substituted "recreational facilities." Perhaps the No. 1 exhibit in Mr. Herbert's chamber of horrors is the official British way of talking about rat killing, a task which this jargon calls "deratization."

As a master of an especially clear variety of English, Mr. Churchill is the logical man to lead this campaign. But even he is not perfect. Mr. Herbert once heard him remark ponderously to his colleagues: "There is a wide measure of agreement in the house tonight," when he could more easily have said: "Many of us agree."

So it is plain what pitfalls are offered by the big new job Mr. Churchill has undertaken. We were going to conclude that the prime minister has our enthusiastic indorsement in his commendable enterprise, but, on looking at that order again, we'll merely say: We're for you, Winston.

Actually, some ersatz articles in Nazi Germany are superior to the old, a chemist declares. We can see that sales slogan now, "Refuse the genuine."—Detroit News.

DIDYA HAVE A GOOD WEEK-END?

If Harrow has been damaged by German bombs, according to deductions from recent dispatches, we hope that the fourth form room was unscathed. It preserved the architecture of the school's first building [1611]. Moreover, its benches were scarred by the name carvings of boys who became famous. Among these young vandals were Byron, Robert Peel, father of the London police force [hence the slang word, "peeler"], Richard Brinsley Sheridan, who wrote "The School for Scandal," and Lord Palmerston, a prime minister whose Johnny Bull methods of diplomacy nearly involved England in a crisis with the United States [1861].

FRESHMAN MEMORIES.

Between semesters of freshman year
At Oberlin in early '14
It seemed essential to celebrate
Survival of a Greek exam;
So to Cleveland to see
Marguerite Clark in "Prunella"
With Ernest Glendinning.
The story eludes memory
But a high-hedged garden setting
Served for all three acts
And Marguerite in a white costume
Ballet-style
Was daintiness personified
With Glendinning's grace
The perfect foil.
There was a statue in the garden
Which, in a moment of sadness,
Played the violin in a blue light
And the whole thing
Was excruciatingly lovely
To an impressionable adolescent
Still steeped in
The poetry of ideals. Claudius.

The Lowdown on Autumn.

Autumn is called the most glorious time of the year.

The air is tangy with the odor of footballs and mothballs.

The triple threat half back, he who can read, write, and cipher at the midterm exams, is the hero of the hour and eats with the coach.

In every block modern Maud Mullers in tights rake the leaves, and leave the rakes for harmless individuals to step on and thereby get slapped in the teeth with six feet of rake handle.

Duck hunters venture forth in swashbuckling boots and Sherlock Holmes caps, armed with decoys and decanters; they stumble home with a couple of mudhens, which they pluck, scale, skin, parboil, pickle, and serve as smorgasbord at Saturday night jamborees in their basements.

It is also the time of year when some people are undecided whether to take a winter vacation in Florida or California, and some, who haven't had a summer vacation, are figuring whether they can afford another movie before Christmas.

Rotogravures are flashing pictures of pumpkins and corn shocks on backgrounds of Lillian Russell clouds.

Country elevators are busting at the seams with bumper crops, and most of us don't even have an elevator.

Finally, comes Halloween and soap, the elections and dope, Thanksgiving, and hope that it won't be a hard winter.

That's all I know about autumn. I think it is enough. Jake Irmiter.

PEACE SURPASSING ALL.

His heavy shoes are velveted with dust
From furrows where the plow cleaves yielding loam.
He eats of Labor's loaf. Upon brown crust
He spreads abundance from the honeyed comb.
Petals from apple boughs in Springtime's hair,
Summer reclining on a sheaf, Fall's cheer
Of color, Winter's marble fluted stair.
But peace surpasses all. Tranquillity
Is everywhere about him . . . reaching far
To meet the pale horizon. Imagery
Of calmness shines above him in each star.
As distant as the east lies from the west
Just so remote is turmoil from his breast.
Rose Myra Phillips.

DIGESTIVE UPSETS NOT PTOMAINE POISONING.

YEARS ago "ptomaine poisoning" was a more common diagnosis than it is today. There are such chemicals [ptomaines] but they are not manufactured during digestion nor are they found in wholesome food. Only when dead animal tissue undergoes a peculiar type of decay will such compounds be produced. Furthermore, they smell to the heavens and so repulsive is their taste and odor that swallowing is well nigh impossible.

The cause of severe intestinal upsets is the ingestion of edibles contaminated with bacilli. It is easy for staphylococci to get into our meals and thus be swallowed. Subsequent to picnics, banquets, etc., many cases are reported. Soiled fingers may have prepared the cakes and pies; and cream filled confections are especially hazardous because they make excellent culture beds.

We are all familiar with the symptoms—cramps, diarrhea, vomiting, fever, and an unhappy 24 hours. As a rule, a dose of castor oil is about all that is needed; altho now and then one of these bouts will prove serious—with extreme prostration. Infants or those who are feeble may be afflicted dangerously. Regardless of the mildness of the attack, the patient should be put to bed and the intestinal tract cleared of the troublemakers. It may be necessary to supply fluids directly into a vein and to give narcotics for relief.

All of which means that we cannot be too fussy about what we introduce into the stomach. It is perhaps fortunate that we employ heat in cooking, as the process kills the "bugs." Baking at a high temperature or boiling is an effective sterilizer. This explains why we escape many a siege of illness.

Cooling in a refrigerator will not destroy microbes. It will reduce their rate of growth, however, and dishes may be kept at 40 to 50 degrees for a long time. Millions of pounds of valuable rations would go to waste each day were it not for refrigeration. Freezing will not kill all forms of microörganisms altho a great many will be rendered harmless. In fact, most comestibles that come out of a cold storage box are probably better suited to human consumption than when they went in. This procedure has the effect of tenderizing meat, for example, and making it more palatable.

A very able and conscientious scientist—Daniel Elmer Salmon—had his name attached to a group of organisms responsible for many of our digestive disturbances. The Salmonella varieties include the hog cholera bacillus and many others equally harmful. They are so widespread and so easily disseminated that foods may become infected with great ease. If a few are taken by mouth, within 6 to 12 hours the characteristic symptoms of prostration, fever, vomiting, etc., usually come on.

We cannot make light of this sort of poisoning as, in a few epidemics, the death rate has been as high as 7 per cent. From a neighboring state comes a report of a church supper where chicken salad was served. Nearly 70 persons became ill during the night. Examination of some of the leftovers disclosed the presence of members of the Salmonella family. The poultry was free from guilt as were the other ingredients used. But some one in the kitchen had failed to scrub her hands as thoroly as good sanitation requires.

ABSORPTION OF CHEMICALS.

H. C. writes: Is there any remedy for occupational halitosis, suffered by a youth employed in a smelting plant where copper, gold, and silver are used in the refining process? The breath gives off an odor of garlic which is said to be caused by inhaling fumes from the melting metals.

REPLY.

If one has absorbed arsenic the breath will take on a garlicky odor. The plant physician should investigate the problem with the object of providing better protection for the employés. In most industries, occupational hazards have been reduced to a minimum.

FALLEN KIDNEY.

Mrs. W. R. writes: What are the symptoms of a dropped kidney?

REPLY.

The kidney lies behind the abdominal cavity. When it escapes from its bed of fat it may descend quite some distance. A mass may be felt thru the abdominal wall and, occasionally, urinary symptoms may ensue. As a rule, displacement of this organ need not be a matter of much concern.

SILVER FILLINGS.

M. B. writes: Is it possible for a person to be poisoned by silver fillings that have been in the teeth for a long time?

REPLY.

No. The amount of absorption is so small as to be negligible.

HE LOVES THE WORKING MAN.

Oak Park, Ill., Sept. 28.—The way you criticize Roosevelt is enough to make an American's blood boil. And I have some blood left. You bay at Franklin about his economics and about his masterly handling of foreign affairs.

Take his economics. Of course Franklin was born an aristocrat and never had to work, but he loves the workingman and every working man knows it. Look what he did to the wealthy class. He took their money away from them and gave them government bonds in exchange. Of course, the working man has to support the wealthy class thru a device called interest, but it was all done for the working man because Franklin loves us. It may be true that our sons may have to suffer privation in order to pay the public debt, but it makes it easier for us, and I say to hell with our sons—what have they ever done for us?

What you don't seem to understand is that there is going to be another depression. When it comes the working man won't be able to pay the principal or even the interest on the public debt and then it will have to be repudiated and that will take the money away from the wealthy class, and then their factories, their industries and their transport systems won't have any capital to run on. And that will serve them right. Then we can start at the beginning and build this country over again.

Take Franklin's masterly handling of foreign affairs. As a nation we were lazy and soft. Well, he has done something no other American leader in all history has been able to do. He has got us a first class enemy on both sides of us. Just like France. France isn't lazy and soft any more. Their working men have work. They work 56 hours every week. Well, we want work and Franklin is going to get it for us. We will have to work day and night to keep from being killed and our children enslaved, and we won't be lazy and soft any more. Franklin Roosevelt is the one who has done it for us. You just don't know how he loves the working man.

Three years from now I shall still be saying: God bless Roosevelt, and America, if any. Yours for the working man,

HY ATUS.

SAFER FOR THE CHILDREN.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—This is a plea to mothers of rural school children. Every morning I drive to work on Grand avenue. Between Mannheim and Wolf roads I am confronted with children walking on the road. As it is only a two lane highway there is always danger of swerving over on the other lane to miss the children and crashing into an oncoming car.

There is plenty of room for children to walk on the shoulder of the road. If the mothers will direct them accordingly, I'm sure it will make driving safer for the motorist and surely much safer for the children. GEORGE A. BENTON.

THRU THE RED LIGHT.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—In your issue of Sept. 28 a reader said:

"A Coca Cola double truck, No. 3176, went thru the red light going south, crossing Warren avenue at Western avenue, at 12 noon today."

We have checked our records and we do not find a truck of ours bearing the license No. 3176. DAN VICELLIO, Treasurer, Coca Cola Bottling Company.

[THE TRIBUNE communicated with the writer of the letter questioned and finds that the number of the Coca Cola truck going thru the red light was Z-176.]

IN MR. WALLACE'S OWN STATE.

Muscatine, Ia., Oct. 4.—Prosperity here in Iowa is based on agriculture, it being our main industry.

The trouble with the financial aid the New Deal passes out to our farmers in actual cash for soil conservation is that the operators of large tracts of land, and who really do not need it, receive the bulk of the money, while the renters and the owners of small farms receive very little.

Five hundred Iowa farm renters were compelled to sell out their live stock and implements last spring and come to town, being unable to secure any land to farm. Next spring it no doubt will be much worse. Men are in my office every day to rent farms. I know of none.

Farm land is rapidly going into the hands of the larger operators both by purchase and by renting. This is a bad situation and should be remedied. Mr. Willkie, who is possessed of a lot of good old fashioned common sense and who owns farms and can realize the situation, is the man to remedy this and if elected he will see that it is done.

FRED S. PENTZER,
Ex-Government Farm Land Appraiser.

PARTISAN HISSING.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—I have observed the audience in the theaters when the news reels appear. If F. D. R. appears the Democrats whistle and cheer like mad [that is a grand gesture of loyalty, and I am sincere in saying this], but the Republicans have the grace to keep quiet. However, when Mr. Willkie flashes on, the Democrats still try to hold the floor by booing, stomping, and hissing.

This is a clear indication of who is the better party. Hissing above all else is one of the most vulgar forms of showing dislike. Snakes hiss, and we know there's one in the grass somewhere, but why make it so obvious? We know we are suffering from the results of bites already received, so why allow this poison to creep into our sportsmanship? If we are still free thinking Americans, why not demonstrate it by using a little courtesy? M. D.

PAINTERS AND THE PARKS.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—In the fall of 1939 the Chicago Park board called an examination for painters. About 5,000 men took this written examination. Nothing was heard about the results until about a month ago. Then a call was sent out for the practical tests and, as far as can be figured among the painters, the qualification necessary to admittance to this test is that one's age must be under 35. This is also the age of those eligible for conscription. As a result, now that the clamor for a civil service examination for painters has been appeased, those passing the practical test can easily be conscripted and, in their vacancies, the politicians can again place their appointees, as has been the custom. J. J. B.

RELIEF AID TO CONTINUE.

Bangor, Mich., Oct. 2.—Thousands of ignorant people today have the mistaken idea that if Mr. Willkie is elected it will mean that their WPA jobs, old age assistance, and other relief agencies will be stopped.

Mr. Willkie should drive home the truth to these deluded citizens by telling them that their relief help will continue to function, but ultimately instead of a WPA these workers will be employed by American business organizations at higher wages and thus enjoy better living conditions. LUKE JACKSON.

BRIDGE PARTY AND AILMENTS.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Why do people love to tell their ailments? Is it because we want sympathy, or are we just a morbid race?

The other day I went to a lovely bridge luncheon. I had saved up a lot of pains to tell about, but when I got there they were well into the subject and I felt my little woes get smaller and smaller as they told in detail of their gruesome operation [tho it had happened a half century ago it was told as if it was yesterday], and with such enjoyment!

Then after they told of their sufferings they plunged into what the neighbors had to stand, and that was a long story, too, and I didn't get to tell of mine.

You know they say the meanest woman in the world is the one who tells you all her ailments, and when you mention your "poor back," she says, "Well, I must be going."

But there are compensations, for I came away from that party feeling I was a perfectly well woman after hearing how the rest of the women suffered.

MORTGAGE OBLIGATION.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In 1925 a woman and her late husband sold their farm to a son. The mortgage is $1,600 at 5½ per cent interest.

1. To date the son has no paid the mortgage or interest. This widow has a daughter who is her only support and pays all bills.

She has three other daughters and two sons [all married] and realizes that all these children would share this mortgage in the event of her death, but as this one daughter has taken care of her and her late husband she wants this daughter to have the mortgage. She wants to turn it over to her immediately. The farm and mortgage are in Michigan, where the widow resides.

2. Would the daughter have to be present when transaction takes place?

3. Is an attorney necessary?

4. Would it cost much?

Where, and of whom must she go to turn or change mortgage? Courthouse? The daughter in question hasn't the remotest idea that her mother has such intentions. This being the case is such a transaction legal? J. T.

1. If there has been no new promise, it appears possible that the statute of limitations has run.

2. What transaction? The daughter need not be present when the mother executes her will, if that is what you mean to ask.

3. In view of the question as to the statute of limitations and of the possibility of the gift being attacked, we would strongly advise the employment of an attorney. The attorney might arrange for the son to confirm the mortgage.

4. If the papers are so worded as to be payable to bearer, the gift would be complete upon delivery to the daughter, but see preceding answers.

STELLE SWORN IN AS GOVERNOR AT STATEHOUSE

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6 [Special].—John Stelle of McLeansboro took the oath of office as the 29th governor of Illinois today in the quarters he occupied as lieutenant governor on the third floor of the statehouse. The oath was administered by Stelle's long time friend, Circuit Judge W. Joseph Hill of Benton, and was witnessed by a few close friends.

Outside the office the usual throng of Sunday statehouse visitors passed before the door, unaware a new chief executive of the state was being sworn in. Stelle received only passing glances as he walked among the visitors on his way to conferences in preparation for the funeral of his predecessor, Gov. Horner. Horner's funeral will be Tuesday in Chicago.

Issues Mourning Proclamation.

Gov. Stelle's first official act was to issue a proclamation of mourning in respect to the memory of Gov. Horner. He praised Horner as a great servant of the state, and asked that flags on all public buildings in Illinois be flown at half staff until after the funeral.

Stelle's next act was to sign an autograph for Jocelyn Faden of St. Louis, Mo., a fifth grade student who was visiting Springfield for the day.

Stelle was dressed in a blue pin stripe suit when he took the oath as governor. The ceremony was simple and was unexpected, as legal experts had agreed Stelle became governor immediately on the death of Gov. Horner early today and was not required to take the oath formally.

Stelle Confers on Funeral.

Preceding the ceremony and immediately after it, Stelle conferred with Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton and Adjt. Gen. Lawrence V. Regan on plans for the Horner funeral, which will be conducted by the Illinois National Guard. Later he talked with Regan concerning plans for the draft registration Oct. 16.

The new governor declined to discuss politics or his plans for administration of office until after the funeral of Horner.

Senator George M. Maypole of Chicago, president pro tem of the Illinois senate, arrived in Springfield today to make arrangements for all members of the senate to attend Horner's funeral in a body.

Stelle, who is 49 years old and an ex-service man, is the second lieutenant governor of Illinois to become governor thru the death of the chief executive. The other governor who died in office was William H. Bissell, who died March 18, 1860, and was succeeded by Lieut. Gov. John Wood.

cessful campaign for the nomination for governor last spring, political chiefs agree he can hardly escape reopening the inquiry.

In the primary fight Stelle was outspoken in his opposition to the levy on state employés, and Republican candidates have carried on the fight since Stelle was silenced.

"The spectacle of Nudelman and his unholy crew gouging the state employés has disgusted the decent citizens of Illinois," Stelle declared in a statement on March 31. He charged Nudelman with being "guilty of misconduct in connection with the collection, through coercion, of campaign slush funds from state civil service employés."

Stelle declared himself in favor of a general merit system for state employés without forced contributions to political campaign funds. In issuing a call for a special session of the legislature on April 8, he asked for an investigation of forced political contributions from state employés. This was during the time Stelle tried to take over the governorship.

Protest from Engineers.

In Urbana, H. E. Babbitt, secretary of the Illinois Society of Engineers and professor of engineering at the University of Illinois, issued this statement:

"Our members on the state pay roll, especially in the highway department, are not politicians. They are technical men who earn their salaries thru professional services. They are career men, many of them having worked for the state 10 to 20 years or more.

"These men cannot individually protest against the impositions they are suffering. If they murmur, they will lose their jobs. So this society, organized more than half a century ago to advance the engineering profession, has decided to speak in behalf of the members who are being abused by politicians.

"These professional men should not be forced to contribute to political campaigns. They should not be herded into campaign meetings like precinct captains to swell the clack for a candidate's speech. They should not be required to help billboard the highways nor to paste campaign stickers on friends' automobiles.

SLAYER'S WIFE TALKS OF AFFAIR WITH OTHER MAN

Her Eyes Reflect Drama She Witnessed.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

A very shocked woman, who deceived her husband and saw him kill the other man yesterday afternoon, sat crouching in a corner of the Town Hall police station furtively lifting her eyes from behind the protection of a large black suede hat.

She was Mrs. Edith Lindner, 648 Buckingham place, a thin, girlish woman of 32 whose faint, olive prettiness was distorted with the remembrance of the ghastly drama in which she had played a leading rôle.

Before her eyes her husband, Bernard Lindner, had shot and killed his business partner, Albert Neiman, 1318 Winnemac avenue, in an attorney's office at 3837 Broadway. Lindner had learned two weeks ago that Neiman had been Mrs. Lindner's lover for the last seven years.

Meet at Lodge Party.

When questioned, Mrs. Lindner hesitatingly revealed the sordid romance which had brought about the tragedy.

Q.—How long did you know Neiman? A.—I knew Al for seven years or more. I met him with my husband at a lodge party.

Q.—Did you fall in love with Neiman immediately? A.—No, I didn't. Our affair didn't become serious until a year ago.

Q.—Did Neiman have a key to your apartment? A.—Yes. He used to come after the children were asleep. [Mrs. Lindner has two daughters, Norma, 11, and Nancy, 8.]

For the first time during the interview, Mrs. Lindner's heavy-lidded eyes filled with tears. She forced them back by biting her lips.

Q.—What happened last Sunday that made you realize you loved your husband? A.—I didn't want to break up my home, so I told Bernie about Al and said that I would never see him again.

Q.—But you did have lunch with Neiman this week, didn't you? A.—Yes, I did. He kept calling me up, so I knew I had to see him and call everything off.

Tells of Partnership.

Q.—How long were your husband and Neiman in business together? A.—Several months in the liquor business and before that in a handbook outfit that broke up. I made Bernie go in business with Al. He didn't want to. O God, I wish he hadn't.

Mrs. Lindner once more hid her face and fidgeted in her chair. "I want to go home to my babies," she whispered.

"I don't see how Bernie could have done it. He was always so calm and cool. I know he suspected Al and me long before I confessed to him, but he still did nothing about it. He must have gone crazy yesterday."

Dies In Plunge After Party; 4 Held for Quiz

James Rawlins, 26 years old a bartender, plunged to his death yesterday from a porch in the rear of 4352 Kenmore avenue. Town Hall police questioned his sister, Miss Mildred Rawlins, 25, who told them her brother beat her during a party and that a fight followed.

Four men were held for the inquest today when police were unable to determine from their stories whether Rawlins fell or was pushed to his death.

Those held are Albert Spartley, 29, of Valparaiso, Ind., George Potter, 32, of Cairo, in Alexander county; LeRoy Cox, 26, of 4655 Kenmore avenue, where Rawlins also lived, and Herman Preus, operator of the rooming house at 4352 Kenmore where Miss Rawlins lives.

Whips Out Gun in Law Office Meeting.

tells me that you and she have been sweethearts all these years."

Neiman, Lindner said, admitted that he had been in love with Mrs. Lindner. Lindner told him, "Well, I'm in love with her, too. I don't think we should let this break up our homes. I'm in favor of going along with my wife for six months more. If we can't work this out in that time, she can have a divorce and marry you."

The suggestion apparently had the approval of Mrs. Neiman, Lindner said, for she offered no objections.

Tells of Suicidal Threat.

The two couples separated then, but later that evening Neiman came back alone to the Lindner home and said that he had changed his mind about the six months' delay, and that he couldn't give Mrs. Lindner up.

"He told me," Lindner said, "that if he couldn't have her, he was going to commit suicide. He said that I'd find his body in a hotel on Winthrop avenue. Then he left, saying, 'I'm going out and end it all.'

"I thought it over for awhile, and then I got some friends and went to the hotel. We found Neiman there, and he hadn't carried out his threat.

"I let things go along for a few days, returning to Downers Grove, but then I made arrangements to meet Neiman and discuss ending our partnership."

The conference was arranged for 10 a. m. yesterday, with Attorney Sidney Pollack, partner of Neiman's brother, present as mediator. Heiman and David Neiman, a second brother of the slain man, also attended.

Tells Decision to Sell Out.

"I told Pollack I had decided to sell out my interest in the business and get a divorce," Lindner said. "He told me, 'All right, Bernie. If that's your final decision, come back this afternoon at 4 o'clock and I'll have the papers ready.'"

Pollack told Lindner to bring along his wife, as she owned a larger interest in the Downers Grove business than he did, and was entitled to a voice in the settlement.

Heiman and Mr. and Mrs. Neiman arrived at the office first. Lindner and his wife were late, so Heiman stepped out to look for them. While he was absent, they arrived.

Attorney Pollack was in his inner office discussing matters with Mr. and Mrs. Neiman when the Lindners arrived. Mrs. Lindner went to him and whispered, "I think Bernie has a gun. Take it away from him."

Pollack said he asked Mr. and Mrs. Neiman to step out into the reception room and that he called Lindner into his office and said, "Bernie, I know you've got a gun. Hand it over."

Lindner replied, "Sidney, I don't want to hurt you, but put up your hands and walk over to that door."

Points Gun at Rival.

"I think you're crazy," Pollack told him, but with the gun prodding him in the ribs, he complied.

Lindner stepped into the office with the drawn gun pointing at Neiman. Neiman, he said, ducked behind a stenographer's desk, then seized a chair and sprang at him. In the scuffle Lindner was cut over the eye and a door was knocked off its hinges and a window broken.

Lindner, without a word, pulled the trigger three times. One bullet was imbedded in the wall and another ricocheted off the baseboard. The third struck Neiman near the heart. He was dead when he was taken into the American hospital.

As Lindner was led to a cell after making his statement, his victim's brothers, Harry and David, attacked him. Lindner was knocked down by Harry Neiman and David was attempting to choke him, but both men were pulled off by police.

JEWELRY SHOP LOOTED.

Two dozen watches worth $504 were taken yesterday from the display window of a jewelry shop at 4026 Milwaukee avenue. The window had been smashed.

Policy— or Plan for Living?

BY HOLGAR J. JOHNSON
President Institute of Life Insurance

SOMETIMES a simple incident of family life will get over a point better than a well-reasoned presentation of facts. A friend told me a story which I think is worth passing on to every husband and wife.

JOHNSON

"Because we all admire Laura's capable management of her home, her thrift and her intelligence," this friend said, "I was greatly surprised when I discovered that she knew little, if anything, about her husband's life insurance, except the amount."

Bill, her husband, had come home one evening and told her he had taken out a life insurance policy that day. He didn't go into details, and Laura, reluctant to discuss anything that might happen to her husband, had merely remarked: "That's fine—can we afford it?"

When she told my friend about this incident, she admitted she didn't even know where Bill kept his policy. She had no idea whether she would get the money in a single sum or monthly payments. And then she wondered about their boy, and what this insurance might mean to him.

That evening Laura, being a sensible woman, opened up the subject with Bill. It turned out that he himself didn't know the answers to all the questions.

As a result they called in their insurance agent for a three-sided talk, and that policy began to take on real form and substance. A plan was worked out to give her a tide-over fund in cash and the rest arranged as monthly income sufficient to take care of her and their son for a number of years and still enable her to prepare herself to re-enter the nursing profession if necessary. And, best of all was an alternative plan to be followed if her husband lived, providing a substantial beginning for a retirement income.

What was merely a policy, in the case of Laura and Bill, turned out to be a part of a plan for living—because husband and wife felt free to talk over the question of life insurance, just as they talk over other vital matters that touch their home and lives.

TO THE MAN WITH A JOB WHO NEEDS A LOAN

How you can borrow $20 to $300—without endorsers or guarantors and repay in convenient monthly installments—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, friendly service

WOULD you like to get a cash loan without having to ask friends or relatives for a favor? At Household Finance you can apply for $20 to $300—without endorsers or guarantors—if you can make small monthly payments on your loan. We require no stocks or bonds, no wage or salary assignment. You borrow on your own signature (no friends need sign)—and at rates substantially below the lawful maximum.

Choose your own payment plan

See, in the table below, how you may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments which fit your own income. You may repay in small installments spread over 20 months. Or you may repay sooner to reduce the charges. Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.77 each will repay a $100 loan in full in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for 20 months will also repay a $100 loan.

Same rate to everyone

Installments in the table cover everything. They include charges at the rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only one rate—the same to everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

No one else need know

When you borrow at Household, there is no need to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) We do not ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should be faced with sickness or unemployment while paying on a loan, Household will show you every consideration. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

If a loan will help you, you are urged to look at the table again. Then phone or visit us for further information. You'll be under no obligation to borrow.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. BINGO EXPOSURE BRINGS DEMAND FOR GANG DRIVE

Girl's Story of Syndicate Rule Is Cited.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

A demand that the police department smash the old Capone syndicate thru the lead offered by a 15 year old girl was made yesterday by Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime commission.

The girl, Imogene Schultes, who ran away from her home in Dubuque, Ia., and was found Saturday by police, told of her work as a dice girl in the city's night spots. In a letter written to her mother she described how she was shifted from club to club to operate the syndicate-controled bingo concession. She said she was one of many girls so employed and that each girl took in from $150 to $500 nightly.

Cahn, who also is spokesman for the Chicago Association of Commerce and other groups, asked why the police, having found the girl, could not uncover and smash the syndicate, now controled by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti.

Crime-Politics Link Scored.

"Our greatest peril," he said, "is in the indifference and complacency with which we look on the alliance between politics and crime. If we tolerate deals between cheap politicians and racketeers we are permitting our government to begin rotting."

Cahn said the committee of business men which called on Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney a few months ago to wage a campaign against the Nitti gang and the rackets of Danny Stanton has been making a survey of its own. Cahn said the committee is interested in what the racketeers are planning in regard to the November election.

Cahn was informed that Lawrence [Dago Lawrence] Mangano, long ago proclaimed a public enemy, had moved from the west side to the north side and set himself up as a political boss and ruler of bingo and other rackets. Mangano's affiliations with Capone and Nitti have been police history for 20 years.

Bare Activities of Higherup.

The activities of another of the higherups in the Nitti gang were revealed recently to the crime commission, it was learned. Claude Maddox, alias John Moore, is said to be the real power back of local 450 of the Bartenders and Beverage Dispensers' union, which has jurisdiction in Cicero and other western suburbs.

This union is affiliated with Local 278, of which Louis Romano is president. Romano was accused of being a Nitti agent and was indicted with Nitti last week as a member of a conspiracy against the union.

William Crawford, assistant state's attorney, said yesterday he plans to offer additional evidence to the October grand jury regarding the Nitti-Romano control of liquor and beer sales in this territory.

FIRE DESTROYS CANNING PLANT IN MARTINSVILLE

Martinsville, Ind., Oct. 6 (AP).—Fire destroyed a big tomato cannery tonight at the peak of the packing season and, driven by a high wind, for a time threatened an outlying residential section of this southern Indiana city.

The entire plant of Stokely-Van Camp's on the north edge of Martinsville—a three story factory and a two story office, both frame and covering a space 500 feet square—burned with a large stock of tomatoes and tomato products. The plant employed 650 persons.

Unofficial estimates of the loss in plant, equipment, and a large warehouse stock ran as high as $1,500,000.

Firemen put up extra supports to three 150-foot smokestacks that might have toppled onto a large crowd of spectators.

1ST CHICAGOLAND CHURCH HOUR IS CARRIED ON W-G-N

The Chicagoland Church hour was inaugurated yesterday morning from 9 to 10 o'clock on station W-G-N with a broadcast of services of New First Congregational church, Ashland avenue and Washington boulevard. The Rev. Dr. Oswald W. S. McCall, the pastor, preached the sermon and the church chorus of 125 voices, directed by Dr. George L. Tenney, sang. The series will be directed by Dr. John Evans, religion editor of THE TRIBUNE. He also will act as commentator. Next Sunday at the same hour the services of St. Luke's Lutheran church, Belmont and Greenview avenues, will be broadcast.

Report 3 Shot as Gunmen Raid Mexican Reds' Office

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 6 (AP).—The central committee of Mexico's communist party reported today that an unidentified group armed with pistols broke into the party headquarters, wounded three persons and escaped. The committee branded the attack part of a "campaign of provocations" against the party.

CALL GIRL RING STRUCK BY RAID ON LUXURY FLAT

Fourteen young women, seized in a series of early morning raids yesterday after a list of names and telephone numbers of 50 girls was seized in a flat at 2920 Pine Grove avenue, alleged to be the headquarters of a call girl ring, will appear this morning in Women's court.

Marie Strey, 42 years old, arrested at the Pine Grove avenue flat, and Edward Safier, 45, and a woman who said she was his wife, Louise, 28, arrested at 644 Diversey parkway, were held for questioning by federal authorities concerning possible violations of the Mann act. Most of the girls taken into custody admitted they came here from out of town.

Municipal Judge Eugene L. McGarry, whose dismissal on an indictment charging malfeasance and conspiracy was upheld last week by the Appellate court, turned up at the detective bureau to inquire about charges against the Strey woman. Other politicians interceded in getting the other girls booked for disorderly conduct and released on $25 bonds. They were seized in raids at 50 West Schiller street, 656 Wrightwood avenue, 2738 Pine Grove avenue, and 4122 Sheridan road.

Woman Burned to Death in Trailer; Husband Hurt

Lawrenceville, Ill., Oct. 6 (AP).—Mrs. Mae Hartman Vigus, 28, was burned to death here early today in a small trailer parked in the residential district. Her husband, William, escaped with serious burns and was taken to a Vincennes, Ind., hospital. They had been living in their trailer home here about five months. An inquest will be held Monday night.

Coal Heat is Best —Costs Less

All the really comfortable homes you visit this winter will probably be heated by coal or coke. Because these are the only fuels which provide an even, steady flow of heat . . . maintain warm air in constant circulation and eliminate drafts and chilly floors. Morover, coal and coke cost so much less than other types of fuels that homeowners don't have to clip the corners off comfort to keep heating costs in line.

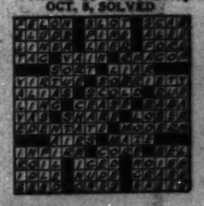
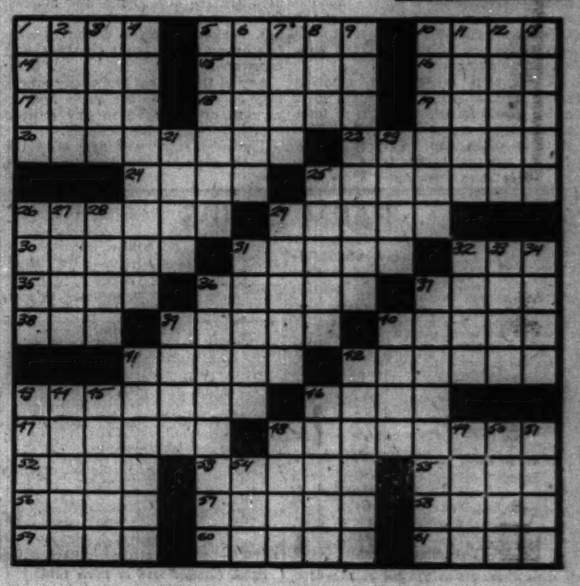
PUZZLE OF SATURDAY, OCT. 5, SOLVED





3 DIE, 7 HURT IN 2 INDIANA AUTO CRASHES

Death Victims Chicagoans; 2 Killed in One Mishap.

Three Chicagoans were killed and seven were injured in two accidents yesterday at the two intersections of U. S. highway 6 and Indiana highway 53, about 13 miles south of Michigan City, Ind.

Earl Marshall, 32 years old, 6618 University avenue, was killed when the automobile in which he was riding from Koontz lake, St. Joseph county, Ind., to Chicago failed to make the curve as U. S. 6 joins the Indiana route and overturned. Edward Allen, 28, of 605 East 80th street, the driver, and Charles Diamond, 30, of 7846 Evans avenue, incurred slight injuries.

Two Die in One Crash.

Ralph J. Ossman, 26, of 10326 Racine avenue, and George A. Banhon, 48, of 10230 Aberdeen street, were killed when the automobile in which they were passengers overturned on the curve a mile north where U. S. 6 leaves Indiana 43. The two were members of a party on their way to Koontz lake.

The driver of the car, William J. Ebert, 26, of 10120 Lowe avenue, and four other men were injured.

Fred Gurth, 81, of 2128 Fremont street, a retired press operator, was killed last night when struck by an automobile at Dickens avenue and Fremont street. The driver was Albert Hosbach, 2059 Bissell street.

Woman Dies of Injuries.

Mrs. Angeline Kemp, 60, of 1843 32d street, died in People's hospital half an hour after she had been struck by an automobile while crossing Archer avenue at 33d place. Brighton Park police held the driver, James P. Grimth, 1125 West 59th street, for the inquest today.

Mary Leach, 75, of 1115 Madison street, Maywood, died in the Oak Park hospital last night shortly after being hit by a car driven by R. F. Gardner, 23, of 111 South Wisconsin avenue, Villa Park, at 6th avenue and Madison street, Maywood.

Woodrow Wilson, 28, of 2009 East Washington street, Joliet, was killed last night on Maple road, four miles east of Joliet. He and Miss Bernice Murphy, 19, were walking along the road after their car stuck in the mud when an auto driven by Henry Smith, 35, of Symerton, ran into them. Miss Murphy suffered a broken arm.

Soldier Dies After Crash.

Private Daniel V. Khail, 19, of Manitowoc, Wis., a member of Company D of the 2d Infantry at Fort Sheridan, died last night in St. Therese's hospital in Waukegan of injuries incurred Thursday when a taxi cab in which he was riding with two other soldiers was struck by a truck at Wadsworth avenue and Green Bay road, 10 miles north of Waukegan. The truck was driven by Charles M. Frueh of Racine, Wis.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 660 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 487 were killed in Chicago, where 17,735 were injured in traffic in the same period.

FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL ROOM.

Miss Marie Vallette, 40 years old, was found dead yesterday in her room in the Van Buren hotel, 159 West Van Buren street. It is believed she was the victim of a heart attack.

CHURCH DEDICATES ORGAN IN HONOR OF JOHN M. M'CORMICK

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 6 [Special].—Two hundred persons gathered this afternoon at the Middle Creek Presbyterian church, 12 miles southwest of Rockford to dedicate an electric organ as a memorial to John Medill McCormick.

The organ was the gift of John McCormick's mother, Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms of Albuquerque, N. M.

John, his sisters, mother, and father attended Middle Creek church for years when the McCormicks made their home at Rock River farms, near Byron, Ill. John's father, the late United States Senator Medill McCormick, is buried in the Middle Creek churchyard.

The Rev. Harry P. Armstrong, pastor of the church, pointed out to the congregation that in giving the organ Mrs. Simms fulfilled John's wish to do something for his church. John, the Rev. Mr. Armstrong said, always was interested in the activities of Middle Creek church. A group of selections from famous composers was presented on the organ by Ralph H. Brigham, organist of the Second Congregational church in Rockford.

HORSEMEN GIVEN PRIZES AFTER 110 MILE TRAIL RIDE

48 of 59 Starters End 3 Day Jaunt.

Men and women won prizes yesterday for going around in circles. They were among the 48 surviving horseback riders in the third annual Chicagoland 110 mile trail ride sponsored by the Town and Country Equestrian association and the Horse and Mule association of America.

Fifty-nine riders started out blithely Friday from the Onwentsia Country club in Lake Forest to circle the private trails of the club and those of the Cook county northern forest preserves. They covered 41.3 miles in seven hours, and then there were 55. Saturday after another stint of 43.7 miles, 49 riders were left. Only one gave up yesterday on a mere jaunt of 25 miles.

A Test of Endurance.

The marathon is staged as a test of the endurance of both horsemen and horses. It is based on the theory that a skilled rider should know how to cover the most ground with the least effort to himself and his mount. The prizes were awarded yesterday on the basis of least fatigue on the part of riders and horses. There were 10 awards for each division.

First place winner in the heavyweight division for horses regularly hired out by riding stables or academies was Miss Shirley Bartell on Deep Purple, a thorobred horse from the School of Horsemanship in Skokie. In addition to the trophy given each first place winner, Miss Bartell was awarded a special trophy by Clayton F. Smith, president of the Cook county forest preserve commission.

Placing second and third in the heavyweight division for livery horses were Fred W. Willis of Wheaton on Bosco from the Stanton stables in Glen Ellyn, and Jock Thompson on Teddy B. from Greentree stables in Norwood Park.

Lightweight Livery Winners.

Winners in the lightweight division for livery horses were Miss Dolores Ehrlich, 3522 Irving Park road, on Cleopatra from the School of Horsemanship, first; Miss Betty Walker, 132 East 119th place, on Skip, owned by Mert Ketchum of Crete, second, and Miss Ruth Welter on Dusty from the School of Horsemanship, third.

Prizes were captured in the heavyweight division for horses ridden by their owners or members of their family by Joseph Gogan of Cleveland, O., on Rafid, first; James H. Cartwright of Evanston on All American, second, and Herbert Lorber of Glenview on Quinns Pet, third.

Other Winners Named.

In the lightweight division for horses ridden by their owners, winners were Mrs. Margaret Schmidt, wife of the owner of the School of Horsemanship, on Playboy, first; Miss Margaret Stuart of Lake Forest on Jedra, second, and Jack A. Spear of Tipton, Ia., on Madame Queen, third.

Successful riders in the open class were Frank Owen of Lake Geneva on Kaukab, owned by A. W. Harris of Williams Bay, Wis., first; Jack Connelly of Gurnee on Kahtan, owned by R. D. Stuart of Lake Forest, second, and Elmer J. Holdorf of Morton Grove on Sargeant Pat, third.

Here's Real Relief for NOSES THAT CLOG, DRY UP AFTER DARK

3-PURPOSE MEDICINE

Va-tro-nol does 3 important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes; (2) soothes irritation; (3) helps flush nasal passages, clearing clogging mucus, relieving transient congestion. It makes breathing easier; invites sleep.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Oct. 6.—Sunday—To the county fair at Pomona. Portraits and historical scenes worked out in oranges and lemons. Prize cakes, cookies, and candies. . . . A parade of sheriff's posses, for which ranchers, horse enthusiasts, and even big business Angelenos dress up like Gene Autry and put silver mounted saddles on their ponies. . . . Machine guns getting the big play in the concession area. . . . A Boy Scout demonstrating how to bake biscuits and making an unholy mess of himself. . . . A girl spinning angora rabbit fur on a wheel. It's a good fair.

Monday—To Paramount, where Joel McCrea and Eddie Bracken are slaving for William Wellman on a scene in "Reaching for the Sun." Bracken hasn't seen "Too Many Girls" yet, but he says the "reaching" assignment is a regular dream rôle. Here's one young Broadwayite who is happy and enthusiastic and thinks the movies are wonderful. On another stage, Gene Markey quietly supervises the first day's shooting of "You're the One." The scene is a band rehearsal and Walter Catlett is cueing tiny Bonnie Baker into a song. The song has already been recorded, doggone it.

Tuesday—To Warners' with Arthur Crawford and his attractive twin nieces, and on the sets of "The Lady with Red Hair" and "South of Suez." On "Suez" Director Lew Seiler says he has given up planning a day's shooting the night before. "Scenes are apt to become stereotyped that way," he says. "I think it's better to work out each scene as we come to it." . . . He's working on an English murder trial, and th ejudges' and lawyers' wigs make the courtroom oddly impressive, even when you know it's makebelieve. Lee Patrick is in it—despite the fact that she was "shot and killed" yesterday. . . . The "Lady with Red Hair" set is an exterior on the back lot. Since cameramen hate sun, a whole street has been covered with red canvas and the usual studio lights are blazing inside. . . . For a late afternoon interview with Geraldine Fitzgerald and then to see "Down Argentine Way," which everybody judges mighty fine. It's Don Ameche's best job to date, and Carmen Miranda comes right off the screen at you, you lucky things.

Wednesday—To Columbia for a talk with Rosalind Russell, one of this department's dream women, who's making "This Thing Called Love." Miss Russell says she is happy to get out of tailored suits in this one. "In 'His Girl Friday,'" she says, "I wore one suit so much I had to have it triplicated. Why, in this one I'm even going to wear nightgowns and negligees."

Thursday—To Metro, hoping to watch Gable and Lamarr doing a bit of "Comrade X," but they aren't shooting. Gable has a toothache and his jaw is swollen so they can't photograph him. Yesterday they managed a little work by confining scenes to the other side of the Gable face. . . . Much interest in the new "Nostradamus," short Metro is making. . . . Shorts, in some studios, seem to be turned out as a necessary and unhappy chore. . . . Lunch with Dave Chasen, and meet John Steinbeck, who is cheerfully doing the town. . . . In the evening to "Too Many Girls," which is almost as good as the stage show was—and the best of the recent musicals. Eddie Bracken, who at his early age knows virtually everything about timing, walks off with comedy honors, and Producer-Director George Abbott should take a bow for the refreshing twist he gave the song, "I Didn't Know What Time It Was."

Friday—Two morning movies. One, the first batch of film sent back to 20th Century-Fox by James Havens' whale-hunting expedition off Mexico. It's to be used in "Down to the Sea in Ships." Marvelous pictures of a school of whales, lying about and spouting; a chase of a huge pair in a small boat; the harpooning and then the long business of wearing the beast out. For seven hours it towed the boat at 12 knots; when dark came they had to cut it loose—which was all right because it was only slightly wounded. The Mexican government has given the expedition permission to kill two whales. . . . The second movie is Ben Hecht's "Angels Over Broadway," which is a fine, tense, flamboyantly literary melodrama of a night in New York, with Thomas Mitchell giving a splendid performance and heading right for another Oscar. . . . In the evening to see "Knute Rockne," a well made sports picture which should pay for all the ballyhoo the Warners have given it.

Saturday—A thinking spell devoted to wondering why film musicals often fail to impress the way flesh-and-blood ones do. Main reason, I believe, is that producers stick too close, not only to stage formula, but also to stage technique. With 90 days to shoot in, they try to turn out a duplicate of what Broadway offers in two hours. They could, it seems to me, find a smoother, more convincing story technique, for they are not handicapped by having to get scenery on and off stage in sixty seconds.

Good morning!

This Judy Garland-Mickey Rooney co-starring vehicle is released almost exactly a year after "Babes in Arms"—also co-featuring the two. And, in a way, it's a lot like the former picture.

It's full of young folks. The same men who produced and directed the "Babes" have taken care of this. And much present again in the action are June Preisser, that clever little acrobatic dancer, and Ann Shoemaker.

Doctors, lawyers, merchants, chiefs, et al., are mighty important in upholding a nation's morale. This film's youngsters would prove that band leaders, swing music, and drummers also have a great big place in sustaining mass courage and enthusiasm.

And so Jimmy Connors, whose deceased father had been a physician, at last persuades his mother that to be a good swing band leader is just as psychologically important as a competent physician is physically so. . . . That's the picture's main theme.

The proceedings are largely concerned with the efforts of Jimmy and Mary, who loves him, to get an audition for Jimmy's high school band before Paul Whiteman, who's conducting a contest in Chicago and offering a prize to the band winning first place by popular demand.

Of course, all sorts of difficulties present themselves to be nobly met and triumphantly overcome.

The piece could be minus a couple of soppy episodes to its advantage. But I want you to notice the ability and great appeal of Larry Nunn, who plays pathetic Willie Brewster.

The co-stars and their juvenile supporters are fresh and refreshing. . . . Older players please. Paul Whiteman grows younger daily. . . . The homily he delivers to Jimmy is hard [for an audience] to take, but that, of course, is not HIS fault.

Outstanding sequences are the "Gay Nineties" melodrama presented by kids and the patriotic finale. . . . The piece has some right catchy tunes.

Hunter Trials Crowd Takes Rain in Stride

BY SUZETTE FARMER.

The rain, for which members of the Mill creek hunt had been praying fervently during the last few days, came yesterday morning in such volume that it would have caused the calling off of anything but hunter trials. The surface of the ground, which had been too hard for satisfactory riding, became so slippery that it proved a definite hazard, so much so that Mrs. S. Prentice Porter's mount slipped and threw its rider in the morning eliminations.

The crowd milling about the horses was the cause of another accident, for the horse on which Mrs. Hugh McB. Johnston was riding suddenly reared up and hurled her against the bumper of a parked automobile.

These mishaps, however, had no more effect on the equestriennes than the steady rain had on the spectators. Both Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Johnston remounted with the same philosophical shrug that the picnickers displayed when they discovered that the only place for them to open their hampers was the veranda of the clubhouse.

Among those who thus adapted themselves to circumstances were the junior Byron Harveys, Mrs. Thomas S. Tyler, charmingly dressed in a light brown tweed suit with matching turban; Miss Judy Butler in gray slacks and yellow jacket; Miss Ethel Johnston, in a gray tweed; and Mrs. Leon Mandel, whose navy blue skirt was set off by a red stripe and bright red jacket.

A tempting buffet luncheon, the highlight of which, according to the head waiter, was strawberries and sour cream, was offered in the club dining room where several parties were given. The largest of these was that which the Howard Linns gave for Miss Margaret Hutchins and Anthony M. Ryerson, whose marriage will take place on Saturday. Among the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Linn were Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchins, Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, Miss Mary Seymour Adams, who wore a blue suede dress and jacket with a wide red belt; the Brooks McCormicks, the Chauncey Orrs; Mrs. Linn's nephew, Edward Blair; Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, the latter dressed in a pale blue two piece suit with a plaited skirt; Ralph Hines, Mrs. Philip D. Armour Jr., in an unusual red and blue tweed pinafore, and Mr. Armour.

Mrs. Hugh McBirney was hostess to Henry Stimson and the Joseph Ryersons; while the Samuel J. Walkers gave a luncheon for Mrs. Orton Prime of Oconomowoc, David Adler and his niece, Miss Katherine Elkins; Mrs. John L. Cochran, Alfred Cowles, and Mrs. Henry Faurot Jr.

The farmers over whose land the trials were held had time to finish their luncheons, under two large tents in the fields, before the downpour of the afternoon. They and the other onlookers took refuge in their cars to see Miss Betty Mead, astride Sylvestre, win the hunter championship; and Mrs. Johnston receive the honor of reserve champion on Roger C. Hyatt's Reconstruction.

Miss Betty Mead, her mother, Mrs. Edward H. Bennett, and S. Prentice Porter won first place in the hunt teams division. Second place was awarded to Donald Douglas, Mrs. Porter, and Mrs. Kimball Salisbury; and third to Mrs. Salisbury, Mr. Douglas, and William B. McIlvaine Jr.

WEDDING

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage tomorrow of Miss Irene Carol Goldstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar A. Goldstein, and Leroy Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Fisher of Glencoe. The wedding will take place at the Goldstein home, 5049 Drexel boulevard. After a trip east Mr. Fisher and his bride will be at home on the south side.

Duck Hunters Get Ready for Season's Start

BY JUDITH CASS.

DUCK hunters have many worries every fall as the shooting season gets under way. The weather for one matter; then reserving blinds, collecting equipment and getting away from offices or wives. But this year the birds really are going to get a break, for with the registration for the draft following by a day the opening of the season there are many hunters of draft age who will forgo shooting on the 15th, the opening of the season, and the 16th, the day of registration.

Stuart Logan, the Thorne Donnelleys, Dexter Cummings, the Henry Rowleys, and many other hunters are undecided about going away for the opening day. William D. Cox is considering taking advantage of the government's arrangement for eligible men to register wherever they may be. He may go to the Grand Island club for the opening and register in that neighborhood the next day. The following week-end Mr. Cox and his wife, who is an excellent shot, will go to the Coleman Lake club to shoot grouse. Mr. Logan will spend several week-ends at his lodge near the Grand Island club, whether he goes for the opening or not.

Junior Otises' Hunting Is Delayed by Moving.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Otis Jr. will not be able to take advantage of the opening of the grouse and woodcock season for the excellent reason that they are too busy with moving problems. South Bend, Ind., is to be their new home. They have taken a small house there which is not yet ready. However, Mrs. Otis expects to have their Astor street apartment closed in a week or so and have the furniture en route to South Bend. Later this fall she and Mr. Otis will go to their summer home at Harbor Point, Mich., for shooting week-ends.

Several Harbor Point families are keeping their summer homes open thru the shooting season. The junior L. Edward Harts will be going there next Sunday for 10 days of sport. Edward P. Russell and his daughter, Mrs. Robert M. Curtis, are staying on in their house until Nov. 1, and young Edward P. Russell II. will go up for several shooting week-ends. Peter Kenly will be his companion on one of them.

Raymond E. Durham Jr. Weds Columbus, O., Girl.

Interesting romantic news is contained in the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Canton of Columbus, O., of the marriage last Saturday of their daughter, Margaret Ann, to Raymond E. Durham Jr., son of Mrs. Durham and the late Mr. Durham of Winnetka. The wedding took place at 4:30 o'clock in the rectory of the Holy Rosary church, the Rev. John J. Murphy officiating. A supper followed at the Canton home.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Durham and the bridegroom's brother, R. Gregory Durham, who was best man, entertained at a breakfast at the Fort Hayes hotel. Miss Esther Canton attended her sister. The wedding was a quiet one, with only the families present. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Henry Poor, and Mr. Poor went to Columbus from their home in New Haven, Conn., for the occasion.

The former Miss Canton has visited in Winnetka several times. She and Mr. Durham met when he went to Columbus on business with the firm of which his father and grandfather, Robert Gregory, were presi-

Streamlined Autumn Fashions Demand Perfect Bulge Control

BY REA SEEGER.

After weeks of watching the evolution of fashion designs from paper to fabric, it's fun to slide into routine and sleuth for fashions around the town. All kinds of new colors, all kinds of sleek new silhouettes, and plenty of exciting combines make shopping for late fall and winter clothes intensely interesting.

One thing is certain, if you would wear any of the newest winter costumes with the proper smartness you must be fitted with the right girdle or foundation. Since streamlines are featured in both coats and dresses, since waistlines are sharply defined, and the lines of the body smoothed into relief, these new costumes depend upon the flawless fitting of foundation wear to be successful.

Not only the slim daytime dresses and the daytime and dress parade coats, but casual tweeds need the remote control of fine satin and elastic models that almost magically smooth away unwanted bulges and extra curves.

So much has been done to make these undersheaths supercomfortable as well as decorative that the most stubborn shoppers succumb to their appeal.

Whether you've a slight figure or the gracious outlines of the mature woman there are girdles and combinations to meet all requirements. Specialized models to hold without restriction or discomfort, fine materials, dainty accents of laces and ribbon or net, make these underlayers exactly the right models for the most fitted costume.

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By Alice Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce, in England, to do some studying. Arriving at night she enters the house and is frightened by footsteps. Investigating, she finds a dead man in a closet. As she rushes from the house she runs into 23 year old Stephen Smedley, who she later learns is a publisher who has come to the country for a rest and lives in an old chapel near her cottage. Rowan tells Stephen her story, and he goes off to get his car. When he fails to return, Rowan starts out searching for him and stumbles upon him prostrate. Helping him into the house, he collapses on the sofa. Rowan leaves him and goes to her bedroom for a nap, but is awakened with Stephen entering her door, holding a butcher knife. A sharp command from her makes him drop the knife and retreat. The next morning he seems to remember nothing of the knife episode and the dead man has disappeared. Mrs. Faithful, the housekeeper, fails to show up, but has sent Mrs. Yailles, mother of Egbert, the caretaker, to get Rowan's breakfast. Rowan has found a briefcase with a manuscript about Russia in it and is hiding it with her bloody skirt and a gun she has also found, just as the Rev. Bogge and Lord Romrytch arrive at her cottage searching for the vicar's brother, Bertram, whom they say had been allowed to study in the cottage. From their conversation Rowan gathers that Bertram had an affair with the vicar's servant girl, who was engaged to Egbert. Stephen admits the dead man was Bertram and that he was trying to interest Stephen in publishing a book he had written. Lord and Lady Romrytch invite Rowan, Stephen, and the vicar to luncheon. Lord Romrytch calls Rowan to one side and questions her about staying in the cottage alone.

INSTALMENT XIX.

BAD REPUTATION.

It wasn't easy, this speaking of a corpse as a living man. Rowan hoped she had made it convincing. Lord Romrytch seemed to be weighing her words.

"It's quite on the cards Bogge will sneak in at night to pick up his belongings. He's still got a key."

"H'm, not good enough. Heard his reputation?"

"You mean this mixup about the vicar's maid? O, yes! Mr. Smedley told me. I don't believe after the scare he's had he'll try that sort of game twice."

"Not if he's normal. It's the whole question, isn't it? See this!"

With a terrier swoop Lord Romrytch caught up a crumpled sheet of paper from his desk and thrust it in front of her. It seemed identical with the thick tying paper on which the dead man's manuscript was written.

"But these are only scrawls." She frowned. "Just one name scribbled over and over again, as if the writer were trying a new pen, or——"

"Exactly; but what name?"

"Clinton Bagshawe." She looked at him.

"Right!" Lord Romrytch retrieved the paper and shut it in a drawer. "I picked that out of the wastebasket right under the padre's nose. I'd felt there was something funny about Sir Clinton's signature, you know, on the note Bogge brought round to me. A moment ago I got thru to the Bagshawe place in Norfolk, and what do you think I was told? That far from having given Bogge an introduction to me Sir Clinton's never in his life heard of the fellow."

Rowan gazed back into the sharp, amused eyes. "He did forge the note, I suppose. Still, a forger isn't the same thing as a—a——"

"Sexual maniac? I admit there's no visible connection. My point is this: Only a fool or an irresponsible madman could have hoped to pull the wool over my eyes with a bogus introduction. A man in his wits would bet his boots I'd check up. Well, then, putting two and two together, we can lay a hundred to one Bertram Bogge's got several screws loose and that the padre is well on to the fact and trying desperately to suppress it."

"Yet he was staying first of all with the vicar," mused Rowan.

"Descended on him—bad penny stuff. The padre's closemouthed, but he practically admits he's kept clear of this brother as far as he could manage. Notice the sweat he was in to go along with that search party?"

"I did. Was that because——"

"Well, naturally! So if a body is found he can go thru the pockets in advance of any one else. There, now, we won't speak of bodies. If I believed this fellow was dead I shouldn't be warning you about him now. Look!" Lord Romrytch swung her round. "There's the telephone, right at your hand. If you're set on stopping down here and writing your stuff on economics why not ring up some older woman and get her to join you?"

The scarlet microphone stood on shining walnut, flanked by photographs of Lady Romrytch—old ones, flamboyantly posed at the time when she had dazzled New York as one of the last Ziegfeld beauties. Overshadowed by a cluster of enormous rose-peonies lay several mechanical drawings. New radio plans, or television? They looked more like airplane sections.

Lord Romrytch hadn't told her all he suspected. Rowan picked up a fallen petal, pinched it, and shook her head.

"There's no one, I'm afraid. I've not had a chance to make many real friends. It's tremendously kind of you, Lord Romrytch, but really I'm not a bit frightened."

"You don't look it. This man Smedley. Is he, by chance——? Don't mind my nosiness; it won't go further, believe me."

Getting his meaning Rowan blushed furiously. "Is he stopping with me? Heavens, no! Didn't you hear me say I scarcely knew him? And besides——"

"Now, now, keep your hair on! I had to ask. No telephone, either. Not that it would be much help if a lunatic came barging into your bedroom. A gun would be more to the purpose. Haven't got one, I suppose?"

"No. I don't want a gun. At least . . ."

She paused. It was on the tip of her tongue to tell him everything, without reservation. Power was here, and cleverness, and influence.

"Well, spit it out."

Power! Yes, to shield her; but what about Stephen?

"There's nothing to spit," she giggled. "I was only going to say I'm pretty handy with a poker."

Declining the offer of a car, they had chosen to walk home. The distance was little more than three miles across fields; but Rowan's real reason was a strong desire to find Egbert and sound him on the subject of last night. Egbert, however, was nowhere to be seen. His fellow gardeners, busy clipping a hedge, were annoyingly taciturn about him. He might have gone along with the beaters, they really couldn't say.

They walked on, round the lake. Since reaching Struve he had addressed scarcely a syllable to her. He had been scrupulously polite to their hosts, but in his manner she had read a cynic's scorn which tended to rouse in her a similar reaction toward himself.

"Enjoy yourself?" she said bitingly.

"Not much." He trudged moodily toward a paddock.

"Look here," she snapped. "What have you got against Lord Romrytch except that he's a rich man who didn't have a public school education and still talks with a Cockney accent?"

"Nothing. Why should I have anything against him?"

"Exactly! Your reason for accepting his hospitality is no business of mine—tho I could make a good stab at it, if I wanted to be a puss-cat."

"Don't."

"All right, it doesn't matter." Her chin went up. "It may interest you to learn, tho, how extremely close I came to spilling the whole thing to him. I'm not sure now I oughtn't to have done it and got his advice; but I didn't. I bit my tongue and kept up my act."

"That's good of you."

"O yeah? Maybe I did it for myself. It's not easy now to start disentangling. Still, you may as well hear why he called me into his study."

His lukewarm interest irritated her. In the spinney they were now threading he kept scouting to left and right, hardly attending to her remarks. Twice he paused, listening, but not to her. Yet he had heard her, as his delayed comment showed.

"So our man Bogge appears to have been a forger as well as a somewhat fly-blown Don Juan. It strikes me he may have gone down rather well in his alleged meetings with Hitler."

"Hitler? Go on! You don't mean to tell me Bertram Bogge pretended he knew Hitler?"

GASOLINE ALLEY—DISSENTION IN THE RANKS

Daughter Who Shoulders All Family Drudgery Cheats Self

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Jeanny is 19, but not the eldest daughter of the large family group she has taken over as her home-mothering job. There are two older sisters, one 21 and one 23. There is a younger sister of 17 and also several boys in the family.

Jeanny finds herself at the end of a year of trying to substitute in her deceased mother's place in the family picture, a "shut-out" in social affairs. Naturally, Jeanny's position as housekeeper and homemaker limits her chances for meeting boys. Instead of her sisters sharing their boy friendships, they make it plain she is not wanted even when the boys come to the house.

The two older sisters work and use this as their alibi for not lending a helping hand about the house. The younger one, obviously spoiled from childhood, is impudently resentful if asked even to run an errand. All of which points the way to an isolated social position for Jeanny unless she begins right now to assert her rights.

Our feeling is that Jeanny would serve herself and her family better if she were to seek a job outside the home. With each contributing a share of his earnings, father's share included, too, a housekeeper could be employed. We are out of sympathy with one family member making herself the drudge for the rest.

Screen Beauties' 'Cocktails' Banish Sleep from Eyes

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In a Hollywood publicity release we read that "nothing annoys a motion picture director more than the slow waker-uppers who appear on the sets still heavy-eyed from sleep."

The beauties of the screen indulge in what they call "pep cocktails," knowing that the half-awake look is death to screen glamor.

Ida Lupino, they tell us, lies in bed and stretches, going thru gymnastics suggesting those of a cat before a fire.

Jane Wyman claims that her trick of "coming to" quickly in the morning is to take a long, brisk walk after dinner the night before.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

We can remember the time when the beauty experts, the shop owners, and the manufacturers of cosmetics visualized their particular audience as women of 30 or more, fairly well off, and with plenty of leisure. How changed that is, now!

Today we have particular beauty aids for the young girl, and a good educational program about their use and about grooming habits and practices in general. The youngsters are getting off to a better start in the pursuit of health and beauty than they ever did before. And the career woman is coming into her own, too.

A woman who makes a career for herself of helping other career girls develop their personality and correct their beauty shortcomings will have some special sessions for business girls this week.

It's important for the business girl who must cling to her youth and good looks as long as possible to "mind her C's," says this expert. These are climate, carelessness, and correct cosmetics. Good advice, don't you think?

Climate has a lot to do with the beauty routine a woman should follow; carelessness is a fault we all slip into now and then, and certainly there are few things as important as the choice of the right cosmetics!

We know any number of working women who'd like to make themselves over. They have neither the time nor the money to attend one of those schools which are so popular and so helpful. The next best thing is to pick up every bit of information they can on how to help themselves.

ESQUIRE

"MY LOVE CAME BACK," a comedy which is best described as a romantic escapade. Its story is swift, its mood gay and airy, yet liberal in chuckle inducing incident. It is briskly acted by a group of the screen's pleasant characters. Charles Winninger, playing a rogue, is certain Olivia De Havilland's interest is not platonic, and his pursuit sends the plot spinning with harmless but amusing double-entendre. You will particularly relish the handling of the musical portions.

Dixie Pianist Opens Chicago Music Season

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Josephine Harreld, an Atlanta, Ga., pianist, made her Chicago debut in the Studebaker theater yesterday afternoon and incidentally opened the local music season. She was very impressive in romantic and modern music, somewhat less so in classical.

In Debussy's "The Engulfed Cathedral" Miss Harreld succeeded in suiting her style perfectly to the mystical character of the piece. Her soft, rich, glowing sonorities left a listener no choice but to surrender to the music's enchantment. With no further stimulant whatever one could indeed see the still, bright ocean and hear the watery ringing of the lost church's bells.

Two tiny pieces by William Grant Still—"Mystic Pool" and "Muted Laughter"—also served to display Miss Harreld's really remarkable command of tone. The former had that pure, translucent quality characteristic of mystic pools at their best. The latter was more a silvery rumor than a thing struck by hammers from taut strings. In quite a different sort of piece—Lecuona's smoking "Malaguena"—Miss Harreld made very effective use of tantalizing meters and incisive attacks.

If any one still harbored any doubts about the new pianist's musicality these should have been dispelled by the lovely melodic line which she achieved in the more lyrical parts of the Brahms-B minor Rhapsody and by her success in projecting the elusive, bittersweet character of the same composer's B-flat minor intermezzo.

The Chopin group, also, showed a genuine feeling for the idiom of the music, altho the tiring pianist could compass neither the speed necessary for a fully effective performance of the G-sharp minor etude nor the almost explosive forcefulness which the opus 53 polonaise demands.

Miss Harreld's classical offerings [Bach's Italian Concerto and Beethoven's Waldstein Sonata] could have been improved by better calculated dynamic schemes and longer, more tranquil phrase lines.

Rotary to Hear Pollock.

The Two-Piece Silhouette

WOMAN'S AND MISS' COSTUME.

The two-piece silhouette is fashion favored this autumn. This does not necessarily indicate a suit, for there are divided frocks in the scheme of things, too. This one has unusual chic, blending a desirable tailored effect with dressiness. This is a wear it simply everywhere outfit.

Style No. 2503 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 54 inch fabric for long sleeved dress.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Honey cluster bread is something different, but it begins with a sweet yeast dough which may be used for rolls, tea rings, or other kinds of coffee cake.

Basic Sweet Yeast Dough.

[3 dozen rolls or 2 coffee cakes or twists.]
2 cakes compressed yeast
1 cup milk
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
About 5 cups sifted flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk and add sugar, shortening, and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add enough flour to make a thick batter. Add yeast, egg, and lemon rind, and beat thoroly. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on a lightly floured board and knead until satiny. Form into a ball, place in a greased bowl, cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Shape into rolls or coffee cakes. Let rise until doubled in bulk and bake in a 375 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes for rolls, 25 to 30 minutes for coffee cakes.

HONEY CLUSTER BREAD.

[1 Coffee Cake.]

Use half of the dough made by the preceding recipe, and after punching it down, roll or stretch to ½ inch in thickness. Cut with scissors into 1 inch squares. Dip them in melted butter, then in a sugar and cinnamon mixture. Place half of the squares in a greased 8 inch square pan, spread over with a combination of 2 tablespoons honey and 1 tablespoon evaporated milk, and cover with remaining squares. Let rise until doubled and bake for half an hour at 375 degrees.

ORANGE ROLLS.

A part of the dough may be used for most delicious orange rolls. After punching down the dough, roll it out as thinly as possible and sprinkle with sugar which has been well moistened with orange juice and into which the grated rind of an orange has been mixed. Add currants and nuts, if desired. Roll up jelly-roll fashion, cut in inch slices, and arrange in greased baking pans for last rising. After the rolls have doubled in bulk, bake them at 375 degrees for about 25 minutes.

Dr. Augustus Zanzig Leads Roycemore Chorus Today

Crocheted Hanky Edgings

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

With the vogue for both enormous handkerchiefs and such wisps as can scarcely be seen, crocheted edgings are enjoying wide popularity, as a simple yet decorative finish to an otherwise utilitarian object. Each of the four edgings may be done in little time, since they are not complicated by a variety of stitches. A fine white chiffon hanky does a lot to keep the angora of a bolero from shedding on the dancing partner's evening clothes.

For instructions in crocheting the four edgings for handkerchiefs, No. 150, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Gish Telegraphs Gish.

Miss Lillian Gish sent a telegram to her sister, Dorothy, when she opened last week in the Boston company of Life with Father, in which she plays opposite Louis Calhern. Knowing that Dorothy was sure to be shaken with opening night jitters, Lillian wired her a line of Vinnie's dialog from act II., scene 2, of the play:

"I had a touch of this last fall, but was much better the next morning."

London-Hollywood Notes.

Philip Merivale flew back to California last week-end to the new home he and his wife, Gladys Cooper, have bought on the west coast and to await shipment of their furniture from England, or such of it as is left. Mr. Merivale received a cable the other day stating that a bomb had struck the building in which it had been stored.

"I suppose we'll get a shipment of maid's room iron beds and crockery in perfect condition and find Orpen's portrait of Gladys smashed to bits and my books missing completely," said Merivale, forebodingly.

The wife of Sir Cedric Hardwicke recently arrived in Hollywood from London and is eager now to return, Mr. Merivale said. Her brother is a member of the royal air force. Every night Lady Hardwicke and a friend or two would go to the air field to see her brother off to bomb Berlin. They would sit in the airport restaurant, drinking coffee and smoking cigarets, to wait for his return, waiters in a nightly drama of danger, death, and destruction. So far, he always has come back. . . .

Add Confusing Addresses.

Town Names.

Besides obvious reasons why the United States is the best place in the world, Miss Grayce O'Dell, looking over the Atlas, discovered:

There is a Good [W. Va.] but no Bad; a Matrimony [N. C.] but no Divorce; a Love [Miss.] but no Hate, and a Sweet [Idaho] but no Bitter.

Add Bride's Cooking Stories.

Mrs. Gerald T. Magner, a bride who lives at the South Shore Country club, has joined the woman's bowling team of the hotel and is astonishing the other members of the team with her proficiency. Recently she bowled two strikes in succession.

Young Fry.

Carpatho-Russian Church Is Dedicated by Bishop

In a colorful religious ceremony the Carpatho-Russian church of SS. Peter and Paul, 5300 South Western avenue, was dedicated by the Most Rev. Bishop Leonty of Holy Trinity cathedral yesterday. Present at the dedication were other members of the Chicago diocese and representatives of the Episcopal church. The parish was organized Sept. 21, 1931, by its present pastor, the Rev. Peter N. Semkoff. It has a membership of 500.

Assign Quotas to Community Fund Chairmen

Chairmen of the many groups who are soliciting among industrial and business employés on behalf of the 1940 Community fund campaign, reported last night that pledge cards will be in the hands of more than 700,000 of the employés early this week.

More than a million employés in the city's industrial system will be reached during the drive by 50,000 volunteer workers.

The money quotas these groups are expected to raise toward the goal of $3,604,000, were given to the group leaders by Merle J. Trees, campaign chairman, and Champ Carry, chairman of the industrial division. The groups, chairmen, and quotas follow:

Writer Sorts Her Mail and Gives Advice

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The letters that I did not see when I was away this summer are piled up before me. It is odd that they should all, with a very few exceptions, fall under two headings.

The majority of the letters are devoted to tales of small children who are described as naughty, spiteful, stubborn, or generally spoiled; or who won't sleep or eat or "tell" when they need to go to the bathroom.

The other group of letters hasn't much to say about children's behavior. In these letters the mothers ask how they shall answer the questions their children ask them about babies; they want to know how to explain to their boys and girls in simple, clear language the changes that come with adolescence.

All of these letters were given attention, but if the mothers represented in the first group, those with small child problems, need still further help it would be well for them to watch this column, as it will on many days deal with the behavior of very little boys and girls.

To the parents of the second group of letters, those concerned with reproduction and sex, what I have to say is a little different. There will be articles on these subjects, but it isn't possible to deal with them fully in a newspaper column. For that reason I often advise parents to read these references, a list of which will be sent on request.

The national self-rating bridge examination gets into full stride today, with the answer to last Monday's question, which was:

Question 1: Rubber bridge. Both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	?

♠AK85 ♥AK108 ♦6 ♣Q1083
What call do you make?

Answer: The correct response is one spade. Any jump response [two spades, two hearts, or three clubs] is not warranted, despite the four-plus honor tricks, with a singleton in partner's suit and with distribution of 4-4-4-1. The correct procedure is to give merely a one round force, then, if convenient, to show hearts and clubs in normal order. A jump takeout would needlessly use up one round of bidding. [If your answer was two spades take 15 points demerit; two hearts, 25 points; three clubs, 40; one heart, 15; two clubs, 20; one no trump, 50; two no trump, 35; three no trump, 40; four no trump, 60.]

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 9: North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South

♠Q54 ♥82 ♦AK105 ♣KJ94
What call do you make?

Question 10: Neither side vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 no trump	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠Q9753 ♥1064 ♦103 ♣975
What call do you make?

Today's Hand

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 diamonds	Pass	3 diamonds
3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

North had a close decision as to whether to bid or pass over West's two diamond overcall. Incidentally, West's bid, even tho not vulnerable, was highly questionable.

The ace of diamonds was the opening lead, and the king of clubs then was laid down.

It should take little imagination for East to coöperate properly. Ten clubs are in sight. Declarer may have either one or two. In the former case, obviously only one club trick can be taken by the defenders. In the latter, however, two tricks can be won if declarer is not given the chance to discard a losing club! It must be remembered that West's two diamond overcall, considering all the high diamonds in sight, could not have been made on less than a five card suit, which leaves declarer with only one. Dummy's king, therefore, will allow the discard of a club unless the club tricks are promptly cashed.

On this reasoning the club king must be overtaken with the ace and a club returned for West to ruff. The spade ace accounts for the setting trick.

British War Relief Shop Holds Auction Today.

To clear the Architects and Decorators' British War Relief shop at 615 North Michigan avenue of all remaining stock there will be an auction in two sessions today. A professional auctioneer is donating his services. He will be assisted by Patrick O'Moore, the villain of "Ladies in Retirement," at this afternoon's session from 2 until 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham and Sam Marx will be the assistants at tonight's part of the program, from 8 o'clock until midnight. All of the women who lent their names to the enterprise have been invited to come to tonight's session and, as they are planning to wear formal clothes, the closing of the shop should be a gala one. Contributions still are coming in, and it is confidently expected that the receipts from the Chicago shop will top New York's sum of $31,000. The Chicago shop passed $27,000 after two weeks. The New York shop did not pass that mark until it had been open one month.

N. U. Medical Faculty Club Gives Card Party Today.

The Women's Faculty club of Northwestern university medical school is giving a card party at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Lake Shore club for the benefit of a fund for research in the medical school. One of the features of the affair will be the awarding of a hat to the best hatted woman present. Among the judges will be Mrs. Orville S. Babcock, Mrs. Henry Field, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, and Mrs. Mark Trude.

Several large luncheon parties have been planned by members of the Woman's Athletic club to follow Pierre Van Paassen's lecture on "The European Scene" at 11:30 o'clock this morning. The lecture is the first of this winter's series. Among those who have made reservations are Mrs. David A. Hare, Mrs. Paul McGrath, Mrs. Arthur Blackwood, Mrs. Edwin McGinnis, Mrs. Stanley Pierce, Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly, Mrs. Alexander H. Revell Jr., and Mrs. William T. O'Donnell.

Karen Ely Weds; So Does Her Brother, Laurence.

The Chicago friends of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Driggs Ely of New York, formerly of Barrington, will be receiving announcements of two marriages in the Ely family, Miss Karen Ely and Roger H. Thiele of Scarsdale, N. Y., were married last Friday in the Church of the Transfiguration, New York, with a reception following at the Roosevelt hotel.

Laurence Ely Jr. and Miss Elizabeth Duhrssen were married on Saturday in Rosemary chapel, Greenwich, Conn., with a reception following at the New Canaan, Conn., home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dixon. Both young couples will live in California, where the bridegrooms will be engaged in business. Mrs. Thiele attended the Girls Latin school, and the Chekhov Theater studio in Ridgefield, Conn. Mr. Ely attended Princeton university. His bride is a graduate of the Rosemary school in Greenwich. Mr. Thiele was graduated from Dartmouth last June.

The marriage of Miss Georgette McKee and Nathaniel Willis took place at 5:30 o'clock yesterday at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Willis of Hinsdale. The bride, a member of the cast of "Life With Father," was attended by her sister, Ann, who came from Forest Hills, N. Y., with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas H. McKee; and by Mrs. Edwin Ruthven Moore, whose ivory satin gown she wore. Willard Shull of St. Paul, Minn., was best man. Mr. Willis and his bride will be at home at the Lake Shore club.

Oct. 7, 1940.

Fortunate days—If you were born on the 7th day of any month, or any of the combinations which reduce to a seven [the 16th or 25th] you should check the seven days in your chart as the days on which you do the things which are important to you. As secondary important days, check the one and five days. On the seven days, dig into your studies, perfect your work, and keep your philosophy of life uppermost. On the one days take important steps, and on the five days promote your interests.

Year ahead—1941 belongs in the harmonious numbers for you and so will be an important year in which to promote yourself.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox came dashing thru the rain yesterday to conclude the city series to their own satisfaction in Wrigley field. Jim Dykes' dudes were baffled, even embarrassed, for quite a stretch by the southpawing of Vern Olsen. But they began mauling the ball in the seventh inning, climbed into a tie in the ninth and fastened down their sixth consecutive municipal title in the 10th inning when a two run splurge forced the Cubs to surrender, 5 to 4, for the fourth time in six games.

Sharing in the mêlée stirred up by the Sox bats was the venerable Ted Lyons, who notched his second victory of the series and his fourth over the Cubs in two years. Altho rested for only four days the 40 year old wizard held the Cubs to five hits in nine innings, but even with such a performance he came dangerously close to a beating. The Cubs got three runs on those five hits, one a homer by Hank Leiber, who later ran into the wall and retired because of bruises. Three of the four other hits were bunched in the fourth. The other two Cub blows appeared in the 10th, one a homer by Zeke Bonura.

Olsen Loses 3 to 0 Lead.

Olsen, winner over the Sox in the second game, was so prosperous that he gave up only one hit for six innings, by which time he had a 3 to 0 lead. In the seventh, Julius Solters, author of the first hit, launched an attack in which Luke Appling and Taft Wright collaborated. Two runs blossomed. In the ninth Solters started something again. Wright again took a hand and the tying run registered. This made a total of six hits off Olsen in three successive innings. And there were more to come as Olsen and his pals and 12,075 spectators who had been dodging rain since the fourth inning learned in the 10th.

Lyons opened the decisive 10th with a line drive that Hack speared. Jim Webb shot a single into left, his second, but Mike Tresh fanned. Then Joe Kuhel collected for the larceny committed on him by Leiber in the eighth. The Sox first baseman doubled off the wall, from which Leiber had snared a previous drive, and Webb scored. Solters, having made three hits, was purposely passed, whereupon Appling singled to drive in Kuhel with the run that made Bonura's subsequent homer stingless.

Leiber Smashes a Homer.

Leiber got himself into position to do some damage at the start of the second by exercising patience until he had forced Lyons to a 3 and 2 count. Then Ted served up a cripple and Leiber gave it such a terrific whack it plunked down into the street behind the left field catwalk. Gleeson followed with a single to center, going to second on Bonura's infield tap. Todd fouled to Kuhel, and the inning ended when Lyons

Success Stories of 2 Widows: They Carry On to Vindication

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The bank told Mrs. Grace Comiskey to sell the White Sox on the grounds baseball was an uncertain business venture. Mrs. Comiskey said no.

Likewise, advisers told Mrs. Marie Evans, also a widow, that she should liquidate, among other things, a 4 year old horse called Shot Put. Mrs. Evans, like Mrs. Comiskey, is a south sider, altho they are not acquainted. Selling Shot Put, she said, was one thing she definitely would not do.

Mrs. Marie Evans.

Mrs. Evans was at Belmont Park in New York Saturday when Shot Put won a race by a neck—the $50,000 added New York handicap. Her share of the purse was $42,400, which will buy a lot of biscuits for the Lauer Sisters restaurant which she has operated on 63d street since the death of her husband.

Vindication for Both.

A day later, yesterday, the White Sox, climaxing one of their most profitable seasons financially, won their sixth straight city series from the Cubs. The 1940 attendance, tho not officially announced as yet, is approximately 750,000, or 150,000 more than last year's total.

And there you have the sports success stories of two Chicago women who have reason to feel vindicated in their determination to carry on the family sports interests.

Three years ago, when Mrs. Evans and her husband, Dave, were in Florida, he presented her with two horses as a gift. Their names were Step Ladder and Old Flag. Mrs. Evans soon disposed of Step Ladder when he couldn't be broken of his habit of trailing home the field. Old Flag suffered a broken foot and was destroyed.

In February of 1939, Mr. Evans bought Shot Put from Joseph E. Widener for $2,000. The horse ran its first race for Mrs. Evans at Washington Park two summers ago, and finished second. The next time out he won at Washington. Saturday's victory raised his winnings for Mrs. Evans this year to $61,250.

Ignored Lawyer's Advice.

"My husband was a racing fan," Mrs. Evans said yesterday in New York, "and that is the way I became interested in horses. After his death, my lawyer, John H. Lyle, suggested it would be best to sell Shot Put. But I had become so attached to the horse I decided to keep him. I was confident he would become one of the greatest horses in the country."

Mrs. Evans has entered Shot Put in two races at the Empire City track and later will campaign him in Maryland. She plans to remain in New York for 10 days before returning home.

Completing a triumvirate of famous Chicago women in sports for 1940 would be Mrs. Ethel V. Mars. She sent a horse named Gallahadion to the post in the Kentucky Derby. Bimelech was supposed to have that one tucked away. But Mrs. Mars received the winner's check of $60,150.

Riggs Keeps Coast Title; Helen Jacobs Defeated

Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 6 (AP).—Bobby Riggs, playing superbly from the start, successfully defended his Pacific coast singles tennis championship today with a 6-4, 2-6, 6-2 victory over Frank Kovacs of Oakland. It was their fifth meeting this year and Riggs' third victory. Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco won the women's singles crown from Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, 6-4, 6-2.

RE-ENFORCEMENTS

The rush for copies of the 1940 In the Wake of the News Book has forced the newsstand operators to brace their backs to the wall and call for help. Now the presses have turned out more volumes—but this will be the last run. When this batch is exhausted there won't be any more—just as was the case in 1938 and 1939 when the edition was sold out completely.

Don't delay long enough to miss this brilliant volume which contains the best quips, verse, notes, and general items which appeared in the Wake during the last year. The price is 10 cents. BEARS TURN ON POWER TO BEAT RAMS, 21 TO 14

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Oct. 6.—Bear power put together three touchdown marches today to defeat the Cleveland Rams, 21 to 14, in a National Football league game and lifted the Chicagoans into a first place tie with Green Bay and Detroit in the western division.

The Bears fought futilely to penetrate beyond their own 29 yard line until an intercepted pass gave them possession on Cleveland's 32 yard line in the 15th minute of play. George McAfee then gave them a touchdown lead in the second period on a fourteen yard sprint. Bernie Masterson and Harry Clark combined on a nineteen yard pass for another touchdown a few minutes later and they led at the half, 14 to 0.

Advance Goes Sixty-Two Yards.

Gary Famiglietti, playing right half for the first time this season, plunged for the third Bear touchdown to wind up a sixty-two yard advance that began with the return of a kickoff, following Parker Hall's twelve yard run for the first Ram score early in the third period. Cleveland's other touchdown came in the final minute of the same period on Hall's twenty-five yard pass to Dante Magnani, a rookie half back from St. Mary's of California.

It was the Bears' second victory against one defeat and the Rams' second straight whipping after a triumphant opening against Philadelphia. Thru periodic flashes of power the Bears were able to keep the ball game well in hand but their inability to maintain a consistent attack allowed the Rams to arouse the hopes of the 18,998 clustered in the mammoth lake front stadium time after time. In the final minute of the game a Ram foray penetrated to the Bears' 9 yard line.

Janiak Loses 12 Yards.

In the second quarter Len Janiak, a Ram reserve, fumbled a pass from center on fourth down and was thrown for a twelve yard loss by Piasman on Cleveland's 14 yard line. On the first play McAfee went wide on a man in motion play, cut inside of the Rams' right end, swung back toward the center of the field, and sprinted over the goal. Bob Snyder kicked the extra point.

Cleveland was forced to punt after receiving the ensuing kickoff and Western conference teams, with one exception, continued to prove sectional supremacy in Saturday's engagements. Ohio State, defending title holder, came out of the games leading the conference parade. The Buckeyes barely gained victory in Saturday's opener with Purdue, 17 to 14. They now come to Northwestern to meet the Wildcats.

The other conference scrap this week matches Wisconsin and Iowa. Each opened with a rousing victory. The Badgers rallied in the third period against Marquette, scoring three touchdowns and finishing with a 33 to 19 conquest over the only team Wisconsin could defeat a year ago. Iowa easily disposed of South Dakota, 46 to 0, during which time the Hawkeye coaches viewed sophomore material.

Purdue Performs Well.

Purdue provided the only fireworks in Saturday's program, altho an excellent performance of the Boilermakers had been predicted. Speed and passes nearly gained a draw with the Buckeyes, who depended more on a running attack than on Don Scott's passes. But in the closing minutes, Dick Fisher returned a Purdue punt 22 yards to provide the setup from which Ohio State emerged victor when Charley Maag, Buckeye tackle, place kicked successfully as the ball was held on Purdue's 27 yard line by Capt. Jim Langhurst.

Purdue's 1940 team, largely inexperienced after the first 11 players are dismissed, proved itself by its rally which scored two touchdowns after the team had trailed, 14 to 0. Consecutive drives for 77 yards and 50 yards produced these scores.

Ohio's Passing Dangerous.

It is problematical whether Northwestern can come within three points of Ohio State. It must be remembered that Ohio State has a better than average passing attack. Last year, for instance, Scott passed for all three touchdowns against Minnesota. Saturday Ohio State completed four of its seven forward passes against Purdue.

Northwestern defeated Syracuse Saturday, 40 to 0, and the Wildcats, with six new starters in the line, played creditably. The Syracuse line, however, by no means equals what one expects from conference competition. In addition, an intercepted pass and a blocked kick handed Northwestern two touchdowns, and miserable punting by the Orange arranged for two others. Bill De Correvont, Red Hahnenstein, Ike Kepford, and Don Clawson supplied the Wildcat punch, but against the Buckeyes the decision will rest on Northwestern's line, which will be outweighed and which cannot match Ohio State in reserves.

Harmon Continues Great Work.

Tom Harmon continued his brilliant work as Michigan whipped Michigan State, 21 to 14. Harmon and his Wolverine mates now go to Harvard to show the Atlantic seaboard the attack which California saw a week ago Saturday and which retained the state championship last week against the Spartans. Michigan's game with Illinois follows.

Illinois opened its schedule with a 31 to 0 romp over Bradley Tech in payment for last year's scoreless tie. Indiana university failed in an intersectional test with Texas, 13 to 6, and once again Hoosier passing—19 completions in 35 attempts—failed to pay off in points, for Hoosier running plays only gained 11 yards.

Irish Face Georgia Tech.

After an indifferent start, Notre Dame rolled over College of the Pacific in the season's inaugural at Notre Dame, 25 to 7. It now prepares for Georgia Tech, victor Saturday over Howard, 27 to 0.

Bill Johnson, Minnesota's end whose recovery of two University of Washington fumbles was prominent in the Gophers' victory a week ago, caught Bruce Smith's pass on Saturday to defeat Nebraska, 13 to 7. Now the Gophers rest until Oct. 19 when they face Ohio State.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THE average winning score for the 21 major medal play tournaments of the 1940 golf season is 277, another evidence of the disdain in which leading professionals now hold par. . . . This figure is 11 under the even 4s that once represented perfection. . . . Seven times the winner's score was under 280, twice under 270, and only once over 290. . . . Craig Wood's 264 in the Metropolitan led all others, the only approach to it being Ralph Guldahl's 268 at Milwaukee. . . . Most consistent of the low scorers was Ben Hogan, who broke 280 three times in succession in the North Carolina tournaments. . . . Others who bettered 280 were Byron Nelson in the Texas Open, Dick Metz in the Chicago Open, and Ed Oliver in the St. Paul Open. . . . Highest score was Jimmy Demaret's 293 in the Western Open, but that was played under weather conditions impossible for low scoring. . . . Bob Tanner, Minnesota end who caught the forward pass that brought victory over Pittsburgh in 1934, now is a doctor in the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. . . . The Indians' failure to win the American league pennant must have been particularly disappointing to Cleveland's municipal politicians. . . . Chicago's Lincoln park traffic tanglers will be interested to know that at the time the flag race was at its height, crews were sent out to dig up Cleveland's downtown streets to complicate traffic as much as possible. . . . They started alongside the hotel which long has been the Cleveland home of American league ball teams and many out of town sports fans. . . . Bulldog Turner, the Hardin Simmons cattle driver who has made good as center for the Chicago Bears, is the center of attention wherever the club goes, because he refuses to switch from a $35 pair of orange and yellow cowpuncher boots to conventional brogans. . . .

It was the consensus of reporters covering the world series that Oscar Vitt will be relieved as manager of the Indians. . . . Mickey Cochrane or

Bucky Harris were picked as probable successor. . . . Ernie Quigley, prominent sports official, usually has the last word in any discussion with players or fans, but he lost a decision several years ago to a customer in a National A. A. U. basketball tournament in Kansas City. . . . The aforesaid fan had been heckling Ernie thruout the game. . . . Quigley called time and, addressing himself to his tormentor, said, "Sir, I will wager you are not a college man." . . . The spectator replied, "That's right, Quig, but I have 25 of them working for me." . . . The academic prowess of football players at the University of Iowa doesn't stop with Nile Kinnick, Phi Beta Kappa scholar. . . . Al Couppee was valedictorian of his class at Council Bluffs, Ia., and competed in five interscholastic sports. . . . Martin Heintzmann, secretary of the New Orleans baseball team, has been connected with the Pelicans since 1907. . . . The name of the pure bred Jersey cow for which Bob Zuppke recently swapped an oil painting is "Foremost Prudence."

Last night I made a vow to tell the coach
I gathered several bombshells of reproach
And was determined I should speak my mind;
I practiced all the things I meant to say,
Marshalling words like moron, lout, and bum;
But when I met him face to face today
I suddenly grew paralyzed and dumb.
Then he proceeded to belabor me
By calling me a lot of nasty names.
He told me that a panty-waist should be
But my old tongue was tied up in my cheek
And tho I tried my best I couldn't speak.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 6.—The Detroit Tigers and the Reds came back late tonight to Cincinnati, where tomorrow they will resume the world series in its sixth instalment. The Tigers, by virtue of having conquered in Detroit this afternoon, 8 to 0, behind the three hit pitching of Buck Newsom, have a chance to become world champions ere nightfall tomorrow. The Reds, of course, must win tomorrow and Tuesday to become world champions.

The Reds will depend upon Bucky Walters to prolong the series. Bucky evened the series at one-all last Thursday when he held the Tigers to three hits as he achieved a 5 to 3 decision. Pitted against Walters, and having a chance to terminate the series will be Schoolboy Rowe, vanquished star in Bucky's success. Both have rested since their last meeting.

Only One Red Reaches Second.

It was Newsom's day, the fifth game of the world series. Still deeply affected by the death of his father after the elderly gentleman had watched his boy win the first game of the series in Cincinnati last Wednesday, Buck announced before today's encounter that he was "pitching this one for Dad." With the aid of his sympathetic mates, Buck then shut out the Reds with nary a false move or frivolous by-play.

Only one Cincinnati runner got to second base. In none of the nine innings were there two National leaguers on base at the same time. Buck struck out seven and walked only two. He was fast and he was tricky. Four of his victims went out on fouls to Catcher Billy Sullivan.

Reds Use Four Pitchers.

Main collaborator in Newsom's emotion spurred triumph was Hank Greenberg. In the third inning, after Barney McCosky and Charley Gehringer had singled off Junior Thompson, big Henry banged his first homer of the series into the upper deck of the left field stands. It was apparent right then that Newsom had won his second victory of the series.

There were four more runs in the fourth inning, which saw Whitey Moore supplant Thompson, and none too effectively. Johnny Vander Meer held the Tigers for three innings, then the Detroiters added a run off Johnny Hutchings.

The fifth game of the series and the last in Detroit was played before the largest crowd of the series, 55,189. The scene was graced by another bright, midsummer day. Thousands of the spectators were in their shirtsleeves.

CHICAGO RACING ENTERS STRETCH AT SPORTSMAN'S

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's horse racing season goes into its final phase as Sportsman's Park opens this afternoon. Under a new management headed by John L. Keeshin, this half mile track will present a 24 day schedule which will run thru the first Saturday of November.

In line with the general expansion of Chicago district racing, Sportsman's Park is offering increased purses so as to attract the best horses available for this type of competition. The minimum purse of $800 is a value never before adopted on any American half mile track. Daily and week-end feature events will carry purses varying from $1,000 to $2,000.

Five Furlong Inaugural.

Racing Secretary Robert S. Shelley has arranged so attractive a program that many of the stables which might have been expected to ship elsewhere, to bigger tracks, have decided to remain in the Chicago area for the remainder of the season. This has assured a good field for today's opening feature, the five furlong Inaugural purse. The overnight entries include Designer, Ballinderry, Jayfcee, All Lizzie, Silverette, Dora May, Miss Harriett, Shirley G., Imperial Jayna, and Arched. A number of these have performed creditably in allowance events on the Chicago area's larger tracks.

Previous meetings this season at Lincoln Fields, Arlington Park, Washington Park, and Hawthorne all showed substantial increases in attendance and mutuel handle over last season. Sportsman's Park, which always has been a popular track, expects to handle capacity crowds regularly. All of the desirable features of former years have been retained and the new management has dressed up the plant in fresh paint and more elaborate landscaping to be ready for the 1940 crowds.

Glass Enclosed Clubhouse.

The glass enclosed clubhouse section, always popular on nippy fall days, is one of the track's unusual features. Half mile racing has a particular appeal to many fans because they have no difficulty keeping their horse in sight all the way around.

In addition to Shelley, the stewards will be Christopher J. FitzGerald, who will represent the Illinois racing commission, and J. J. Graddy, Robert McAuliffe, W. R. Dahlstrom, and W. J. Shelley will be placing judges. The starter will be G. R. Wingfield.

Fielding Yost Wailing Wall's Speaker Today

Pictures of the first half of the Michigan-California game, showing Tom Harmon making his three long touchdown runs, as well as of Saturday's Michigan-Michigan State contest, will be screened for the 1,000 alumni expected to attend the second weekly Wailing Wall luncheon in the grand ballroom of the Sherman hotel today at noon. Fielding H. Yost, who is serving his last year as athletic director at Michigan, will be commentator.

Former Illinois stars will be prominent at the weekly quarter back session, starting at 12:15 today in the Terrace Casino in the Morrison hotel. Ray Elliott and Doug Mills of the Illinois staff will speak briefly. Potsy Clark, one of the great Illini quarter backs of all time and now coach of the Detroit Lions, will attend with two of his Lion stars, Whizzer White and Fred Vanzo.

GIANTS GIVEN A BATTLE, BUT BEAT FARM CLUB, 41-21

New York, Oct. 7 (AP).—The National Pro Football league's New York Giants took on the Jersey City Giants as sparring partners in an exhibition game today and were given a hard struggle before they subdued their American association farm hands, 41 to 21, before a crowd of 6,500 in the Polo Grounds.

A four touchdown splurge in the second quarter carried the big leaguers to victory, but the Jersey City eleven, led by Ed Danowski, scored twice in the third period to come within six points of the victors. The New Yorkers, however, counted twice more in the final session to clinch the triumph.

3 MARQUETTE PLAYERS HURT; NOW IN HOSPITAL

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 6 [Special].—Three Marquette players today were confined to a hospital and several others were badly bruised as an aftermath of yesterday's 33 to 19 defeat at the hands of Wisconsin.

Fred Schmit, Ex-Oriole Pitcher, Is Dead at 74

Fred Schmit, 74 years old, a teammate of the late John J. McGraw, Hughie Jennings, Willie Keeler, and Wilbert Robinson on the old Baltimore Orioles, died of a cerebral hemorrhage in Forest Glen Saturday night. He was a pitcher for the Orioles. Following his retirement from professional baseball he played with the old Logan Squares of Chicago. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at 4401 Lawrence avenue, burial following in Waldheim cemetery. He is survived by his widow and three children.

Benton killed it on the Bears' 41 yard line. Six plays later, the Bears were ahead, 14 to 0. Masterson fired a pass to Plasman for fourteen yards. Maniaci got five outside the Rams' right tackle, and McAfee picked up five more on a quick opening play. Plasman dashed past the Ram secondary and took Masterson's pass for a sixteen yard gain. A third consecutive first down came on Masterson's pass to Clark, which the rookie gathered in on the 1 yard line for an eighteen yard gain. Masterson then went over for a quarter back sneak, and Plasman added the extra point.

Osmanski Fumbles Pass.

Osmanski fumbled a bad pass from Luckman on a full back-lateral play the first time the Chicagoans got the ball in the second half, and J. Wilson recovered for the Rams. Wilson ran 34 yards before Stydahar brought him down. The officials ruled it a backward pass and brought the ball back to the Bears' 49 yard line, where Wilson had recovered. Hall immediately completed three consecutive passes. Drake took the first for 15 yards, Magnani got the second for two yards, and the third went to Benton for 18 yards, placing the ball on the Bears' 14 yard line. Drake picked up two yards on a buck, and Hall's pass was incomplete. On third down, Hall attempted a pass, but turned it into a run. After he had twisted out of Stydahar's grasp on the 15 yard line, he broke thru the secondary for a touchdown. Adams kicked the extra point.

Bears Move to Third Score.

The Bears received the kickoff, and did not surrender the ball until they had made their third touchdown. Osmanski brought the kickoff back 26 yards to the 38 yard line. Famiglietti went 22 yards inside right tackle, repeated for six, then took out Wilson and Magnani to let Osmanski go 17 yards to the Rams' 17 yard line. Six smashes at the line put it over. Famiglietti getting the last yard over the Rams' left guard. Manders came in to add the extra point.

Then it was the Rams' turn to receive and advance to a touchdown. They made it in nine plays, the last of which was a 25 yard pass, Hall to Magnani. The advance covered 76 yards and with Adams' extra point, made the score 21 to 14, at the end of the third quarter.

LOYOLA BEATEN BY MT. CARMEL PASSES, 19 TO 0

St. Rita, St. George and De Paul Also Win.

Prep Football

Catholic League.
St. George, 12; St. Philip, 6.
St. Rita, 18; Catholic [Joliet], 6.
Mt. Carmel, 19; Loyola, 0.
De Paul, 14; St. Ignatius, 0.

Mount Carmel, defending champion in the Catholic High school football league, opened its south section schedule by turning back Loyola Academy, 19 to 0, on the latter's field yesterday. The victors scored in every period except the second.

Mike Vaughan tossed an eight yard pass to Gene Dwyer in the end zone for the first touchdown. Bud Kelly, right half back, raced twenty-seven yards for the second touchdown, and Ed Rudan, who replaced Kelly, tossed a fifteen yard pass to Bob Greevy for the final one.

St. Rita Beats Joliet.

Bill Ruby scored a pair of touchdowns to lead St. Rita to a 17 to 6 victory over Catholic High of Joliet on the Rita field in the other south section game. Ruby skirted left end from the seven yard line to score in the third period and reeled off a forty yard run for a marker in the final quarter. Tom Senffner made the longest run of the game, from midfield, to tally Joliet's touchdown.

Bill Freewalt sparked De Paul academy of the north section in its 14 to 0 triumph over St. Ignatius. He ran fifty-five yards for the first touchdown in the opening quarter and sixty-two yards for the second. He also sped for a gain of seventy yards in the fourth play of the game, but was called back because of an offside.

70 Yard Touchdown Wins.

William McDermott's twenty yard pass and Jack Sumners' fifty yard run in the fourth period gave St. George the touchdown by which it defeated St. Philip, 12 to 6. Sumners also scored St. George's first touchdown in the opening quarter.

IT'S OLD STORY: SOX BEAT CUBS, KEEP CITY TITLE

Lyons was perfect in the third and had one out of the way in the fourth before being subjected to a three hit ride. Nicholson, who had fanned in the first inning, set the pace by singling to right. Leiber tapped to Lyons, who played the ball with his bare hand and juggled it long enough to lose a possible double play. He managed to throw out Leiber. Gleeson lined a single into left. Nicholson scoring and Gleeson sneaking to second on the throw in. He scored when Bonura singled to center.

Solters Wastes a Double.

One-half of the little annoyances encountered by Olsen in the first six innings was Solters' two bagger against the left field wall at the start of the second inning. But the freshman southpaw threw out Appling, struck out Wright and Mattick disposed of Kreevich. Nine more Sox dropped in order before Kennedy, by drawing a pass at the opening of the sixth, became the second American leaguer to reach base. Kennedy moved to second on Lyons' grounder to Bonura and stayed there while Webb and Tresh flied out.

Olsen fanned Kuhel to open the seventh and then met up with the blast from which the Sox extracted two runs. Solters again hit the left field wall, but the track was heavy, so he stopped at first. Appling banged a single into center. Wright singled to the same sector, Solters going home and Appling taking third. Kreevich sent a long fly to Gleeson in right center, Appling scoring. Kennedy flied to Nicholson for the third out.

Leiber Saves Olsen in Eighth.

For a moment in the eighth Olsen's one run lead looked as if it was going to vanish. With one out, Webb singled to left and Tresh flied to Gleeson for the second out. Kuhel took hold of one of Olsen's pitches and it sailed toward the 368 foot sign in right. Leiber sprinted along the wall, made the catch, crashed into the bricks, and tumbled in a heap on the ground. The umpires decided he had clung to the ball. Leiber was undamaged except for a painfully bruised shoulder.

Solters led off in the ninth with a single between Hack and Mattick. Appling's bounder skidded off Olsen's glove, but Mattick recovered and whipped it to Bonura. Umpire Dunn figured Appling was out, a decision with which the Sox couldn't agree. Then Wright selected a 3 and 2 pitch, aimed it over Warstler's head for a single and Solters sloshed home with the tying run. Kreevich popped to Warstler and Kennedy lofted to Dallessandro.

After the Sox had picked up their winning margin, Bonura came up with one out in the Cub ninth and boosted his homer into the left field seats. Todd scratched a single to Webb, retiring to let Bryant do the running. Mattick fanned and Russell, batting for Olsen, walked. Then Lyons fanned Hack and the Sox ended it in the tenth.

Tigers Rout Reds, 8-0; 2d for Newsom

The Tigers' first inning was one of frustration, for the Detroiters made three singles without scoring. Bartell pushed off with a single to center, went to second on McCosky's grounder to Joost, but was out at the plate, Mike McCormick to Wilson, when he tried to score on Gehringer's line single to center. Greenberg singled to left, Gehringer stopping at second, but York flied to Mike McCormick.

Frank McCormick opened the second inning with a single to left, but stayed on first while Ripple flied to McCosky, Wilson fouled to Sullivan and Joost flied to McCosky.

Reds Frustrate Foe Again.

The Tigers threatened again, but failed to score in the second. Higgins walked with one down and stopped at second on Sullivan's single to right. Ripple crashed into the wall in left as he pulled down Newsom's drive. Bartell also flied to Ripple.

Newsom was tough in the third. Myers flied to Campbell, after which Thompson and Werber were called out on strikes. Then came the game wreckers. McCosky opened the big third with a line single to center and went to third on Gehringer's single to right. It was at this juncture that Greenberg banged his homer, a terrific shot that went into a stairway gap high in the left field upper deck. York flied to Mike McCormick and Campbell walked. Campbell was out trying to steal second and Higgins fanned.

Mike McCormick opened the Reds' fourth with a single to center and enjoyed the distinction of getting to second base when Goodman grounded out to Gehringer. Frank McCormick and Ripple fouled out.

Tigers Keep Going.

The Reds really fell apart in the home fourth as the Tigers scored four runs. Sullivan walked and moved up on Newsom's sacrifice. Bartell doubled to left, scoring Sullivan and later went to third on a passed ball. McCosky walked and Moore replaced Thompson. Gehringer walked, loading the bases, then Greenberg flied to Mike McCormick, Bartell scoring and McCosky taking third. York walked, again loading the bases, whereupon Campbell singled to center, McCosky and Gehringer scoring.

VanderMeer took over the pitching load in the fifth and started by striking out Sullivan. Newsom bounced to Frank McCormick, but Bartell walked and McCosky singled. Gehringer popped to Myers.

Werber Taps Buck for Hit.

Werber opened the sixth with a single to center, third hit off Newsom, but Mike McCormick hit into a double play started by Bartell. Goodman fanned. Greenberg flied to Mike McCormick and York was called out on strikes in the Detroit sixth. Campbell then singled and Higgins walked, but Sullivan flied to Mike McCormick.

Frank McCormick got the Reds' seventh under way with his second foul to Sullivan. Ripple walked, then Baker and Joost flied out. Vander Meer completed his stint in the home seventh. Newsom lined to Joost, Bartell flied to Goodman, McCosky drew the ninth Tiger pass, and Gehringer flied to Ripple.

Ripple Makes Diving Catch.

Hutchings became the fourth Red pitcher to see service when he went to the mound in the eighth. Greenberg opened with a single, but York, trying to sacrifice, popped a foul to Frank McCormick. Campbell singled to center, his third straight hit, putting Greenberg on third. Greenberg scored and Campbell took second on a wild pitch. Higgins walked, then Ripple pulled the first circus fielding play of the series, a diving, one handed catch of Sullivan's drive at the end of the left field foul line. Hutchings then threw out Newsom.

Pay-Off on a Great Fielding Play

Dick Bartell of the Tigers is out at the plate in the first inning of yesterday's world series game. Bartell—Rowdy Dick they called him when he was with the Giants—bowled over Catcher Jimmy Wilson, but was the victim of Mike McCormick's perfect throw from center field as he tried to score from second on Charley Gehringer's single. The Tigers broke loose later and won, 8 to 0.

Mr. Ringneck Risks His Neck; Hunts Hunters

BY BOB BECKER.

Ringneck pheasants, in such large numbers that authorities hesitate to name a figure, are sprinting thru the South Dakota cornfields, hiding in the dry weed thickets, and gathering around the waterholes while waiting for hunters to come along and give them a little exercise.

We have concluded a trip thru part of the South Dakota pheasant country and we found that the forecasts of a tremendous crop of birds were accurate in every respect. They have more birds in some of the counties than they have seen in 10 years.

In some places there was no need to leave the car and walk long dusty miles thru the fields of corn and shocked cane to look for a bunch of "roosters," as the South Dakota sportsmen call the beautiful ringnecks. Many large flocks are either on or close to the road. Some times an arrogant, sassy cock pheasant standing at the side of the road would cackle defiantly as we drove past him.

If there was any cover in the field beyond this rooster, our party would hustle out of the automobile and go to work. One challenging ringneck at the side of the road invariably meant that we'd find anywhere from a dozen to a hundred birds in the weed thicket nearby.

Two Huron sportsmen, E. C. McKenzie and V. L. Weir, drove us northeast of Huron one afternoon to show us some big concentrations of ringnecks. When we came to a small pond at the side of the road [about 15 miles from town] the pheasants began to flush in bunches of 20 and 30. They had come to the water hole to drink. There were weed thickets around this pool. Hundreds of birds had assembled near this water to make an unforgettable picture as they took to wing.

Wright to Play Wilson in Homecoming Game Nov. 9

Wilson Junior college will be the homecoming game opponent for the Wright City college football team on Saturday, Nov. 9, in Stagg field, Coach John Meany announced yesterday. Wright's game with the American College of Physical Education in Spencer Coals' field, Oct. 25, originally was designated as the homecoming attraction. The contest on Nov. 9 also will be the feature of Wilson's homecoming program.

Buck Newsom in Tears After Whipping Reds

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 6 (AP).—After masking for nine innings his grief over the death of his father only three days ago, Louis [Buck] Newsom choked up and broke down after reaching the Tigers' dressing room as he thought over his magnificent conquest of the Cincinnati Reds today.

"It was the hardest game I ever wanted to win," he said as tears filled his eyes.

"I felt great, no kidding. Naturally I didn't feel as good as I should have. I pitched this game for my Dad and I hope he knows what I accomplished. I knew in my heart he wanted me to win. This was the one I wanted to win most."

There was no whooping or yipping in the Tiger dressing room, undoutedly out of respect to Newsom, whose 68 year old father died suddenly in Cincinnati only last Thursday after a heart attack.

Newsom took only 115 pitches to retire the 31 men who faced him today. In the fifth he struck out Catcher Bill Baker and Second Baseman Eddie Joost, using only six pitches threw a strike at Shortstop Billy Myers, and then walked him on four straight balls.

Ticket scalpers did a good business today, police reported, with some tickets selling as high as two for $30. Inspector Fred Juergens, head of the police detail at Briggs stadium, said many fans were gladly paying scalpers' prices and making little fuss over the seat locations.

One fan, Juergens said, paid $30 for four seats. At the gate he learned they were for Saturday's game. The fan was so downcast, Juergens said, that he departed with his wife and two children without making a complaint.

Here's Newsom's inning-by-inning pitches: First, 10; second, 11; third, 19; fourth, 10; fifth, 16; sixth, 23; seventh, 10; eighth, 6; ninth, 10.

Before the game Powel Crosley, owner of the Reds, said he thought his club would win the series. "I'm not a baseball expert, but Manager McKechnie thinks we will and I'll go along with him," said Crosley.

Even the umpires are autograph fans. Before the game each of the arbiters had the Tigers and Reds append their names to three brand new balls.

SHOWERS DELAY SOX-CUB START FOR 16 MINUTES

A deluge hit Wrigley field yesterday shortly before starting time for the Sox and Cubs' game and the ground crew dashed out with the tarpaulin. The rain stopped for a spell, so they took off the protective covering by which time the scheduled start had been delayed by 16 minutes. There was another delay of eight minutes at the start of the eighth when the umpires requested that dry dirt be sprinkled around the pitching mound.

James Dykes, the Sox boss, will leave at noon today for a month's vacation in California. Later on Gabby Hartnett, the Cub leader, is going hunting.

The Sox now have held the city title for 10 season, but only six series were played. One year the Cubs refused to play and in three others were in the world series, all of which they lost. The Cubs won their last city honors in 1930.

As a matter of precaution Hank Leiber, who injured his right shoulder when he crashed against the wall while catching Joe Kuhel's drive in the eighth inning, was sent to Illinois Masonic hospital for X-ray pictures. Dr. John Davis, the club's physician, reported the damage was limited to a bruise and abrasion.

The Cubs can't understand how Ted Lyons ever loses a ball game. Yesterday's defeat was the fourth straight inflicted by the Sox veteran on the National leaguers in the last two city series. Ted beat the Cubs in 1939 5 to 2 and 5 to 1, yielding five hits in each game. This year he won, 5 to 3, being touched for 10 hits, and 5 to 4, surrendering seven hits in 10 innings.

MILWAUKEE PRO FOOTBALL TEAM QUITS (NO CASH)

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 6 (AP).—The Milwaukee Chiefs, undefeated leaders of the American Professional Football league, tonight had no players, coach, uniforms, league franchise, or a place to play. Financial trouble was the reason.

Coach Ivan [Tiny] Cahoon and all his players notified the Milwaukee Football Club, Inc., that their contracts have been terminated.

William D. Griffith, president of the league, said the Milwaukee corporation had not posted its franchise fee of $500 and thus had no legal standing with the league. Griffith was in Milwaukee last week.

A Milwaukee sporting goods firm replevined the uniforms for nonpayment and the state fair park management said the team's contract for rental of the grounds has been terminated.

A committee of three, representing the players, creditors, and the corporation, is negotiating with another group in an effort to save the club. Griffith said that if new backers could be found by Tuesday night, the league would grant that organization the franchise.

NEWARK BEATS LOUISVILLE, 6-2, TAKES 3-1 LEAD

Newark, N. J., Oct. 6 (AP).—Combining timely hitting with the wildness of Leroy Parmelee, the Newark Bears of the International league defeated Louisville of the American association, 6 to 2, today to take a 3 to 1 lead in the best-of-seven little world series.

While his teammates capitalized on Parmelee's poor control, Hank Borowy, former Fordham university star, held the Colonels in check. He gave up only four hits and four passes.

PABSTS WIN 2 GAMES; TIE FOR LEAD IN CLASSIC

The Pabst Blue Ribbons went into a tie with the Koenigs for first place in the Sunday division of the Classic Bowling league by taking two games from the Monarch Beers in Pioneer Arcade last night. The Monarchs, however, totaled 3027 to 3010 for Pabst. Schlitz took two games from Michelob and went into sixth place. Blatz defeated the Koenigs twice and are now in third position. The Ambrosias won three from the Rupperts.

Schlitz bowled 1060 for high team game. Bill Smith, anchor on the Blatz team shot 234, 249 and 197 for 680, high individual series. Jack Bishop's 255 was high individual game. Scores:

CONSIDER HUGE DEFENSE LOANS FOR S. AMERICA

Latins Seek Modern Equipment.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6 (AP).—The possibility of huge loans to South American countries—perhaps a billion dollars in all—to help them build up their military forces for joint defense of the western hemisphere was reported today to be under consideration by administration leaders in congress.

Altho the question was said to be still in the "idea stage," Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], a member of both the senate foreign relations and finance committees, told reporters he believed there was a "distinct possibility" that congress would be called upon to consider it.

Desire Modern Equipment.

It is understood that no formal requests for credits have been made, but that some Latin American countries are interested in obtaining modern war equipment from the United States.

Congress last summer enacted legislation authorizing government arsenals to accept orders from American republics when their facilities permitted. So far as has been announced, no orders have been accepted, and the arsenals are busy with production for this country. Likewise, private plants are occupied with army and navy orders. For this reason, George said he believed little could be accomplished at this time toward supplying Latin American nations with fighting equipment.

Expected after Recess.

Nevertheless, he predicted that the question of armament loans may be presented to congress when it returns after a projected recess until the middle of November.

Another possible question for congress after the recess, George said, is whether to extend credit to Great Britain for armaments purchases. Revision of both the neutrality act and the Johnson act barring loans to defaulting nations would be necessary if this were done. Relaxation of these laws was proposed by Senator William H. King [D., Utah].

STEEL MAKERS LIFT OUTPUT TO SPEED DELIVERY

Get Orders on Next Year's Business.

The rate of steel production rose a half point to 93½ per cent of plant capacity last week as mills sought to meet delivery demands, the magazine Steel reported yesterday. Chicago gained 1½ points to 97½ per cent, making up part of the preceding week's drop.

Consumer anxiety to cover requirements has prompted some orders for first quarter delivery at prices prevailing at the time of delivery. The magazine said this increasing tonnage indicates the attitude of consumers toward future commitments.

Load Scrap for Japan.

Loading of steelmaking scrap for export to Japan is being expedited at several ports to beat the Oct. 15 embargo. Possibility of tonnages being thrown back on the domestic market has not had an appreciable effect and prices are advancing in some centers despite this factor.

The composite of steelmaking scrap advanced 16 cents to $20.62 a ton last week as Pittsburgh quotations rose. The iron and steel composite went up 7 cents to $38.05.

Pig Iron Output at Peak.

September pig iron production was 4,172,551 net tons, the largest total for that month since the magazine started compiling figures in 1918. The daily rate of 139,085 was the highest for any month since May, 1929.

By-product coke prices are rising as producers foresee a possible shortage this fall.

The Association of American Railroads, after surveying expected demands, has recommended purchase of 100,000 additional freight cars in the year ending Oct. 1, 1941. This would require about 1,000,000 tons of steel.

Hamburger Goes on Pan at Restaurateurs' Meeting

The hamburger, the great American quick lunch, will be "put on the pan" today by leading restaurateurs in a discussion on "Competition and Operating Problems of the Industry" at the 27th annual convention and exposition of the National Restaurant association in the American Furniture Mart.

CONTINENTAL EUROPE GETS SLIMMER MEAL, BUT CANADIANS GAIN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6 [Special].—Altho continental Europe faces a precarious food situation this winter, Canada, with the largest wheat supply in its history, is considering reducing acreage next year, the department of agriculture reported today.

Shortages will be marked or even stringent in Belgium, France, and Poland, according to the statement. Cessation of bread-grain imports is being felt increasingly in the Netherlands and the Scandinavian countries, but enforced slaughterings resulting from feedstuff shortages will tend temporarily to keep the meat supply of continental Europe at about normal, the report said.

Canadian authorities believe drastic cuts in next year's wheat acreage are desirable. Existing supplies have swamped Canadian storage facilities.

CONNECTICUT MUTUAL.

Please give me a review of Connecticut Mutual Life.— R. M.

Answer: The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company is the 15th largest company in its field on the basis of assets. It has been operating since 1846 and as a mutual company is controled by its policyholders.

[Last 000's omitted.]

	Admitted Assets.	Insurance Written.	Insurance in Force.
1935	$268,361	$101,884	$ 914,157
1936	291,429	92,634	939,962
1937	312,534	98,956	979,141
1938	336,216	103,325	1,013,090
1939	365,499	95,423	1,041,855

Admitted assets of the company last June 30 totaled $379,836,192 and insurance in force $1,062,150,298. Insurance written in the first half of 1940 amounted to $48,595,954.

Total income in 1939 was $72,340,484 against total disbursements of $44,782,582. Income in the first half of 1940 was $36,662,067, against disbursements of $20,511,265.

WORTHLESS?

About three weeks ago the stock exchange discontinued trading in stock of the Chicago and North Western Railway company. I bought 35 shares of North Western common on Aug. 21, 1929, paying therefor the sum of $3,248. In making my federal income tax return for 1940, may I deduct the whole of the purchase price or only a part, and if the latter, what part? —N. J. W.

Answer: Before you can take any deduction for a loss on your North Western stock you must obtain a ruling from the commissioner of internal revenue in Washington that the stock is actually worthless. If the stock is declared worthless you may take 50 per cent of the loss. That is the maximum which can be taken on capital assets held more than 2 years.

SAHARA COAL.

Answer: The Sahara Coal company operates shaft and strip mines in Saline county, Illinois. Its production of soft coal averages around 1½ million tons a year, and its recoverable reserves of coal are estimated at 130 million tons.

LEHMAN CORP. ASSETS RISE TO $29.20 A SHARE

Portfolio Changes Are Not Large.

New York, Oct. 6 — [Special]. — Gains in the net assets of the Lehman corporation, big investing company, in the quarter ended on Sept. 30 will be reported tomorrow to stockholders by Robert Lehman, president. Net asset value of each share was $29.20 on that date, against $27.46 on June 30.

Robert Lehman.

In the quarter, the corporation bought 3,800 shares of its own capital stock at $18.93 a share, leaving 2,071,980 in the hands of the public on Sept. 30.

Market Value Below Cost.

The market value of the investment trust's assets was $61,113,525, against cost of $67,153,683, giving an unrealized depreciation of $6,040,158, against $9,888,798 on June 30.

Portfolio changes were not large. New holdings in the quarter included 17,600 shares of Standard Brands, 2,400 of Bath Iron Works, 1,500 of American Stores, and 500 of Allied Chemical and Dye.

The trust also bought $100,000 of Electric Power and Light 5 per cent debentures due in 2030, and $192,000 Northern Pacific mortgage bonds due in 2047. Additions to existing holdings were 4,200 shares of Chrysler, 3,800 of Yellow Truck B, 1,800 of Marine Midland corporation, 1,500 of United States Steel, and 1,500 of Cluett, Peabody. Lehman also bought $130,000 of various bond issues of Standard Gas and Electric.

One Issue Eliminated.

The only issue eliminated from the portfolio was Pennsylvania railroad convertible 3¼ per cent debentures due in 1952, held in the amount of $167,000 at the beginning of the period. Holdings were reduced, however, by 16,955 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey common stock and $75,000 of Studebaker corporation convertible 6 per cent debentures, due 1945.

The exchange of $390,000 Postal Telegraph and Cable 5 per cent bonds of 1953 resulted in the acquisition of many Commercial Mackay, American Cable and All-American corporation securities.

Housing Authority Starts Building on 276 Projects

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6 (AP).—Nathan Straus, administrator, said today that construction had been started on 276 United States Housing authority projects totaling 99,295 dwellings. Of these, 75 totaling 29,559 homes have been completed.

NAVY SURVEYS MIDDLE WEST FOR PLANT SITE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6 (AP).—The navy is surveying sites in the Pittsburgh area, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois for a plant to make gun parts, Rear Admiral William R. Furlong, chief of the ordnance bureau, said today.

A survey board has not yet completed its inspection of prospective sites and there was no indication when a report would be made.

The proposed plant would cost between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 and employ about 1,500 workers.

American Business Credit Reports September Gains

American Business Credit corporation yesterday reported gross receivables outstanding increased $358,418 during September to a total of $12,683,469. A year ago the total was $7,583,361. Business written during September totaled $5,615,042.

EDISON'S LARGE LOAN CONVERSION PROGRAM IS 76 PCT. COMPLETED

Charles Y. Freeman, chairman of the Commonwealth Edison company, announced yesterday that $1,427,400 of 3½ per cent debentures had been converted into Edison stock since Sept. 1.

To date, a total of $98,456,300, or 76 per cent of the $129,431,400 originally issued, has been converted, leaving a balance of $30,975,100 outstanding. The amount converted since the start of 1940 is slightly in excess of $51,000,000, he said.

The debenture holders who convert into Edison stock and are shareholders of record Oct. 11 will receive the dividend of 45 cents a share payable on Nov. 1 and will forego accrued interest since July 1 on the debentures converted, the announcement said.

If you haven't a good movie or still camera, it will pay you to follow the offerings in the Cameras and Supplies column in the Tribune want ad section.

In this column you can find bargains in used still and movie cameras, developing and printing equipment, enlargers, screens and other things needed by amateurs and professionals.

Follow the offers in the Cameras and Supplies column.

"Pardon Me If I Seem a Bit Chesty"

Are your clubs suited to your game? Are you still trying to get along with Brother Joe's old tennis racket? Have you got the tackle it takes to land the fish that "get away?"

Whatever your sport you can get good quality used equipment by watching the offers in the Sporting Goods column in the Tribune want ad section. Read this column and see how little it would cost you to buy the equipment you really need to have a good time at your favorite sport.

IS YOUR CAR IN GOOD SHAPE?

Will your car stand up under winter driving conditions? If you need a better car, consult the Used Automobiles for Sale columns in the Tribune want ad section. There you can choose from the cream of Chicago's late model used car values. Your present car may be the only down payment required.

Because they get better results, want ad users place more want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.
